Housing Security Concerns

1. While I am on my shift I see kids riding scooters up and down the road in the dark. This is an accident waiting to happen, on day these kids are going to get hit by a car.

2. I also see kids, little kids walking home in the cold and the dark anything can happen.

3. Parents should be responsible and control actions of the kids.

4. Property damage is done by some of these children. This is a civil liability. The parent is obligated to take responsibility of these children not just financially.

5. The parent is responsible for any damage his or her child may cause to any property.
Tenant Yard Clean Up

The weather seems to be warming up. It is time for you tenants to get out and start cleaning up your YARDS or you can hire someone to clean for you. The expense is on you when you hire someone. You can make it a family day, which would get the work done much faster and less expensive.

REMINDER!!!! In your Lease Agreement and the Housing Policies; it states that; Section VII. Policies and rules applicable to homeowner and rental program, it states under B. CARE MAINTENANCE; Tenants are responsible for using reasonable care to keep the unit and yard in such condition as to prevent Health or Sanitation problems from arising. The tenant shall notify the Housing Department promptly of known unsafe conditions in any common areas and grounds in the project in which the Leased premises are situated, which may lead to damage or injury, including pest problems. The tenant shall keep the Unit and Yard in a clean and sanitary condition and prevent any damage to the landscaping around the unit.

Abuse and misuse of the unit is grounds for Termination of the Lease Agreement.

So, get out and start cleaning up. We do have yard tools that you can sign out for but ONLY for a short period or before they have to be returned you can come back in and sign out for them again.

We will be Monitoring the clean up to see who has started. This is a yearly compliance from all tenants.

Quarterly Inspections for March 19-26, 2019. Be ready for housing inspections. If you are not home we will enter the unit to complete the inspection. Thank for your time and understanding.
The size of your success is measured by the strength of your desire.

The size of your dream and how you handle disappointment along the way.

Make humanity something we can be proud of.

All Homebuyers, Homeowners, Private Homeowners if you need a repair (clogged sink, pipes leaking, etc.) Call public works to put a work order in (928)769-2216

The 2019 Wildland Fire Season is on its way and we are looking for highly motivated individuals willing to work strenuous shifts, maintain a positive attitude, and to be a team player. Keep in mind fire is unpredictable so shifts include weeks away from home and working holidays.

What is Wildland Fire?

A wildland fire is an unwanted ignition which consumes available fuels (grass, trees, and shrubs) by crawling, creeping, jumping, and running before smoldering to rest. Unwanted fires are the results of Rodeo-Chediski Fire (2002), Wallow Fire and Horeshoe 2 fire (2011) and most recently on the Hualapai Reservation the Sage Fire (2016).

What causes a Wildland Fire?

There are two types of ignitions 1) “anthropogenic” the results of human activity such as playing with matches, dropping cigarettes, embers from chimneys, unattended camp fires, and sparks from machines 2) natural ignitions are from volcanic activity and lightning.

How do I apply?

Contact staff at Branch of Forestry or stop by the office for application and nomination form for trainings. The process for employment is to complete; 1) Drug test 2) Physical Exam required and processed through Medical Standards or a Self-Certification Health Screen Questionnaire 3) Southwest Firefighter Application 4) Work Capacity Test (WCT): Informed

The position which you are applying for will determine the WCT as Pack test, Field test, or Walk test.

What will I Do?

Nevada bill brings the Stewart Indian School Cultural Center and Museum to the brink of reality
– Nevada Capital News, by Brian Bahouth
February 25, 2019

The Stewart Indian School Administration Building - Stewart Indian School Cultural Center and Museum

Carson City – Nevada Governor Kenny Guinn appointed Sherry Rupert to be executive director of the Nevada Indian Commission in September of 2005. Not too many years after Rupert’s appointment, plans began forming to develop a cultural center and museum on the campus of the Stewart Indian School, just a few miles south of Carson City, and AB44 is a part of the ongoing effort to bring that vision to reality.

