Dear fellow Hualapai members;
If elected as the Vice-Chairman of the Hualapai Tribe, my commitment to our Tribal Members is to always be upfront and honest, to listen to the people and make good sound decisions that will protect the interest of the Hualapai Members and our sacred lands. Respect does not come with a council position; it is earned by doing the right thing. As a business entrepreneur, I have gained respect because I recognize success is a team effort. Many great Hualapai elders taught me not to forget who we are or where we came from. I know that if elected, I will be judged and questioned by many. My commitment is to the Hualapai Nation as a whole and to you as individual Tribal Members. It is not about my personal feelings; it is about what is best for the tribe. I will not hold grudges or live in the past; I live for the now and the future of our children. I will abide by our Hualapai Tribal Constitution that our forefathers lived by. I will not walk away when things get tough, I give you my word, to step up as your Vice-Chairman, and defend our right to build a better future for the Hualapai people.

Sincerely,

Robert Bravo, Jr., Member # 00000082 of the Hualapai Tribe

Vote Robert Bravo Jr. for Vice-Chairman

- Hard worker - Hands on experience
- High work ethics
- Loyal - Been with GCRC more than 10 years
- Dependable - Committed to success of tribe even in difficult situations
- Honesty and integrity
- Business oriented and results driven - Proven results during GCRC leadership
- Protection of tribal assets - Understanding of tribal law and constitution
- Protection of Hualapai Tribal lands and members
- Never look down on others, everyone is equal

Primary Election May 3, 2012
 Final Election is on June 2, 2012

4-22-12

Dear Hualapai Tribal Members,

It is with great pride I can say I am Hwal'bay. My name is Robert Bravo Jr. I am running for the Vice Chairman of the Hualapai Tribe. My professional background is business. I have over 25 years of upper business management and leadership experience. Family is of most importance to me. I enjoy hunting, camping, fishing, golfing and spending quality time with my children. My father and mother are Robert Bravo Sr. and Marilyn "Imus" Bravo. My father was born and raised in Nelson Arizona where his father Torivio Bravo was raised from the age of 14. My mother Marilyn is full blooded Hwal'bay. My paternal great grandmother is Queenie Imus who was married to John "Wath-nack-a-ma" Imus who was an Indian Scout for the U.S. Army. My maternal great grandmother was Alma "Lane" Fielding from the Big Sandy. Alma was married to Tom Lane who was from the Blue Mountain area.

It is my honor to be a Hualapai Tribal member. Our Constitution permits all tribal members to share in the responsibility of tribal government. The responsibility is not just an elected position, but to become a leader of our nation to help make decisions that will be in the best interest of our people and our land.

Here is my interpretation of what a council member should focus on:

- As Vice-Chairman I would devote official time to problems of basic policy and act as a liaison between the tribal council and Hualapai people.
- I would promote economic development opportunities to ensure a stable working environment to provide more jobs for Hualapai's, and show the world that Hualapai's are great entrepreneurs.
- I would serve the Hualapai people first and foremost in everything that I do, and not my own personal interests.

Putting the Hualapai people first means doing what is in the best interests of the community. After all, that's the reason the council members position exists in the first place.

- I would avoid any conflict of interest that would keep me from putting the Hualapai people first.
- I will focus my efforts on day to day operations and also the future development of the tribe. I feel it is a public official's responsibility to be honest with the public, disclose any possible conflict of interests, and provide information as needed.

We are very blessed to live in such a unique area which is encompassed within 1 million acres of beautiful pristine land. Our reservation borders 108 miles of the Colorado River that is located on one of the World's Seven Natural Wonders, the "Grand Canyon". There are many issues we need to focus on so we can continue to be self sufficient and not allow anyone to take away our great opportunities for economic development.

For example, the tribe has been in negotiations with the National Parks on the Colorado River Management Plan. For many years the National Parks has tried to regulate and cap our businesses to less than what the Hualapai River Runners and the Grand Canyon Pontoon operations are currently doing. This means that the amount of passengers the Hualapai tribe can sell in our tourism operations will be controlled by the National Parks. We also have the "over flights" issue with the National Parks. This is a study by the National Parks to control the airspace over our reservation which would have immediate impact on the operations at Grand Canyon West. We also have boundary issues that need to be resolved. The National Parks claim that the tribe's boundary should be the high water mark. We need to continue to defend our claim that the middle of the river is our reservation boundary mark.

