Summertime Tips for Preparing Young Kids for School

FIRST THINGS FIRST

Ready for School. Set for Life.

While most students think of summer as a break from learning, it's the ideal time to instill the skills that will make the transition back to school smoother.

First Things First has compiled a list of simple things parents and other caregivers can do over the summer to help young children prepare for school.

- Read to your child at least 30 minutes a day. When reading a story, ask your child, "What happens next?" and wait for the answer.
- Have printed material around your house – the newspaper, magazines, etc. – and let your child see you reading often.
- Take your child with you and talk to your child everywhere. Make up stories or songs about your outings.
- Ask your child simple questions about the colors and shapes of objects. Count out number of objects. Point out letters and repeat what they are. Ask your child how he/she thinks objects are used.

Sisters Girls Alyssa and Lena Montana page through the bilingual children's books released by the Hualapai Tribe and the Cultural Resources Department as part of a Native Language Preservation project through First Things First. Reading at home can help develop a love of learning that lasts throughout a child's school career.

- Encourage your child to draw on plain paper with crayons, or in the dirt with sticks. Their scribbles are the beginnings of writing.

- Check with Peach Springs Unified School District at (928) 769-2202 about required immunizations and schedule a visit at the clinic, with your child's doctor and with your child's dentist.

- Make sure your child gets enough rest – eight hours a night is preferred for school-aged children, and 12 hours a night for preschoolers.

- Start the day right with a healthy breakfast – it helps kids concentrate.

H.A.D.C. Leadership training (No cost training)

On Sunday May 25th Hualapai Adult Detention Center's Supervisors traveled to Show low, AZ to Diamond W Ranch to attend the 2014 CRT (Conditioned Responses Training) Leadership Retreat. A week of honing team building and leadership skills that is unsurpassed. Classes are taught by experts in their field and practicals are tied directly to the class material. We met up with other agencies (State and Tribal) from around the country. The training was geared to be an outside/camping agenda where we set up various campsites throughout the area and the classes were taught in the picnic area near a beautiful pavilion with all the necessities for cooking. The weather was great throughout the week except at night when the coldness arrived. We discussed team work, leveraging, action plan, use of force, level of control, life skills, morale, resources, time management, proactive, active listener, and successful careers. We did practical exercises where we were divided into two groups Red team and Blue team and if your team lost then you would have to cook & clean until the next day. This was an exciting and fulfilled experience for all agencies involved which brought us together to gain success not only with your agency but with all the agencies involved. After training we had time to get know and participate in games and learn about each other's strengths & weaknesses regarding your agency. This training would benefit your leadership skills and also how to overcome your mistakes with positive re-enforcements. If you are interested in this training you can contact Brent Craft (High Ground Solutions at bdcraft30@gmail.com /402-630-5447 & www.conditionedresponses.com).

Pharmacy Update

Hello everyone,

As of June 16th, LCDR Nick Sparrow is no longer employed at the Peach Springs Health Center. He has taken a job at another IHS site in order to be closer to family. He would like to thank everyone for their wonderful hospitality and for the opportunity to serve each of you. He enjoyed his time here and leaves with fond memories.

With LCDR Sparrow's departure, the pharmacy will be short on manpower until a new Chief of Pharmacy is hired. Most days, the pharmacy will function as it has the last couple of years, but there may be days from time to time where one of the remaining two pharmacists is absent. This will leave only one pharmacist to man the pharmacy. When these days occur, we would respectfully ask that you please have patience with the remaining pharmacist. If you know the pharmacist is by himself and you are able to pick up your medications at a later time, please let him know so he can focus on those who are unable to return at a later time.

Thank you for being great patients. It is a joy to serve you!!

Dear Community, Tribal Leaders, Schools, and Day Care:

As we complete the 2013-14 school year with well-deserved Promotions and Graduations, now is the time to start planning for the next year. Plan early for school immunizations and physicals to ensure your child's health and beat the back-to-school rush. Also as advocates for public health, we are writing to express the importance of immunizations and concern about those who disregard vaccinating their children.

