Memorial to civil rights activist opens quietly; dedication to fall on anniversary

By: Ben Nuckols | Las Vegas Review-Journal | August 23, 2011

WASHINGTON - Hundreds of people filed through the entrance during the opening of the memorial to the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., on Monday morning on the National Mall. Before reaching the sculpture, they passed through two pieces of granite carved to resemble the sides of a mountain.

About 50 feet ahead stands the 30-foot-tall sculpture by Chinese artist Lei Yixin. King appears to emerge from a stone extracted from the mountain. The design is inspired by a line from King's famous "I Have A Dream" speech, delivered during the March on Washington in 1963: "Out of the mountain of despair, a stone of hope."

Visitor Tehran Wadley, 35, of Washington said, "I'm ecstatic. It brings tears to my eyes, just to be able to see this." King is the first person of color to have a memorial on the Mall. It is surrounded by memorials to presidents Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Franklin Roosevelt.

Monday's opening had little fanfare, President Barack Obama is scheduled to speak at Sunday's dedication of the memorial, which will fall on the 48th anniversary of the March on Washington. Harry E. Johnson, president of the Martin Luther King, Jr. National Memorial Project Foundation, said the group is $5 million short of covering the $120 million cost of the memorial.

The youth at the Hualapai Juvenile Detention & Rehabilitation (HJDRC) have been hard at work! If the youth aren't working on furthering their education by working on A Plus Curriculum, Primavera online, or their GED they are learning different skills by participating in different projects and services available to the youth.

You may notice there are changes to the facility which include the solar photovoltaic power system and a greenhouse. The HJDRC was recently the recipient of a 10 kilo watt Solar Photovoltaic power system. It was completely funded by the U.S. Department of Energy and intended to provide community education on renewable energy and enhance local employment. The installation was installed on the southwest side of the building. The youth are able to learn about clean renewable energy and see the actual kilowatts of energy the system collected and fed to the building. The power meter is digital and provides a read out for the youth to observe and allows you to figure how much of a reduction in green house gasses the power system reduced. A story board will be installed next to the inverter and meter to explain the principles of solar energy and how it works. A residential wind turbine is also planned to be installed next to the solar panels so that this clean energy producer can show how wind power works.

The greenhouse was funded by the Green Reentry grant and construction began at the beginning of August. Levels 4 youth are participating in the construction of the greenhouse and also worked on the construction of the solar photovoltaic power system. The greenhouse will be used to grow vegetables and fruit which will be used for meals at the HJDRC. In the near future youth who have been released from the HJDRC and are enrolled in school will be given the opportunity to work on construction of a 16x16 straw bale green house outside of the Boys & Girls Club. This will give youth an opportunity to begin learning about gardening in the facility and continue in the community.

Sustainability is a component of the Green Reentry grant. The Hualapai Tribe was one of three tribes to be awarded a Tribal Juvenile Detention and Reentry Green Demonstration Program administered through the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Program (OJJDP). The program focuses on reducing recidivism rates by involving youth in programs provided by tribal departments from the community and teaching them about sustainability. The youth are exposed and learning different skills during detention through programs provided by the Hualapai Juvenile Detention & Rehabilitation Center. Youth sentenced complete and intake to understand their needs and refer the youth to appropriate services. A Child and Family Team (CFT) meeting is facilitated with the youth, family, natural supports, and informal supports. Goals, strengths, and needs are identified during this time to define the youth's reentry plan. When released the youth is able to continue participating in programs in the community.

At the HJDRC, youth are given the opportunity to learn about the culture and language, receive individual and group counseling, gardening, how to read blue prints, cooking, carpentry, and tile work. They can also participate in Wellbriety, Talking Circle, sweat lodge, and church services. There is also week programming provided by the Boys & Girls Club. Once a month they are also given the opportunity to participate in a Hualapai Tribal Youth Council meeting which is facilitated monthly in the HJDRC.

The mission of the HJDRC is "To provide safe and secure housing for incarcerated juveniles, to encourage positive long-term behavioral changes, to reduce delinquency and recidivism, and to facilitate the learning of Hualapai and other Native American cultural beliefs." This wouldn't be possible without the support of the community and the dedication of the staff at the HJDRC. The different programs are provided by departments/programs currently in our community. We would like to thank our staff and the following departments for providing programming to our youth:

Boys & Girls Club

Community members who provide mentoring/support and ministry

Cultural Department

Health Department (Behavioral Health, Strategic Prevention Project- Underage Drinking Project, Motor Vehicle Crash Injury Project, Youth Services)

Hualapai Planning Department

Hualapai Youth Council

UofA Agricultural Extension Office

If you would like to provide support to our youth through programming please contact the HJDRC at 769-1611/1612.

PEACH SPRINGS YOUTH RADIO

This Spring EPCH staff, youth participants and community volunteer Duane Clarke visited the HOPI radio station KUYI and a conglomerate commercial radio station in Cottonwood, AZ. The participating youth-Sonwai Jackson, Jubren Siyuja and DMichael Bender won the opportunity to attend by earning participation incentive points in the EPCH youth radio project. All were interviewed by the HOPI teen broadcasting class and appeared live on the HOPI radio station. Staff and community volunteers learned a lot about radio station operations also as part of the activities of the PTFP committee which is planning for a local Hualapai community LPFM radio Station.