I was fortunate to start working with Grand Canyon Resort Corporation in 1997. During my tenure, I have seen many challenges, and have had the opportunity to be part of the new changes that have recently occurred. I was involved with the runway project team and worked closely with FAA representatives to develop the new runway. In 2002, I participated with tribal council, the GCRC and the National Parks to discuss the Colorado River Management Plan.

If elected, I would gather information and share it with you so all tribal members have a clear understanding of the issue that affect the tribe. Political terms don't last forever, communication is very important. We all must know what is at risk so our younger generations can continue to protect our rights.

We have a great community that every tribal member should take pride in. What can we do as tribal members to make it a better place to live? What can we do to turn Peach Springs into a more cohesive community? My goal as an elected official will be to help make our community a better living place for all members.

We have social issues similar to other communities and reservations. We need to focus and devote more resources on:

- Teen pregnancy
- Substance abuse
- Domestic violence

As your Vice-Chairman it would be my responsibility to help implement programs to curb these and other issues and to help our people. We also must never forget about our culture and traditions. Our parents and grandparents were taught to respect everyone. I feel we must regain that pride and have respect for one another within our community if we are to truly move forward as a united community.

If elected, as your Vice-Chairman, I pledge to lead by example and enforce the Hualapai Constitution and all laws within our Great Nation. I would appreciate your vote and support as your next Vice-Chairman of the Hualapai Nation.

Sincerely,

Robert Bravo Jr.
Hualapai Tribal Member 0000082

Moving the Hualapai Tribe to a New Future Rudolph Clark Sr. 2012

Immediate Release

Gam yu,

My name is Rudolph "Rudy" Clark Sr. and I am asking for your vote and support as your next Chairman of the Hualapai Tribe.

Many of you know me as "Rudy" and my personal successes and hard work at reaching my dream of receiving a higher educational degree, or you may have heard of me while I was working away from home. Then again some of you may know me as Uncle Rudy, brother or nephew. I come to you now with a message which I hold true and dear to my heart.

It has been difficult the past twelve (12) years with our tribal leadership. Their personal decision and behavior is out of control to the point of holding our community at a standstill, this paints a grim picture for our politics, tribal finances, and future community growth.

I have listened to our elders, youth and children in which they believe in an honest tribal government which will take charge of our political affairs. One that will help the people, protect the environment, represent our tribe in the forefront of Indian politics, federal legislation, and most of all "protect the Hualapai people".

As your next Tribal Chairman, my promise to you will be made to rebuild trust in tribal government, give back honor and integrity to the tribe in all business and tribal matters and honor you by listening to all your concerns and suggestions about the community wellbeing.

The Office of Chairman will be available to you to discuss your views whether it is a personal family matter or requests for community response. Far too often, the tribe is not informed. I would like to be the next leader to rely on what happened in the past and what may happen in the future. This way you will always know what is happening.

I want to encourage you to exercise your right to vote and express your political views at Tribal Council meetings and we will put together your "vision of work" in tribal business and community affairs, resolutions and major decisions.

Listed below are four of the major issues I want to address and focus on with respect to my campaign:

1. Domestic

The situation:

As the Hualapai Tribe continues to evolve, I believe that we need to make certain that our efforts are focused on our most immediate, domestic concerns and the preservation of our constitution, community, and environment (water, land, animal habitat).

My solutions:

Ensure every tribal citizen is given a chance to help themselves through employment, counseling, and personal development.

Continue the efforts to negotiate and move towards allocated water rights.

Maintain and assert our claimed settlement of tribal territory boundary assets.

Ensure that we maintain and protect our reservation wildlife, and range management utilization plan.

2. Business Development

The situation:

I believe that the future of the Hualapai Tribe largely depends upon the success of our business development efforts.

My solutions:

Resolve the Grand Canyon West development project by bringing forward a win-win solution to this project. This would involve removing current arbitrators from the situation and bringing in new ones to give us the best opportunity for a successful resolution.

Continue the new water development project and grapevine road completion by ensuring adequate manpower and funding is available.

Develop our downtown infrastructure to better support the needs of our community, creating more value for the tribe and our local economy.

3. Hualapai Cultural & Language

The situation:

I believe that we must do all we can to preserve the Hualapai language and culture in order to effectively maintain our traditions and the spirit of our people for future generations.