The Stewart Indian School operated from 1890 to 1980 and was one of as many as 60 Indian boarding schools located throughout the nation. Schools where students were involuntarily gathered from local tribes and forced to adopt western, Christian culture. The Stewart school and others like it were tools of cultural assimilation. The first of these off-reservation boarding schools was launched in 1879, the Carlisle Indian Industrial School in Carlisle, Pennsylvania where the motto was, “Kill the Indian, Save the Man.”

According to the Stewart Indian School website, “The school opened on December 17, 1890 with 37 students from local Washoe, Paiute and Shoshone tribes and three teachers.” Sherry Rupert presented AB44 to the Assembly Committee on Government Affairs on Monday February 25. “The Stewart Indian School, Cultural Center and Museum will provide an opportunity to tell the unique story,” Rupert said. “The story that is not taught in our schools. The story that has been swept under the rug and ignored.”

Rupert said the museum would help citizens better understand the sacrifice of Native American people. “They have sacrificed so much. Not only were their homelands across the nation given up, but something even greater than that was forced to be given up, our families. We had to give up our children, tearing apart the family unit, forcing our children to take on new identities, shaming them into denying their culture and their languages. “And when you are finally able to tell your story, to relieve that burden. Maybe some healing can come from that,” Rupert said.

During the 2015 Legislative session, the Stewart Indian School garnered an operating budget large enough to fund two full-time positions. Of equal importance, the Nevada Indian Commission was officially designated as the coordinating agency for future uses of the Stewart Indian School campus. Sherry Rupert told members of the Assembly Government Affairs committee that the designation was important.

“This was important to establish, as the people who were most affected by the policies of the school, the American Indian people should have some voice in its future.” 2015 funding also enabled the Indian Commission to develop a master plan for the 110-Acre Campus with 65 buildings just south of Carson City. The campus is divided into seven zones with one for tribal and cultural resources, educational and interpretive spaces, lodging and conference center, community recreation, market driven development zone, infill housing, and a flexible development zone. The Stewart Indian School Auditorium – image – Stewart Indian School Cultural Center and Museum.

The 2017 legislative session brought $5.7 million dollars in funding for capital improvement projects to include a new roof on the gym and renovation of the former administration building for the new cultural center and museum. The money also funded the renovation of the former post office as a new welcome center. A grand opening is expected later in 2019, though a consistent source of operational funding is an unanswered question.

“We’ve made tremendous progress and are on our way to preserving one of the state’s finest and most unique assets and on the cusp of creating a platform where the untold stories of thousands of American Indian children, taken from their homes and their families, and made to take on new identities in an unfamiliar environment and culture, can finally have a voice,” Rupert said.

AB44 is not intended to provide hard-dollar funding for any aspect of the school campus, though it does further enable the agency to raise money through grants, donations, gift-shops and other revenue generating efforts. Assemblyman John Ellison, a Republican from Elko and Assemblyman Glen Leavitt a Republican from Boulder City both asked Rupert about sources of an operational budget. The cultural center and museum are expected to open later this year, but as of now, Sherry Rupert said, they have no money to operate and that the agency is in discussion with the governor’s office.

“The operating budget is in discussion right now between the agency and the governor’s finance office, and so we’re hopeful that we will come to an agreement on that.” Rupert said for the record.

The cultural importance of the cultural center and museum was underscored by the testimony of a woman who attended the Stewart Indian School, Alitha Tom. Alitha Tom is a member of the Moapa band of Paiute Indians, and like her mother before her, Alitha was made to attend the Stewart school when she was twelve years old. Tom graduated from the Stewart school in 1954.

“This is not just a simple museum,” Althia Tom said to the Assembly Committee on Government Affairs on Monday. “Why I call it a unique museum is because a lot of students that went there never asked to be there.

“I think its awareness, even for you to understand where we come from and how we learned to live and accept the way of life there on that campus. When you’re a young child growing up there on that campus not knowing that this day would come for me to sit here before you to talk to you about what it was and how it was and who you lived with, not your parents. You grew up with matrons. You grew up with boys advisers for the young men, boys. You grew up around many people you had to learn to know about. To learn how to live there without your parents. Being disciplined by non-parents. Waking up on a cold morning under cold sheets. We never had sheets in my home,” Tom said.