Keeping up to date with vaccines is very important; failing to keep immunizations current could prevent your child from attending school, pre-school, and/or day care. Today, young children receive vaccines to protect them against 14 different diseases. Getting your child vaccinated helps protect others in your community—like your neighbor who has cancer and cannot get certain vaccines, or your best friend's newborn baby who is too young to be fully vaccinated. When everyone in a community who can get vaccinated does get vaccinated, it helps to prevent the spread of disease and can slow or stop an outbreak; such as, the recent confirmed cases of Measles and Pertussis in our state. Choosing to protect your child with vaccines is also a choice to help protect your family, friends, and neighbors, too.

To be fully immunized, children need all doses of the vaccines according to the recommended schedule. Not receiving the full number of doses leaves a child vulnerable to catching serious diseases. It is important to your child's health to be up-to-date on immunizations. It is always better to prevent a disease than to treat it after it occurs. Vaccine-preventable diseases have a costly impact, resulting in doctors visits, hospitalizations, and premature deaths. Sick children can also cause parents to lose time from work.

Vaccination has protected generations of children from horrible diseases. It works because of the choices parents make to protect their children and the children of others. It also works because the community comes together to ensure our children are immunized. Together, we can protect ourselves and each other from potentially deadly diseases. Please be sure you and your loved ones are immunized on time, every time.