My solutions:

Focus on language preservation efforts in all areas of the community. We can't just say we are going to do it; we need to just do it. By creating more practical opportunities for our people to practice the language in our community, we inspire and allow them to develop a closer connection to our culture---past, present and future.

Continue promoting the importance of the Hualapai culture through singing, dancing and spiritual involvement. Our culture evolved from within the surrounding environment and it is essential that we involve our leadership to promote our tribal traditions to keep them alive for future generations.

4. Government

The situation:

I believe in the importance of tribal unity. Our success will be measured on how well we work together to achieve our goals and it is important that we learn from our past mistakes in order to develop the most appropriate strategies to succeed in the future.

My solutions:

Work in unison to maximize our efforts in Washington, DC. Every year our tribal council leaders go to Washington to support federal appropriations and it is my goal that we hold responsible those we send to provide a comprehensive report to the community.

Clearly outline our efforts and expectations so that we can better measure the results of our efforts. We can't measure what we can't see and it is my hope that if we are all aware of what our goals and expectations are in Washington, we will have much better success in meeting and maybe even exceeding them.

It would be my honor to serve as the Chairman of the Hualapai Tribe. Thank you for your support.

han gyu,

Rudolph Clark Sr. aka Rudedogg

Dear Hualapai People,

April 6, 2012

Greetings to all! I hope that you are doing well this year. I wanted to write a few words to you in regards to my running for Chairwoman of the Hualapai Tribe.

I am currently working at the Hualapai Health Education and Wellness as the Underage Drinking Prevention Coordinator. We continue to work on a Strategic Plan to educate the community on the dangers of alcohol abuse for all those under the age of 21.

As a worker I have continued to promote a healthy community and made every effort to support positive change. I am a person that would rather encourage someone than look at his or her mistakes. I do not believe that yelling in anger or putting people down by name-calling is a way to deal with issues. I believe leaders should be respectful and able to listen.

I consider myself to be a problem solver and that it is better to work together to build than to work against each other and tear things down. In the past as Vice-Chair I came up against a lot of opposition and stood alone many times but I voted for those things I believed to be best for the Hualapai people.

We as Hualapai People are so rich with the land that is ours. The leaders before us have had great visions for us and we are now seeing those things come to pass. The creator has blessed us and kept us He has made us successful sending people that help us build upon those visions.

I believe in our culture and tradition that they have great value to us and we should teach our child and encourage them to learn those ways. We need to love our children and provide for them give them safe and secure homes and encourage them to go to school and learn.

As your leader I will work to ensure that everyone is treated fairly, I will follow the policies and procedures and empower the Director's and Program Managers to do their jobs respectfully. I will speak and vote for those things that "are in the best interest of the Hualapai Tribe."

I thank you for the opportunity to continue to work for you in the capacity of Chairwoman I have great respect for this position and with your help I will follow in the footsteps of my Dad, Uncles and relatives.

Respectfully Submitted,

Ms. Sherry J. Counts,
Hualapai Tribal Member

Baja,

Integrity, honor and pride, verses dishonor, deceitful and shame. This has been the actions of the current Council as we have all witnessed. I placed my name into the upcoming ballot thinking of a new beginning from the newly selected council members. Granted, we will inherit all of the problems that have plagued us recently.

That this would be, a direction of Integrity, honor and pride. First, we must regain your trust! in order to regain integrity. It is obvious that four of our candidates seem to have their own agenda, without considering the requirements in order to be considered as a candidate.

They may say the election board doesn't have a problem with our qualification's the Election requirements states that you must reside on the Hualapai Reservation one year prior to an election. However this is obviously not the case. They may say I have a home here, or a box number, that is not what the qualifications state!

Each candidate who has not and does not reside here at Peach Springs , know they don't live or reside here, but do not have the integrity to withdraw their names. They have and already are using you the people, by being dishonest! They are already misleading your trust while insulting your intelligence. You have recently noticed all of the smiles and hand-shakes, and the wave's that were never in existence prior to wanting your vote.

I believe you, the people, and have listened to you. I do and have done not in my personal interest, however yours. I alone cannot make change, without your support. Do not for your friend's, or who is your relative, but for the person who you know will lead this tribe in a positive direction. I would encourage you to vote for who will speak, rather than who will just to sit there without voice. As we have witnessed many of who have said "when I get in office I'm going to do this or that! And I promise to do a lot for you". Many time's we have been lied to, after they get our vote, to many times we have been denied. You become, invisible while standing in front of them. Vote for a person who will not be afraid to speak and do, or to just sit in the middle and vote when he or she is lost in what to vote for.