Nevada Bill Brings the Stewart Indian School Cultural Center and Museum to the Brink of Reality

Submitted by: Ted Quasula

STEWART INDIAN SCHOOL (1890-1980)

Prepared and submitted by Ted Quasula

The Stewart Indian School Cultural Center and Museum will be created in 2019. The Nevada Indian Commission (NIC) serves as a resource for the Stewart Indian School. Stewart operated as a federal boarding school for Indian tribes from 1890 to 1980. The mission of the Stewart Indian School Cultural Center and Museum is to tell the stories of the thousands of American Indian students who were educated at Stewart.

The NIC is reaching out to all alumni to be involved by serving on the Museum’s Cultural Advisory Committee, donating historical Stewart items, becoming a volunteer and give campus tours and do storytelling. Alumni are also encouraged to share their experience at Stewart which would be recorded so campus visitors may hear directly from Stewart students. You may call or email: Bobbi Rahder, Museum Director, 775-687-7606, brahder@nic.nv.gov and Chris Gibbons, Curator, 775-687-7604, cgibbons@nic.nv.gov. You may also drop by and visit.

Please visit the Stewart Indian School website at: www.stewartindianschool.com. The website provides very interesting information about Stewart. Enjoy the thousands of photos and school activities in Stewart yearbooks from 1960 to 1980, with the exception of 1971. In anyone has yearbooks 1971 and 1952 through 1959 please share them with Bobbi or Chris so these years may be added to the website yearbook list. Your yearbooks will be returned. # National Nutrition Month • Color Your World Healthy!

Submitted by: Rebecca Rice, Public Health Education | Indian Health Services

NATIONAL NUTRITION MONTH

COLOR YOUR WORLD HEALTHY!

Choose red, orange, and dark green vegetables like tomatoes, sweet potatoes, and broccoli, along with other vegetables for your meals.

Add vegetables to meals as part of main or side dishes. Add fruits as part of the dessert.

The more colorful you make your plate, the more likely you are to get the vitamins, minerals, and fiber your body needs to be healthy.

10 tips for affordable vegetables and fruits

1. Celebrate the season
   - Use fresh vegetables and fruits that are in season.
   - They are usually more flavorful and nutritious.

2. Why pay full price?
   - Check the local newspaper and online for sales, coupons, and specials that will cut your costs.
   - Often, you can get more for less by shopping larger grocery stores (discount grocers if available).

3. Stick to your list
   - Plan out your meals ahead of time and make a grocery list.
   - You will save money by buying only what you need.

4. Buy in bulk when items are on sale
   - Compare the prices and nutrition of fresh, canned, and frozen vegetables.
   - Canned and frozen items are less expensive than fresh and can save money.

5. Small amounts more often
   - Some vegetables are best eaten fresh.
   - Try adding them to meals throughout the week.

6. Store brands = savings
   - Opt for store brands when possible.
   - You will get the same or similar product for a cheaper price.

7. Keep it simple
   - Use vegetables and fruits in their simplest forms.
   - Pre-cut, pre-washed, and pre-cooked foods are convenient, but often cost more than when purchased in their basic forms.

8. Plant your garden
   - Start a garden and harvest your own vegetables.
   - This saves time and money.

9. Plan and cook smart
   - Prepare and freeze vegetables, soups, stews, or other dishes in advance.
   - This saves time and money.

Secondhand smoke is the combination of smoke from the burning of a cigarette, cigars, or pipes and the smoke breathed out by smokers.

There is no safe level of exposure to secondhand smoke.

Secondhand smoke harms the whole family, including non-smokers, unborn babies, and pets too.

HEALTH EFFECTS OF SECONDHAND SMOKE

Secondhand smoke contains more than 7,000 chemicals. Hundreds are toxic and about 70 can cause cancer.

25-30% increased risk of HEART DISEASE

Non-smokers exposed to secondhand smoke increase their risk of developing heart disease. Secondhand smoke causes nearly 34,000 premature deaths from heart disease each year among non-smokers in the U.S.