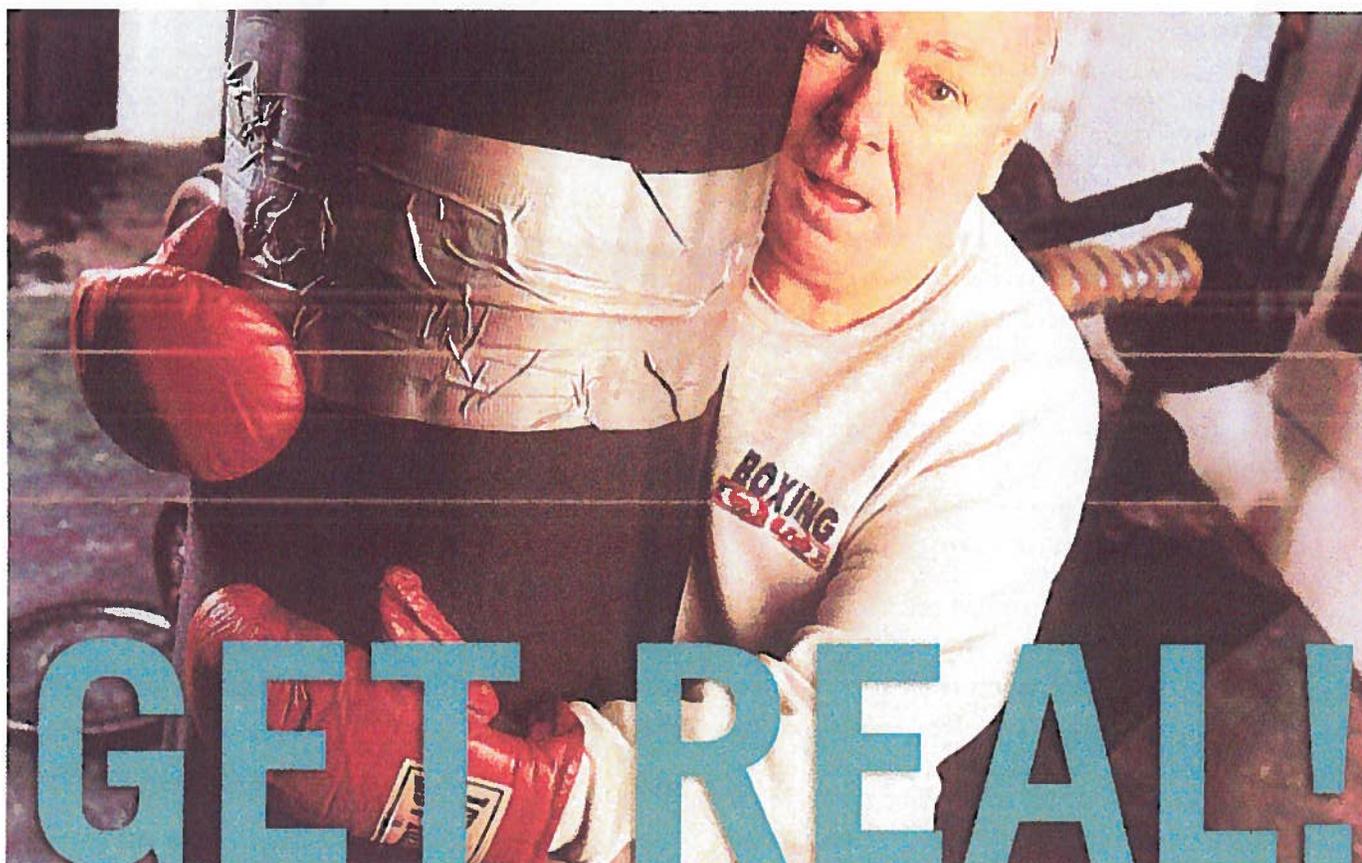

Respectfully,

Carmen Cosme, M. D.

GET REAL!

YOU DON'T HAVE TO KNOCK YOURSELF OUT TO PREVENT DIABETES!

Studies show that people at high risk for type 2 diabetes can prevent or delay the disease if they lose as little as 10 to 14 pounds (if they weigh 200 pounds) by walking 30 minutes 5 days a week and making healthy food choices. Keep in mind that small steps can lead to big rewards.

Use these tips for ideas to move more and make healthy food choices.

Take your first step today!

step 1 Move More. Plan to get at least 30 minutes of physical activity 5 days each week to help you lose weight. You can get this amount in small ways throughout the day. If you have not been active, talk to your doctor and start slowly to build up to your goal.

Here are some ideas to fit more physical activity into your day:

- ✓ Park your car farther away from stores, movie theaters, or your office.
- ✓ Use TV breaks to stretch, take a quick walk around your home, do some sit-ups, or march in place.
- ✓ Get your friends and family involved. Set a standing walking date. Or do something that everyone enjoys—shoot hoops, take a bike ride, or line dance.
- ✓ Walk during your lunch break.
- ✓ Deliver a message to a co-worker in person instead of by email. Take the stairs to your office instead of the elevator.

NDEP National Diabetes Education Program

A program of the National Institutes of Health and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention step 2 Make Healthy Food Choices.

Choose foods that are low in fat, sugar, and calories to help you lose weight. Limit portion sizes.

Start today to:

- ✓ Eat a variety of colorful vegetables and fruits.
- ✓ Choose whole grain foods—whole wheat bread and crackers, oatmeal, brown rice, and cereals.
- ✓ Lower fat intake—broil or bake poultry, meats, and fish instead of frying.
- ✓ Lighten your recipes by using nonfat or low-fat milk, yogurt, cheese, sour cream, cream cheese, or mayonnaise. Use cooking spray instead of oil.
- ✓ Avoid getting too hungry by eating a healthy snack between meals.
- ✓ Do not keep chips, cookies, or candy in your home. Instead, for snacks have raw vegetables, fruit, low-fat or nonfat yogurt, or a handful of nuts, pumpkin seeds, or sunflower seeds.
- ✓ Choose water to drink.

Use this chart as a guide for portion sizes

Portion Sizes

1/2 cup of cooked rice or pasta =
An ice cream scoop

1 1/2 ounces of cheese =
Four dice

3 ounces of meat or fish =
Deck of cards

2 tablespoons peanut butter =
A ping pong ball

step 3 Start Your GAME PLAN to Prevent Diabetes.

The key to losing weight and preventing diabetes is to make long-term changes that work for you—every day.

Taking these steps is a great way to get started.

The National Diabetes Education Program (NDEP) offers materials that can help you make healthy food choices and move more to prevent or delay type 2 diabetes. Young Man Finds His Way, with the Help of Family and by Making Sacrifices

Jon Garcia is a 26-year-old Isleta Pueblo man. He has a 7-year-old daughter and is spending more time with her. He is learning about his Pueblo's traditions and working on his GED. Jon is making positive changes and finding his way.

Young Life

Jon grew up without a father, raised by his hardworking mother, his grandparents, and his great-grandmother. He has two sisters. One passed away. One is going to college. He has always been surrounded by strong family who care deeply about him.

When Jon was in elementary and middle school, he was active. He practiced Karate and Jujitsu. He played baseball and basketball. Suddenly, at age 15, he stopped. "I started hanging out with the wrong people."