I'm not going to beg or ask you to vote for me. It's your choice as to whom you choose, but remember you get who you choose and get what you deserve, if it's not the right choice.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Route 66 Gas Station in the Hualapai Tribe's Capital, Peach Springs, Listed on the National Register of Historic Places

PEACH SPRINGS, AZ (April 12, 2012) The John Osterman Gas Station on Historic Route 66 in Peach Springs, AZ – the capital of the Hualapai Nation - has been listed on the National Register of Historic Places according to the National Park Service. The Hualapai tribe worked to nominate the building, which is located near the Hualapai Cultural Center and the Hualapai Lodge on the longest remaining stretch of the historic "Mother Road." The Hualapai Lodge serves as the starting point of the Hualapai River Runners, offering the only one-day Grand Canyon whitewater rafting trip. Tourism – including Grand Canyon West, Hualapai Ranch and Grand Canyon Skywalk – is the Hualapai Tribe's primary source of income for economic development.

Built by a Swedish immigrant in 1929, this station served gas continuously on Route 66 in Peach Springs until its recent closure. The Hualapai Tribe plans to rehabilitate the building and reestablish fuel service, making it one of few historic Route 66 stations to still supply fuel to travelers and residents. Plans also include using the large garage as a workshop and retail venue for Hualapai artisans.

Historically, Peach Springs has had economic ups and downs but has always been a hub connecting the eastern United States to the west. In 1883, when the Santa Fe Railway came through the reservation, a small settlement was created and named after a small spring near the tracks. Peach Springs was primarily a resupply hub for the railroad workers, but by the 1930's the railroad technology had advanced and the town was no longer a necessary stop while on the way to California or Nevada. As a result, the small remote town's economy was devastated. Railroad facilities and supporting businesses shut down and tourism ceased. As the automobile became more popular, especially after World War II, tourism and commerce returned to Peach Springs. Being located on Route 66, then a major east-west artery for the rapidly growing Los Angeles area, the town blossomed once again. However, with the completion of Interstate 40 in 1979, which bypasses Peach Springs by 25 miles, another economic slump had set in. Prior to the Interstate 40 opening, Peach Springs had five gas stations, five hotels, restaurants and trading posts. Currently the small desert town does not have a gas station and the closest place to get gas is dozens of miles away.

About Hualapai Tourism: Grand Canyon Resort Corporation, which is wholly owned and operated by the Hualapai Nation, manages Grand Canyon West, Hualapai River Runners (whitewater rafting), and the Hualapai Lodge. Grand Canyon West is a collection of viewpoints and attractions spread over 9000 acres of the Grand Canyon's West Rim in Northwest Arizona, just 120 miles east of Las Vegas, Nevada. Grand Canyon West is the only place in the Canyon where visitors can access a boat ride on the Colorado River via helicopter and is home to the Grand Canyon Skywalk, a glass walkway 4000 ft above the canyon floor. The site attractions are: Guano Point, with panoramic canyon views and the historic guano mine tram; Eagle Point, the location of the Grand Canyon Skywalk, the Native American Village with authentic dwellings of multiple tribes, and live Native American performances; and The Hualapai Ranch, a western town with cowboy entertainment, horseback riding, wagon rides and overnight cabins facing the Canyon rim. Private cars are welcome or all inclusive tours are available from Las Vegas, Phoenix, and Sedona by airplane, helicopter, coach, SUV, and Hummer. The Hualapai Lodge on Historic Route 66 and Grand Canyon West are open daily 365 days a year. Hualapai River Runners, the only one-day whitewater raft trip through the Grand Canyon, operates March – October. Visitors can view a complete list of activities, book reservations, and get directions at www.hualapaitourism.com or by calling 1-888-868-9378 - internationally at (001) 928-769-2636.

Rt 66 gas station deemed historic

PEACH SPRINGS – The John Osterman gas station on Historic Route 66 in Peach Springs has been listed on the National Register of Historic places. Consideration of the listing came by way of a nomination submitted by the Hualapai Indian tribe.