20-30% increased risk of STROKE

Secondhand smoke increases the risk for stroke. Secondhand smoke exposure causes more than 8,000 deaths from stroke each year.

20-30% increased risk of LUNG CANCER

Non-smokers who are exposed to secondhand smoke increase their risk of developing lung cancer. Secondhand smoke causes more than 7,300 lung cancer deaths among U.S. non-smokers each year.

Smokeless Tobacco • Not a Safe Alternative to Smoking
Submitted by: Vondell Bender, Good Health & Wellness (GHW) Educator | Hualapai Health, Education & Wellness

SMOKELESS TOBACCO
NOT A SAFE ALTERNATIVE TO SMOKING

Smokeless tobacco is associated with many health problems:

- Nicotine addiction
- Nicotine poisoning in children
- Gum disease, tooth decay, and tooth loss
- White or gray patches in the mouth (leukoplakia) that can lead to cancer
- Cancer:
  - mouth (lip, tongue, cheek, and gums).
  - esophagus (the passage that connects the throat to the stomach),
  - pancreas (a gland that helps with digestion and maintaining proper blood sugar levels).

SMOKELESS TOBACCO PRODUCTS

CHEWING TOBACCO
Chewing tobacco comes in the form of loose leaf, plug, or twist/roll.

SNUFF
Snuff is finely ground tobacco packaged moist, dry, or in pouches or packers (dip, snus).

DISSOLVABLES
Dissolovables are finely ground tobacco pressed into tablets (orbs), sticks, or strips.

CDC Tips From Former Smokers

Oral cancer in her cheek spread to her jawbone, classifying it as Stage IV cancer. Doctors had to remove half of her jaw.

Christine

Doctors removed his larynx, part of his esophagus, and collarbone and then reshaped and stretched his stomach to serve as an esophagus.

WHAT ARE E-CIGARETTES?

Electronic cigarettes (e-cigarettes) come in many shapes and sizes. Most e-cigarettes have a battery and produce an aerosol by heating a liquid that usually contains nicotine - the addictive drug in regular cigarettes, cigars, and other tobacco products - flavoring, and other chemicals that help to make the aerosol. Users inhale this aerosol into their lungs. Bystanders can also breathe in this aerosol when the user exhales into the air.

E-cigarettes are known by many different names. They are sometimes called:

- E-cigs
- E-hookah
- Mods
- Vape pens
- Vapes
- Tank systems
- Electronic nicotine delivery systems (ENDS)

Some e-cigarettes are made to look like regular cigarettes, cigars, and pipes. Some resemble pens and USB sticks. Larger devices such as tank systems, or "mods" do not resemble other tobacco products.

WHAT IS IN E-CIGARETTE AEROSOL?

The e-cigarette aerosol that users breathe and exhale can contain harmful substances, including:

- Flavoring such as diacetyl, a chemical linked to a serious lung disease
- Nicotine
- Various cancer-causing chemicals
- Heavy metals such as nickel, tin, & lead
- Ultrafine particles that can be inhaled deep into the lungs
- Volatile organic compounds

It is difficult for consumers to know what e-cigarette products contain. For example, some e-cigarettes marketed as containing zero percent (0%) nicotine have been found to contain nicotine.
CAN E-CIGARETTES HELP SMOKERS QUIT?

E-cigarettes are not currently approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) as a quit smoking aid.

NICOTINE
Most e-cigarettes contain nicotine, which has known health effects.
- Nicotine is highly addictive.
- Nicotine is toxic to developing fetuses.
- Can harm adolescent brain development, which continues into the early to mid-20s.

AEROSOL
E-cigarette aerosol can contain substances that harm the body.
- Cancer-causing chemicals and tiny particles that reach deep into lungs.
- The concentrations of 9 of 11 elements in aerosol were higher than or equal to concentrations found in cigarette smoke.

INJURIES
E-cigarettes can cause unintended injuries.
- Defective batteries have caused fires and explosions.
- Most explosions happened when batteries were being charged.
- Children and adults have been poisoned by swallowing, breathing, or absorbing e-cigarette liquid through their skin or eyes.