Teen Years

Jon lost his way. He was in and out of jail for over three years. When he was 19, he found out he was going to be a father. "What am I going to do?" he remembers thinking. "I knew I needed to go to school, but I really needed money."

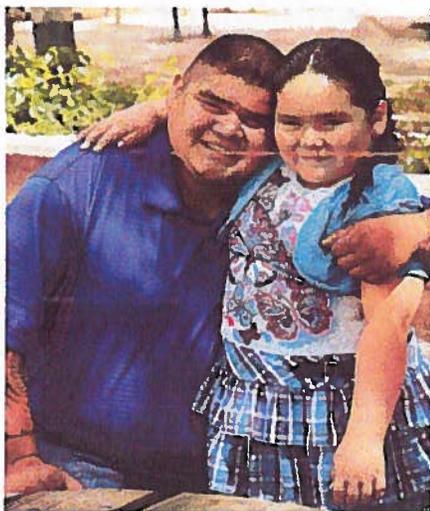

Jon and his girlfriend had a beautiful, healthy girl, Mariah. Jon's family urged him to get his GED, but he decided to work, taking minimum-wage jobs at fast food restaurants. "I felt like I knew how to survive without school," explains Jon. "Now I see that it was a mistake."

Mid-Twenties

Now Mariah is seven years old, and Jon is making changes in his life. He recently danced in his first traditional dance at the Isleta Pueblo. "I have always been around it, but never participated."

One day, a thought came to his mind: He wanted to be part of his people. "A person can be Native," explains Jon. "But you have to experience it to really know what that means."

Jon's family came out to watch him dance. Mariah was there, wearing her traditional dress. Jon entered the plaza, wearing the regalia and headdress, in line with dozens of other Isleta men and boys of all ages. He danced for over an hour, holding a rattle and singing. The weather turned cold and windy, then started raining. The men kept dancing. "It made me proud to be Isleta," he says.

Jon has started working out, and is trying to eat more healthy foods and lose weight. Jon's grandfather has diabetes and a great-grandfather had it. He knows he is at risk, and knows Mariah is at risk. Mariah's mother, Maggie, is also being physically active and improving her eating habits. Both want to be healthy role models and teachers to Mariah.

Recently, Jon started a class to earn his GED. He had tried three or four times to get it, but dropped out. "I got lazy," he explains. "Now, I want it. I want to go somewhere."

The Future

What motivates Jon to keep taking steps to improve his life? He says he thinks it is a combination of wanting to be a good father, having the support of his family, and just being tired of letting life pass him by. "I want Mariah to know I'm a hard worker. I want my family to look at me and say, 'He did it!' Even though I did some crazy things when I was younger, I want to change my future. I don't want to be satisfied with what I have now. I want to go further."

So he keeps dancing, going to GED classes, and working out. He wants to learn the traditional ways so he can teach Mariah. He is beginning to help younger men in his GED class. And recently, he began talking about going to the University of New Mexico.

Learning the traditions, and listening to his mother, sister, and grandparents, Jon is learning about sacrifice. He is learning that he must sacrifice today in order to achieve something in the future. On Good Friday, he walked for the first time in a 10-mile pilgrimage. He had never walked that far before, but did it by talking to himself: "You've got to do this. You've got to get this done...first for yourself, then for your family."

Thank you to Jon Garcia for sharing his story, and Mariah Garcia, her mother Maggie Rodarte, and Jon's mother, Julie Lucero, for providing support. They didn't do it to call attention to themselves. They did it to help other young men find their ways.

Think About:

- Describe your younger life. What were some difficulties? How did you cope with them? Who helped you along the way?
- Describe your early twenties. What were some major events? What choices did you make? Did your choices help you?
- Are you on a balanced path? What can you do to find more balance in your life?

Most fruits and vegetables are low in calories and fat, making them a healthy choice anytime. They may also contain phytochemicals (fight-o-chemicals) that work together with fiber to benefit your health in many ways. Different phytochemicals are found in different fruits based on their color—that's why it's important to put a rainbow on your plate.

Redy's Rules

Try it!