Special thanks to Duane Clarke for arranging the Cottonwood visit and chaperoning the youth!

PEACH SPRINGS YOUTH RADIO

Staff of the Hualapai Tribe youth radio project, NARCH 5, including Dr. Nicky Teufel -Shone of the University of Arizona School of Public Health and Terri Hutchens of the Hualapai Health Department recently had the opportunity to attend the Native American Research annual conference in Niagara Falls, New York. Hualapai Tribal member, and active community youth, Georgetta Russell also attended. Georgetta won the chance to attend by earning the most participation incentive points through her involvement with the local youth internet radio station, EPCH. Staff and Georgetta made a public presentation about the Hualapai NARCH project by poster and an audio/ visual digital production. They learned about NARCH projects nationwide, as well enjoyed the local Seneca Nations ' traditions and hospitality.

The Grand Canyon Skywalk Development, LLC is exploring different possibilities in offering employment opportunities to community members. We have spoken too many who have expressed an interest in working at the Skywalk, but the long commute to the job site, and daily home life obligations create obstacles.

One way to make it more convenient for potential employees is the creation of a 30 hour work week. That means working three 10 hour days and having four days off. Health insurance benefits will continue to be available. Skywalk managers have been creative in structuring operating work hours seven days a week to make this innovative work schedule a possibility. Supervisors and managers are not eligible to participate in the thirty (30) hour work week schedule.

The following positions will be offered a thirty (30) hour work week program:

- Food and Beverage – prepares food, washes dishes, sweeps floors, wipes down tables, handles cash appropriately, loads and unloads delivery trucks and checks inventory.
- Customer Service – greets customers, answers customer questions, coordinates with retail and photo sales to exceed guest expectations, acts a tour guide when necessary, and assists guests with special needs or requests. Ensures guest safety.
- Sales – maintains retail and photo sales areas, conveys the story of the glass bridge to guests, and operates all systems in the sales department including photo sales stations and cash retail registers.
- Drivers – drive a 14 passenger van from Peach Springs to Kingman to Skywalk and return.

Minimum Qualifications:

1. All applicants must possess a high school diploma or GED
2. All applicants must satisfactorily complete a background check and drug test
3. All applicants must be able to lift 50 pounds
4. All applicants for Food and Beverage must have a current Health Card
5. Drivers must possess valid driver's license
6. Drivers must have a clean driving record and a current DMV report

New Hope

Philosophy of Hospice Care

Despite all the advances in diagnosis and treatment, a cure is not always possible. Continued treatment, even if available may compromise a patient's quality of life. After discussion with your physician and consideration of treatment options and the potential outcomes, it may be appropriate to consider palliative (comfort) care. Some patients and families are frightened by the word hospice, believing that all treatments will be discontinued. But many kinds of treatment may be continued to provide comfort and relief of pain.

The hospice philosophy embraces a holistic approach that encompasses physical, emotional and spiritual concerns. The hospice philosophy:

When medical treatments have been exhausted or the burden of the treatment outweighs the benefits, it may be time to consider hospice care.

Most people would like to be surrounded by friends and family. By bringing services into the home, the hospice team can help patients and families provide the care needed.

We would like to say thank you to all those departments that gave us a helping hand during the funeral, those that came to shake our hands, knowing your hugs and prayers are accepted. Thanks to Garfield and Robert for traveling so far to respect our beloved niece, daughter, friend on her journey to the promise land. Even though she left this world unknown at this time, she loved walking, laughing, talking with everyone that knew her. Thanks especially to the Smith girls for allowing her to be family also Beulah Nish, it hurts us all. But we all know the lord will foresee this in due time, he is looking down from above, we know Siquinto is safe in the arms of our Lord. Thank you all for the flowers, cards and donations again. Just being there comforts us, thanks to Donnita Selena and all sisters for all your help. May God bless each and everyone of you.

Thank you Tribal Council

I'd like to thank the Hualapai Council for going to meetings and for the cooperation. Although our community, were in question of no true leader in office, but thanks to the 7 of you, Erin and Wanda, USDA awarded the tribe 13 million dollars to start the West Water Project. Like I said to Erin, the ship must keep going and when you council shine, I shine. It was a great experience we sat together to speak on behalf of the Hualapai Tribe and voice our beliefs and the way of life, we live as people of the Tall Pine. Very honorable of you 7. I'd like to thank you and this job is always a thanks less job. But in all, a plaque was presented to me by the Hualapai by the Hualapai Tribal Police, but this award goes to each and everyone of you, who play a major part of our decision making for the people of the tall pine. Even though I might speak out of line, but that's the way I see through council members. When this term is done in 290 days, someone can pick up the tempo and rally the people to love and respect your efforts. Thank you for your time and patience. Next year, I can go back to my joking and have fun without anyone being embarrassed.

Sincerely,
Vice-Chairman, Richard A. Walema, Sr.