The Five Rs for a Happy Home:

1. Rules
2. Rewards
3. Responsibilities
4. Routines
5. Happy Rituals

FAMILY GOALS:

1. Decide and write down family rules, commit to obey them, and track compliance.
2. Determine rewards for obeying the family rules:
   a) Write down the rewards.
   b) Make a Reward Jar.
   c) Track rewards and praise.
3. Divide family responsibilities; make a family chore chart; decide on pay or privileges earned; track compliance.
4. Decide and post family routines such as bedtime, getting up, etc.
5. Decide and implement one happy family ritual to build loving family relationships.

FAMILY FUN:

Have kids choose which charts and rewards from the “Rewards Tracking” sheets they want to use. Cut out and assemble the spinner. Serve treats.

POWER PHRASE:

“Rules, rewards, and responsibilities help establish order in a home and teach children skills to contribute to society.”
Our Family Rules!
Standards to live by that keep us happy and safe

Together as a family, create rules that establish rights and responsibilities, teach children pro-social values, and keep them safe. When children help make rules, they are more likely to obey them. Next, establish rewards for following family rules. The following week, add negative consequences for breaking them. Rules that are fair, firm, and consistently reinforced and enforced, help children feel more secure and develop better self-control.

Family-Friendly Rules
Tracking Sheet—Teen

Family rules help you know the right path, stay safe, avoid trouble, and make a happier home. You can do your part by following your family rules and encouraging others to do so as well.

Write down each of your family rules below. Give yourself 0 to 5 points each day according to how well you obeyed each of your family rules during the week.

WHY IS THIS RULE USEFUL?
Track and Reward for Good Behavior

Introduction

THE CONCEPT: One of the best ways to change behavior is to pay attention to and reward the behaviors you want. The most powerful reward is praise, which is a social reward. Another social reward is spending time with your child. Other effective rewards are privileges (like T.V. and gaming time, special outings, extra bedtime stories, time with friends) and material rewards such as money, toys, treats, or a Driver’s License.

When choosing rewards, make sure children find the rewards enticing by having them fill out the “Rewarding Rewards” handout. Some rewards can be small for smaller achievements and some can be larger for significant progress. Make sure the rewards are on-hand and easy to give. Children earn points to receive rewards by practicing the desired behavior, setting up a tracking chart, and daily doing the behavior.

Rewards can be enhanced by making earning the reward be entertaining and introducing an element of surprise—like a spinner or dice to have luck determine which reward the child receives. (See handout 3-14.) Change the rewards over time to keep your child’s interest high. As behavior changes for the better, choose new behaviors to work on and reward.

HOW TO SET REWARDS:

1. CHOOSE the behavior you want your child to do and write it down. Begin with a behavior that is not too hard to achieve. You can then tackle more difficult behaviors. (If you want your child to stop doing a negative behavior, decide what its opposite is; that becomes the behavior goal.)

2. PRACTICE: Break down the new behavior into small doable steps you can teach your child and have him or her practice the behavior. Decide on how the behavior will be measured—how your child knows he or has accomplished it.

3. REWARD: Decide what reward your child likes and how it will be earned (number of points required, etc.). Have the rewards on hand.

4. CHART: Let your child choose a tracking chart (see examples in handouts). Fill it out and be clear about what your child must do to earn a move on the chart and receive a reward. (If you are using a very long “Dot-to-Dot” chart, divide the chart into sections, with a special activity at the end of each section.)

5. REWARD: Put the chart and the dice or spinner in a place where they will be easily seen. Be interested and enthusiastic when your child marks the chart.