“Built by a Swedish immigrant in 1929, this station served gas continuously on Route 66 in Peach Springs until its recent closure,” stated a news release issued by Hualapai Tourism. “The Hualapai Tribe plans to rehabilitate the building and reestablish fuel service, making it one of few Historic Route 66 stations to still supply fuel to travelers and residents. Plans also include using the large garage as a workshop and retail venue for Hualapai artisans.”

Peach Springs had five gas stations, five hotels, restaurants and trading posts before the opening of Interstate 40 in 1979 provided a Route 66 bypass for motorists.

Historic John Osterman Gas Station

This property was listed in the National Register of Historic Places on March 15, 2012. The John Osterman Gas Station was one of several privately-owned and operated businesses in the town of Peach Springs during the 1920s through the 1950s. The building, constructed by Osterman in 1923, was a vernacular design of poured concrete block and built in the tradition of the “House with Bays” form. It featured an office resembling a small house and a series of attached garage bays. The design, in addition to allowing the sale of gasoline and other automotive products, is indicative of the large amount of repair work the station undertook over the years .

Historic Peach Springs Trading Post

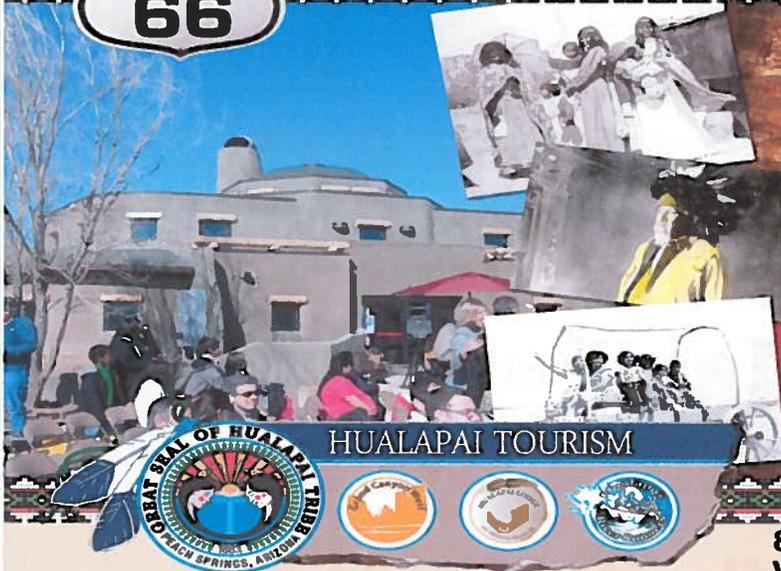

This property was listed in the National Register of Historic Places on November 21, 2003. The Historic Peach Springs Trading Post, in downtown Peach Springs circa 1932, was an important commercial enterprise for Peach Springs citizens and travelers on Route 66, which was the major transportation corridor for the region at that time. The building, which had an attached garage, was built by Ansel Taylor in 1928. It served as a trading goods store and was one of the Hualapai Tribe’s first economic ventures in the 1950’s. In 1978, Downtown Peach Springs businesses suffered major economic impacts because of the I-40 Freeway which by-passed the town. After the I-40 completion, the Trading Post served many uses for various tribal offices. Today, it is the offices for Hualapai Game & Fish and Tribal Forestry.

Are you interested in participating in the development and oversight of a local radio station by being a member of an advisory board for a local radio station?

- On April 5, 2012, Tribal Council directed the current Tribe EPCH internet radio station staff to "solicit participation and facilitate the convening of a radio station advisory board, which shall include, but not be limited to, Hualapai community members and radio professionals for the purpose of providing oversight of the operation of a Hualapai Tribe terrestrial radio station."
- In general a radio station advisory board provides the radio station with feedback on programming; may provide guidance regarding budget, policy and staffing matters; may assist in fund raising if applicable; and, will ensure the radio station is meeting community needs and interests in programming and content.
- Initially participants/members of the advisory board will be determining the recommended goals and mission, structure and operation of the advisory board itself for presentation to, and approval of the Tribal Council.
- For more information contact Terri Hutchens or Tim Vaughn at (928) 769-1110.

We, at the Education & Training Center would like to show our pride and appreciation for our Director, Lucille Watahomigie, for being acknowledged on the Women's Arch at the University of Arizona, Tucson.