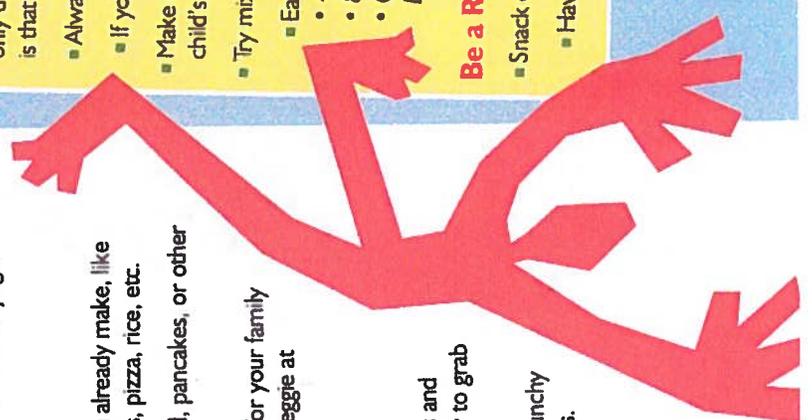

- Try the three bite rule. Offer new fruits and veggies different ways and try at least three bites each time—it can take 7 to 10 tries before you like a new food.
- Many fruits and veggies taste great with a dip or dressing. Try a low fat salad dressing with yogurt or get protein with peanut butter.
- Make a fruit smoothie with low fat yogurt.

Mix it!

- Add them to foods you already make, like pasta, soups, casseroles, pizza, rice, etc.
- Add fruit to your cereal, pancakes, or other breakfast foods.
- Be a good role model for your family and have at least one veggie at every meal.

Slice it!

- Wash and chop veggies and fruits so they are ready to grab and eat.
- Most people prefer crunchy foods over mushy ones. Enjoy them fresh or lightly steamed.

Tips from Redy

Offer Non-Food Rewards.

- Have your family put together a list of fun, non-food rewards that don't cost much. Post it where the whole family can see it. Examples: playing outdoors, a family game night, going to a ball game, buying a new book, extra reading time before bed.

Put Limits on Juice.

- Juice products labeled "-ade," "drink," or "punch" often contain 5% juice or less. The only difference between these "juices" and soda is that they're fortified with Vitamin C.
- Always try to choose whole fruits over juice.
- If you choose to serve juice, buy 100% juice.
- Make changes slowly by adding water to your child's juice.
- Try mixing seltzer with a small amount of juice.
 - Each day, juice should be limited to:
 - 4-6 ounces for children 1-6 years old
 - 8-12 ounces for children 7-18 years old
 - Children 6 months and under should not be given juice

Be a Role Model.

- Snack on fruits and veggies.
- Have the family help plan meals.

ATTENTION MEN! Take Steps to Manage Your Diabetes for Life by the National Diabetes Education Program

If you have diabetes, you know the day-to-day steps needed to manage diabetes can be hard. Managing diabetes isn't easy, but it's worth it. If left untreated, men with diabetes can face serious health problems such as heart attack, stroke, kidney disease, blindness, and even the loss of a toe or foot. Diabetes can also lead to sexual problems such as erectile dysfunction.

An important part of managing your diabetes is knowing your diabetes ABCs - A1C, Blood Pressure, and Cholesterol.

- A is for the A1C test. It measures your average blood glucose level over the past three months. The goal for many people with diabetes is below 7. Ask what your goal should be.
- B is for blood pressure. If your blood pressure gets too high, it makes your heart work too hard. It can cause a heart attack, stroke and kidney disease. Ask what your goal should be.
- C is for cholesterol. There are two kinds of cholesterol in your blood: LDL and HDL. LDL or "bad cholesterol" can build up and clog your blood vessels. HDL or "good" cholesterol helps remove the "bad" cholesterol from your blood vessels. Ask what your cholesterol numbers should be.

If you smoke, get help to stop smoking. Talk to your health care team about your ABC numbers and what you can do to reach your ABC goals.

The NDEP offers tips to help you take action to manage your diabetes. An important first step is to set a goal for yourself. Choose something that is important to you and that you believe you can do. Then make a plan by choosing the small steps you will take. For example, start working towards getting 30 minutes of physical activity, such as brisk walking, most days of the week. If you have not been very active in the past, start slowly and try adding a few minutes each day. Ask others for help with your plan.