6. MAKE IT EASY: Set up your child’s environment for success—make it easy to do the new behavior. (See Lesson 7 handouts “Contracts for Change” & “Positive Criticism”)

7. PRAISE: Praise your child every time you see him/her doing the new behavior and have him/her note it on the chart.

Example

Keeping his room clean is Ben’s new goal. He and his parents decide that “bed made” means the sheets and blankets are pulled up and off the floor. “Clothes away” means all dirty clothes are put in the laundry basket; all clean clothes put away properly. “Toys away” means that all toys are in the toy box. His parents will check Ben’s room each day at 7:30 p.m. Ben chooses a “Dot-to-Dot” chart and will circle a dot and receive a point every day his room is clean. His parents circled every fifth dot in red; when Ben reaches a red circled dot, he uses the spinner to discover his reward. He will receive the special reward when the chart is finished.

Sporadic Rewards

When the behavior becomes a habit, switch to sporadic rewards by only rewarding when the dice rolls or spinner lands on specific numbers.

TIPS FOR SUCCESS IN USING CHARTS AND RANDOM REWARDS

1. Check your child’s chart each day at the time you set. Be sure your child is there and participating.

2. Look for something you like and praise it. Be sure your child knows what he or she did right and what is expected. Do not scold for missed behaviors. Your child simply misses a chart move for the day.

3. Be sure your child gets the Reward he or she earned that day NO MATTER WHAT!

4. Ignore your child’s arguing or begging in an effort to get the reward without complying.

5. Don’t give any of the Rewards at any other time, for any other reason. (If they get them anyway, why should they work for them?)

6. DO NOT take away an earned star or move for unwanted behavior.

7. Involve an element of surprise such as a spinner or dice to indicate the reward.

8. Change rewards occasionally to keep your child’s interest high.

9. Change the behaviors on the chart after your child learns to do them well.

10. Keep it happy and fun.
Making Rewards Rewarding
Let your kids choose what rewards they enjoy most

For rewards to reinforce good behavior, kids have to find them actually rewarding. So ask kids what they like best, help them fill out this form, and use that for your guideline. There are three types of rewards: Social Rewards, Privileges, and Material Rewards. Kids enjoy social rewards the most; but also enjoy earning privileges and things they want. When kids earn rewards and privileges, they receive more pleasure from them than if they got them free. Distinguishing between a child's rights (food, shelter, safety, clothing, education, and love) and privileges (everything else) will help you use things you are providing already, or new things kids want, as a rewarding reward.

6 Rules of Rewarding
1. Make the Reward rewarding—and fit the size of the Reward to the amount of effort expended.
2. Reward immediately—but only AFTER the good behavior; never before or for future "promised" behavior.
3. Tell exactly what behavior you liked.
4. Smile; be enthusiastic, show you are pleased.
5. Reward consistently when starting out; when behavior is well established, switch to sporadic rewards using dice.
6. Don’t offer a reward to stop bad behavior. ("Stop crying and I’ll give you a treat.") Trains kids to misbehave for rewards.

Reward Jar
Rewarding good behavior by providing positive consequences

We all like to receive recognition and rewards when we perform well or do a good deed. These motivate us to repeat such actions. Write in the spaces below various rewards that family members would like to receive for completing the “Family Responsibilities” worksheet as well as other behaviors you would like to encourage. Make sure these are rewards you and your child agree on. When a child does well, IMMEDIATELY PRAISE AND SAY THEY EARNED A REWARD SLIP. Allow them to pick it immediately or have an appointed family time when the child can choose a reward from the jar and be praised in front of the family.

Family Responsibilities and Chores
Tracking Sheet

A long term study showed that kids who did assigned chores as children and teens were more responsible, competent, self-reliant and had higher self-esteem as young adults than those who did not. Research also showed that kids who do not have to do chores or help around the house were more likely to be self-centered and at a greater risk for depression.

Use this as a worksheet to help children understand what it takes to run a home, and help them share in the Responsibilities. Pick a set day and time when all family members can attend. List responsibilities and divide up fairly, according to age and ability. Supply training as needed. (For great chore-assigning tips see: “The Big Book of Parenting Solutions” by Michele Borba.)

What Chores Can Young Kids Do?
Young kids build skills and self-esteem as they help with family chores

Young children usually enjoy helping with chores if 1) they are trained in the skill, 2) the job is within their abilities, 3) their physical environment is set up for their success (unbreakable dishes, lower cupboards, stools to help them reach, etc.) and 4) they receive lots of praise for their efforts.