March 20, 2012

Dear Lucille Watahomigie,

Congratulations on being selected by your tribal government to be honored on the Native American Women's Arch in the Women's Plaza of Honor! Women have been selected by each tribal nation in Arizona to be honored on this Arch, located at the University of Arizona (UA) in Tucson. Honored women represent the breadth of women's contributions to community, family, tribal government, traditional arts, language preservation, health, and business.

The Arch will be dedicated on April 13th, 2012, with a public ceremony in the Women's Plaza of Honor. We invite you, your family and friends, and your tribal council to join us for the dedication celebration from 2:00-4:00 p.m. on Friday, April 13th, 2012. Attached, you will find more information about the location of the event and parking.

During the dedication we will invite honorees to the front for a blessing song by Tohono O'odham members Regina and Megan Siquieros. Speakers at the event will include UA President Eugene Sander, Arizona Board of Regents member LuAnn Leonard, Tohono O'odham Chairman Ned Norris, Jr., Arch committee members Ofelia Zepeda and Elizabeth Kennedy, and music will be performed by Yaqui classical guitarist Gabriel Ayala. Due to time constraints, we will not ask honorees or their guests to prepare individual speeches for the dedication.

The dedication is open to the public, so please extend this invitation to your family and community. Light refreshments will be served. Following the Arch dedication you are invited to attend the Wildcat Pow-wow that begins on the evening of the 13th on the UA campus. Arch honorees that attend the Pow-wow will be honored there as well. We have included a flyer with further information.

RSVPs are not required for the dedication, although we would appreciate knowing if you will be joining us at this event. For questions or to RSVP for the dedication, contact Leigh Spencer or Angela Storey at astorey@email.arizona.edu or 520-621-5656. Further information about the dedication can be found at <http://gws.arizona.edu/arch>

Congratulations and we hope to see you on April 13th!

Sincerely,

Karen Francis-Begay

Don't wait for Social Security check in the mail*Mail drop: Social Security payments, other federal benefits, switching soon to direct deposit*

By Stephen Ohlemacher, Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) - Starting next year, the check will no longer be in the mail for millions of people who receive Social Security and other government benefits.

The federal government, which issues 73 million payments a month, is phasing out paper checks for all benefit programs, requiring people to get payments electronically, either through direct deposit or a debit card for those without a bank account. The changes will affect people who get Social Security, veterans' benefits, railroad pensions and federal disability payments. Tax refunds are exempt, but the Internal Revenue Service encourages taxpayers to get refunds electronically by processing those refunds faster than paper checks.

About 90 percent of people who receive federal benefits already get their payments electronically, the Treasury Department says. New beneficiaries were required to get payments electronically starting last year, and with a few exceptions, the rest will have to make the switch by March 2013.

"It's just that natural progression of moving to how people are used to receiving their funds," said Walt Henderson, director of the Treasury Department's electronic funds transfer division. Henderson said electronic payments are safer and more efficient than paper checks; in 2010, more than 540,000 federal benefit checks were reported lost or stolen. The switch will save the government about $120 million a year. Social Security will save $1 billion over the next decade, according to the Treasury Department.

"You think of that paper check floating out there in the delivery system, with personal information on it, it's much more susceptible to fraud versus an electronic payment," Henderson said. Advocates for seniors say they understand the government's desire to cut cost and take advantage of technologies that most workers already use. The food stamp program switched from paper coupons to debit cards in 2004. But they have raised concerns about requiring the switch for older retirees who may not be used to electronic payments.

"This will affect some very frail elderly people who are living by themselves, many of them, and doing well, but usually within the context of that old paper check that they deposit in the bank," said Web Phillips, a senior policy advisor for the National Committee to Protect Social Security and Medicare. "The change has to be handled carefully and with a lot of sensitivity so that there aren't people who lose track of a payment or don't understand that they have a card that came in the mail that's the source of their payment," Phillips said. "That's our concern."

The switch is mandated by a Treasury rule issued in December 2010. Since then, the department has worked to educate the public. The government has created a website, www.GoDirect.org and a toll-free phone number, 800-333-1795, people can call for assistance.

"Treasury acknowledges they have a lot of education to do for people about how these things work," said David Certner, legislative policy director for AARP. "We're a bit concerned about how easy it's going to be to provide education, particularly for some in this older population who are not familiar with debit cards and don't have bank accounts."