The National Diabetes Education Program (NDEP) has free resources that can help. Order a free copy of 4 Steps to Manage Your Diabetes for Life and get more information about managing diabetes at: 1-888-693-NDEP (1-888-693-6337) or www.YourDiabetesInfo.org.

Recovery From Alcoholism

So very often in the early phase of our recovery, we go through a period of resentment or denial; and I don't mean the river in Egypt. Basically, we don't want to face our dilemma, and we don't want others to know we have a problem; but, generally everybody knows we have the problem before we do. It's not uncommon that we become angered toward those who brought the problem to our attention. We just don't believe we have the problem. We think we don't drink any more than the rest of our running mates, we may even think that others probably drink more than we do. Unfortunately, this belief or delusion keeps us from finding out how this problem is affecting our lives. But, if we are honest with ourselves and take just a little time to examine our life situation, we'll see and feel the impact of our pain and the pain we put on others because of our drinking behavior.

A young friend once told me, if I was able to just open my eyes and mind to what my mom was telling me when I was younger, maybe I could have stopped the hurt and pain I was causing her and others of my family. But, sometime, even knowing we have a problem is not enough to do something about it. This young man continued to drink until his situation became a life and death struggle; only then did he resolve to change what was going on in his life. In the desperate hours of an early morning, after coming too, following a two week drinking binge, he was on a the verge of life's hopelessness question; only then did he decide to stop this vicious cycle and change the direction of his life. He became humble enough to see and feel his plight and allow others to assist him to recovery.

But, for those of us who go through the treadmill of denial, knowingly or unknowingly, we bargain with our lives or we settle for our lot; like the old Peggy Lee song, "if that's all there is then bring on the booze." However, if we can work through the anger, resentments, and bargaining of our lives, and look honestly where our lives have been under the rot gut of alcohol, we can start a new beginning.

A new beginning without alcohol is not always an easy road; like a snake on the path of life-alcohol often gets in our way-it's always out there. But we have to find where it lurks in our life in order to avoid it. Often times in the lives of those who drink alcohol there is a humiliating and shameful experience that brings us to our knees; but, it's also through these experiences that bring us to a state of humility: a state of mindfulness where we honestly see the error of our delusion. In this process, we become more open to the information of recovery. It's stated that recovery is a process, always in development, never accomplished, but on-going. As new information unfolds before us we are able to see our lives in a new and more promising way.

KIDS IN HOT CARS HEATSTROKE SAFETY TIPS FOR PARENTS AND CAREGIVERS

Kids in hot cars are a deadly combination. Whether intentional or accidental, these deaths are preventable, which makes it all the more tragic. Here are some helpful tips to make sure it doesn't happen to you.

Remember:

- Never leave a child alone in a parked car, even with the windows rolled down, or air conditioning on. Children's body temperature can heat up 3 to 5 times faster than adults. A core temperature of 107 is lethal.
- Always look in both the front and back of the vehicle before locking the door and walking away.
- Heatstroke can occur in temperatures as low as 57 degrees. On an 80-degree day, temperatures inside a vehicle can reach deadly levels in just 10 minutes.
- Never let children play in an unattended vehicle. Teach them a vehicle is not a play area.
- Always lock your vehicle doors and trunk and keep the keys out of a child's reach. If a child is missing, quickly check all vehicles, including the trunk.

Is dropping a child off not part of your normal routine? Come up with some ways to remind yourself that the child is in the car.

- Place an item that you keep on you, like a briefcase or purse, in the back seat next to the car seat, so that you'll always check the back seat before you leave the car.

- Call your spouse after you drop the child off to make sure you didn't forget.
- Have daycare call you if your child doesn't show up.
- Write a note and place it on the dashboard of the car. Or set a reminder on your cell phone or calendar. You can also download the Baby Reminder App for iPhones.

If you see a child alone in a hot vehicle:

- Call 911 or your local emergency number immediately.
- If they are in distress due to heat, get them out as quickly as possible. Cool the child rapidly, by spraying them with cool water or a garden hose. NEVER use an ice bath.

Remember: kids in hot cars are a deadly combination. Don't take the chance. Look before you lock.