Below are some chores young children can do. Start with only one or two chores, then add as they get older. Set up a reward system so children can check off completed chores and earn points toward things they like. Don’t criticize if the chores are not well done at first. Praise even the smallest attempts. If children are reluctant to help, emphasize that because they have the RIGHT to live in the home, they have a RESPONSIBILITY to help take care of it. (TIP: Children with ADD may have trouble staying on task or figuring out how to organize. Ask them to report back to you or let them work as a team with someone. Don’t assign them jobs that need to be done before someone else can do their chore, like unloading the dishwasher so another sibling can load it.)

Stress-Busting Routines
Positive routines reduce chaos, foster freedom and peace

Establishing positive routines in each of the five areas below will reduce family stress, improve children's emotional health, and assure that the things most important to you get done. Together, decide routines that work best for your family, and try to stick with them. Problem-solve until you get the results you want.

1. Sleep
   - Bedtime
   - Wake up
   - Bedtime duties/hygiene

2. Dinner
   - a. Who buys food? When? (buy brain-healthy food; avoid junk)
   - b. What's for dinner? (plan weekly; include veggies, fruit, whole grains, lean protein)
   - c. When is dinner? (weekdays) and (week-ends)
   - d. Who fixes food? and
   - e. Who cleans up? and

3. Study, Learn, and Work
   - a. Homework Study-Time Routine:
     - i. Time (weekdays) Place: How long?
     - ii. Time (weekends) Place: How long?
   - b. Reading (when and for how long)
   - c. Laundry:
     - i. Who does it? When
     - ii. Who does it? When

Happy Family Rituals
Create special moments to increase family love and bonding

A happy family ritual is a set, loving way of saying or doing something that enhances an event's meaning and promotes family bonding. These include tender ways of greeting each other or ways to say, "I love you." ("I love you bigger than the sky!") Some families have a nighttime ritual that includes reading a bedtime story, or giving back rubs and songs to help a child feel loved and secure. As teens grow, it could be a special snack when coming home from school while sharing the "best and worst part of the day," or a quiet bedtime chat ending with, "I sure love you. Thanks for being my son or daughter." These moments help family members feel loved and appreciated. Whether your family ritual is daily—like pausing tenderly to give welcome home hugs, a special greeting, and a long look into a child's eyes; or kisses whenever you see a rainbow—be sure to do it happily and regularly, so kids can count on it.

Below, list the happy family rituals you already have and ask: "Are our happy family rituals adequate to produce family bonding? How can we make them more meaningful? What happenings occur on a daily or weekly basis that we could enhance with a loving moment?" Get family input; write down your ideas. Then begin another happy family ritual.

Bee Good Chart

Write the skill or behavior to be practiced at the bottom of the beehive. Place a small sticker or mark on the poster each time that the skill or behavior is practiced. Behaviors could be making the bed, obeying the first time, accepting "No" nicely, putting clothes away, etc.

Bees are known for their hard work and their positive effect on their own family or hive. A hive is like a home—everyone has a job to do to make the family run happily and well. If everyone does their part, pure sweet honey is the reward.

Better behavior begins with me.

Record the behaviors you want to track and reward in the boxes below. Use a star to mark each day that a task or behavior is achieved. Behaviors could be doing a daily chore, meeting curfew, doing homework on time, being nice to a sibling, etc.

An alternative to using stickers is using a rating system. For example, you can rate the performance from 1-5, 5 being excellent and 1 the least acceptable. Write the score on the poster each day. At the end of the week add up the score. Pick a minimum score, such as 25 or 20 that earns the reward. Give a bonus for extra high points.
Track and Reward for Good Behavior

Brain Gain Chart

When we improve our behavior by learning and practicing a new skill, we wire our brain to be more effective. Decide how often to give a reward by circling with a colored pen or pencil certain dots, such as every third or fourth dot. Have your child draw a line between the dots as he or she accomplishes what is expected.