Certner said AARP wants the government to make it easier to get an exemption. Under the Treasury rule, current beneficiaries who are 90 and older won't be required to make the switch. People can get a waiver if using a debit card would impose a hardship, but the Treasury Department says those would be "extreme, rare circumstances." These waivers are not well publicized on the government's website.

"There are several million people who receive paper checks today," Certner said. "Some of them do it because they have worked out arrangements for them that work." AARP also has concerns about fees associated with the debit cards. The Direct Express cards are issued by Comerica Bank, Treasury's financial agent. Each month, benefit payments are added to the cards, which can be used to make purchases or withdraw cash from ATMs. There are no fees for using the debit card to make purchases. They can be used at any retailer that accepts MasterCard debit cards. If a card is lost or stolen, the beneficiary is protected from unauthorized use as long as the missing card is reported promptly.

Cardholders can make one free ATM withdrawal each time a payment is registered in the card. Subsequent withdrawals will cost 90 cents each, and all withdrawals may be subject to fees by the owner of the ATM. The government's switch to electronic payments also comes with a side effect: less business for the U.S. Postal Service, an agency that is already facing big budget problems with the rise of email and electronic bill paying.

The private sector has been migrating to electronic payments for years, costing the Postal Service millions of customers, said Alan Robinson, editor of the Postal Journal, a trade publication. "Normally, these things happen one customer at a time," Robinson said. "In terms of payments, this is probably one of the largest."

Resources for Tribal Youth

Native American Business Institute

July 21- 27, 2012 at Michigan State University

For more information: <http://mbp.broad.msu.edu/nabi/process/>

The Native American Business Institute is a weeklong pre-college summer program for sophomore and junior Native American high school students interested in learning about college and careers in business. 25 Participants work with MSU admissions officers, college counselors, tribal community leaders, and corporate representatives in a seven-day "business boot-camp" that prepares students for the college application process and exposes them to numerous academic and professional opportunities.

The application requires the following: a resume, high school transcript, teacher letter of recommendation, and an essay on why you should be selected as a participant and how the institute will be of benefit to you in light of your interests and future plans.

Application deadline: May 4, 2012

Center for Native American Youth

The Center for Native American Youth is dedicated to improving the health, safety and overall well-being of Native American youth through communication, policy development and advocacy.

AI/AN youth can also find information on Youth organizations, Tribal Colleges and Native Studies Programs, camps, conferences and more at the "For Youth" page at the CNAY website. Don't forget to sign up for the Native Youth Listserv to get timely notifications on internships, scholarships, and other opportunities.

You Can't Do Something with Nothing: Getting Your Data and Using It

May 2, 2012 - 2:00pm - 3:30pm

Led by: Tribal Youth Training and Technical Assistance Center

Tribal Youth Programs are required to report data as a condition of their grant from OJJDP; but what are some other uses for data? Why is it important to collect data as part of your program activities and what are some strategies to collect data? How is data collection related to performance measurement and evaluation? These are just some of the issues that will be discussed during this webinar.

The Office of Juvenile Justice Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP) and the Education Development Center's (EDC) Tribal Youth Program Training and Technical Assistance Center (TYP TTAC) are pleased to invite you to a webinar that will discuss strategies for data collection for performance measurement in Tribal Youth Programs. Participants will learn the difference between performance measurement and evaluation; how to use a framework for data collection, hear strategies for data collection including how to gather data using easy to use data tools (e.g., sign-in sheets) or existing data records (e.g., offense data), and finally how to store and keep data confidential, and aggregate and report data.

Knowledge River: Seeking Applicants to Serve and Represent Native American and Latino Cultural Communities

Tucson, AZ— The Knowledge River Program at the University of Arizona is seeking applicants with a strong background and interest in serving Native American and/or Latino populations as librarians or information professionals, particularly in medical/health library settings, public libraries (including tribal libraries), and special collections/archives. The program will continue to accept applications for KR Cohort 11 until May 1, 2012.

Qualified students have the opportunity to have their MA degree funded through graduate assistantships, which are ideal because it gives students relevant work experience, a salary, and health benefits. The program also offers paid program fees, in addition to a formal mentorship program, a strong cohort experience, and funds for conferences/professional development.