My Appreciation

Submitted by: Jean Pagilawa, Hualapai Tribal Council Candidate

My Appreciation

Jean Pagilawa

First, I thank my Creator for setting this path for me to walk, I believe it is his will that made this possible. Second, I humble myself as I thank those Tribal Members that supported my effort to be elected to serve on Council.

For the past two years that I served on Council has been rewarding for me. As I stated before, this current council has made some accomplishments, this was possible because council worked together. I have great respect for each Council Member. We have not agreed on everything, but were able to discuss the issues and come to a resolve. Mainly, we remained respectful to each other afterwards and continued to work together. This is a fine example of how we should work together leaving personal feelings out. I am hopeful that this will continue.

It is the Council that sets the examples for our People; it starts with us on down. We can only teach by example. We cannot expect others to listen to us when we are doing the opposite of what we expect to others. We need to "Walk our Talk and Talk our Walk".

During the past year, Council had a retreat to discuss our priorities and issues. Council came up with a long list of issues and priorities. We have accomplished some of the items, but still have a list of other unfinished items. Our Ordinances need to be updated so that our Government can function without disruptions and negative set back. Council will be pursuing this endeavor.

I am Hwal Bai and live in this community, I want this community to be the best it can be, so we can all proudly say this is my home, this is Hwal Bai. I want to serve you by doing what I can to make a better community for all of us. We have all the resources available; Social Services, Law Enforcement, Health Department, Judicial and etc., we just need to incorporate them all together to work for the common good for all.

Again, I thank all of you for your support. I will serve you with honor and integrity.

Appreciation to the Hualapai Tribe

Submitted by: Angeline Walema, Hualapai Tribe Council Candidate

To all Hualapai Tribal members - a good thank you letter and other concerns that affect our community. I am writing this letter to all those who took their time to vote for me on June 7, 2014. I thank you all very much, it was a close call but that's okay. There's always next time. I believe those that were voted in to serve for council will do their best for the Hualapai Tribe.

As we all know, there are many issues within our overall community that must be dealt with, for it concerns our Hualapai Tribe, the People of the Tall Pines. I strongly feel that safety come first. Why? Because there are individuals who continue to destroy tribal property, endangering lives within the community, especially with children who live and play within the neighborhood. These individuals need to pay for the crimes they commit and not grasp at every excuse they can think of. It's not fair to the elderly who deserve respect, especially if they are ill and who need rest and help to face another day. I see this to be sad, for the respect once our people had, is gone. It seems as though, people who get away with the crimes they commit are back out in the streets, continue their harassing and continue to instigate more problems, whether they are tribal members or non-members. I hear that the Hualapai Tribal Council is working on excluding individuals, those who have or continue to hurt innocent people, especially the elderly. This I agree with, we the people of the Hualapai Tribe must do everything it takes to bring peace back to our community and protect the young and old. There are those who say that's my relatives or friend, well it doesn't matter. There are those who have friends who chose to do the crime and they are facing the time for they were strong enough to face time, realizing they did wrong. Why can't the rest do the same?

I strongly feel that our Hualapai Tribal Council is going in the right direction, finally something is going to be done. I'm pretty sure our Hualapai council members will work together and make decisions that is in the best interest of our Hualapai people.

Another issue that must be looked into is the children off the reservation, who are in foster homes or live with family or friends by court order or whatever it may be. Are the children in safe homes? Where there is no drugs or alcohol involved? Not to mention physical and emotional abuse. I question who is monitoring this family? Is it the Hualapai Social Services? Or is it, or suppose to be where the child is enrolled? It seems as though once the child is dropped off at a home, that's it, he or she is forgotten. So if something serious was to take place within the home where the child sleeps, who is going to be responsible for the child, the situation or tragedy? Really, who is doing their job here? Who is making sure the children are safe? There's been an overwhelming big time of favoritism. This has to stop now. If we want to better our community, then we all must be treated equally, with the utmost respect, if not, then it is obvious who favors who and who parties with who. Not that we all don't know, but what I'm saying is, our Hualapai people ALL must be treated with fairness, equally with this.

At last, the Hualapai people will finally see that the council, our new council members are true to word. In ending, we all say we want a change. Well, now is the time, so let's all do what we can do, by working together to better our community.

Thank you,
A. Walema