The Tucson-based program prides itself on its face-to-face cohort building, its emphasis on an LIS (Library and Information Science) graduate degree experience focused on information services for cultural communities, and its 130 scholars who have graduated with assistance from this program. Founded in 2001, the KR program has become the foremost Master's Degree program for educating librarians and information specialists with a focus on Native American and Latino cultural issues. KR alumni have found library, archives, and museum positions all over the world and include: Head Archivist at the National Museum of the American Indian; User Education Librarian at the City of Sydney, Australia; Curator of Chicano Collections at Arizona State University; Librarian at Yale Law Library; Library Director at Ak-Chin Community Library; Consultant for a Native American Records Management Non-profit organization; and many more. Others have entered Doctoral Programs around the United States.

Students enter the program with diverse backgrounds and career interests and have unique experiences while enrolled in the program. Here is one student's story.

Shawna Thompson

Yah'a'teh. My name is Shawna Thompson. My clan is the Coyote Pass People and my father's clan is the Red House People. I am Diné (Navajo) and a Knowledge River Scholar.

I have a dream: to be a digital archivist. I want to travel from tribal community to tribal community and set up digital archives that will serve to preserve our communities' culture and history. Due to Knowledge River this dream will soon be realized.

While employed at a community college library in the Phoenix area, I was encouraged to go back to school to get my Master's Degree in the field of library science. This brought me to Knowledge River. When working on my undergraduate degree I was very lonely. As an American Indian student I felt isolated without any support. Fear of repeating this experience kept me from applying to Knowledge River.

I applied to the University of Arizona's School of Information Resources and Library Science, after three years of deliberation, Knowledge River sounded too good to be true, so I delayed applying. My fear was that I wouldn't be "Indian" enough for the program. After a couple of weeks I was approved for KR. What a relief! I started classes in summer 2008.

At the time I didn't understand what a cohort was. I found out once I started classes that a cohort is a group of people who share a common experience. In other words, I was not alone; I had a group of students who were committed to working with tribal communities and/or Hispanic communities. This group, Cohort 7, became very close due to a class we were required to take together. The class, Information Environments from Hispanic and Native American Perspectives, taught us to look at our individual ways of thinking and our attitudes. We then were ready to learn how to provide access to information to underserved communities.

Then in September 2008 I was diagnosed with breast cancer. My cohort gathered around me and encouraged me during chemotherapy and radiation. Once again I was afraid to return to school because the chemo affected my brain. Cohort 8 convinced me to return to school in January 2010. I had to repeat my classes and took the Information Environments class again with Cohort 9. From that class I now have many good friends who still support me as I continue my education.

While it was hard to leave my tribe as a teenager, it was harder to leave Phoenix as an adult. But it has been easy to be in Tucson with a marvelous group of people who care about me and want me to succeed. When I was sixteen I worked in the high school library in Kayenta, AZ. It has taken me many years to circle back to that environment and to feel Indian enough. No other work has satisfied my desire to give back and to serve.

If you have a Bachelor's Degree in any field, you can be an information specialist. Also SIRLS does not require you to take the Graduate Record Exam (GRE). So, be willing to apply... it is easier than you might think. And remember you will have a cohort to help you through. It has been a great experience for me and I hope to meet you soon.

This May I will be graduating. Cohorts 7, 8, and 9 are very proud of my accomplishments and remain in touch with me. They are doing wonderful work and I will be joining them soon.

For more information about Knowledge River, visit <http://sirls.arizona.edu/KR> or contact us at kriver@mail.sbs.arizona.edu.

Knowledge River is funded largely by a grant from the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS). The Institute of Museum and Library Services is the primary source of federal support for the nation's 123,000 libraries and 17,500 museums. The Institute's mission is to create strong libraries and museums that connect people to information and ideas. The Institute works at the national level and in coordination with state and local organizations to sustain heritage, culture, and knowledge; enhance learning and innovation; and support professional development. To learn more about the Institute, please visit www.ims.gov.

On Monday May 7th, 2012, Dr. Robyn Purdum B.S.,D.C., will be donating her Chiropractic Services to any Hualapai Elder 65 years or older. Appointments will be 60 minutes in duration. Services will be provided at the Hualapai Elderly Center.

A sign up sheet will be posted at the Elderly Center. If you are unable to make your appointment please call the Elderly Center to let us know so that time can be made available for another Elder.

Chiropractic is a natural form of healthcare that can benefit people at any age. It helps relieve stress, aches and pains, and helps us move better and think more clearly. Chiropractic helps reduce the effects of stress on the body, mind, and spirit.

Remember with any luck someday we are all going to grow into an Elder.