Earning Your Stripes

Write the behavior to be learned and the reward to be earned below. Circle which stripes you will use as short-term rewards. Have your child color in the stripes as he or she completes assigned tasks or does the behavior.

Rewards Spinner

Random Reward Games

The idea of a spinner is to provide an element of fun and surprise as to what the reward will be once the opportunity for a reward is earned. (You can also make a spinner with a paper plate and a bobby pin.) Write the rewards that you and your child have determined in the numbered pie shaped pieces. Either roll a dice or make and use the spinner to determine the number of the reward they get.
Pro-Social Skills for a Successful Life

How to have good rules, routines, rewards, and rituals

HOW TO MAKE GOOD FAMILY RULES

1. As parents, write down the values, beliefs, and pro-social behaviors that are important to you.
2. Invite your children to a family meeting to help make family rules. Share your list of values and behaviors that you want to have to create order and good family relationships in your home.
3. Ask family members to brainstorm ideas for family rules that would create those attitudes and behaviors. Together, choose the best ones and write them down. Have everyone sign their agreement to follow the rules and track progress.
4. Evaluate at the end of the week and month to see how it went. Make adjustments to the rules if needed.

HOW TO SET UP POSITIVE ROUTINES

1. Use the handout on routines to examine six areas of family life that could use some improvement. Choose one new routine to add structure and relieve stress. Write it below:

   ____________________________________________
   ____________________________________________
   ____________________________________________
   ____________________________________________

HOW TO REWARD GOOD BEHAVIOR

1. Decide which behavior(s) you want to reward.
2. Have your child choose a reward he or she enjoys (one you can afford and that fits his or her efforts.)
3. Have your child choose a tracking sheet. Decide on the number of points needed to earn the reward.
4. Give reward points immediately after the good behavior. Smile, be enthusiastic, show you are pleased, and tell exactly the behavior you liked.
5. Give the reward only AFTER the good behavior.
6. Reward consistently at first; then after it becomes a good habit, explain that you will be switching to sporadic rewards. Then switch the reward to a new behavior to work on.
7. Don't offer a reward to stop bad behavior.

HOW TO MAKE HAPPY FAMILY RITUALS

1. A happy family ritual is a small, loving way of saying or doing things on a regular basis that helps family members feel loved and appreciated.
2. Look at the ways you daily interact in common situations with family members. Decide to add a ritual to your usual ways of doing things that will help family members feel loved.
3. Look at happy families around you, or do research online, to find happy rituals you can do in these five areas: bedtime, greeting each other, mealtime, celebrating successes, and birthdays.
4. Present your ideas at a family meeting. Choose the ones you all agree on. Set up reminders.

EGGPLANT PARMESAN ROLLATINI

Comfort food at its finest, this dish manages to be elegant at the same time. You're mixing together ricotta, mozzarella, and oregano, and rolling it up in roasted eggplant planks (the elegant part). Then you'll arrange the rolls in a baking dish and slather them with marinara sauce, mozzarella, and Parmesan (the comfort food part). You bake the whole dish until melted, golden, and bubbly. And then you spoon out gorgeous, dainty rolls that are dripping with tomatoey-cheesy goodness. Truly, there's nothing not to like. Serve this casserole at your next dinner party and watch the crowds go wild.

How to Make It

Step 1: Heat oven to 450°F. Divide the oil between 2 rimmed baking sheets. Dividing evenly, arrange the eggplant slices in a single layer on the baking sheets and turn to coat in the oil; season with ⅛ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Step 2: Bake the eggplant, rotating the baking sheets halfway through, until soft and beginning to brown, 12 to 15 minutes; let cool. Reduce heat to 400°F.

Step 3: Meanwhile, in the bottom of a 9-by-13-inch or some other 3-quart baking dish, spread ½ cup of the marinara sauce. In a large bowl, whisk together the eggs, ricotta, oregano, 1 cup of the mozzarella, and ¼ teaspoon each salt and pepper.

Step 4: Place about 3 tablespoons of the ricotta mixture on one end of a slice of eggplant, roll it up, and transfer it to the prepared baking dish. Repeat with the remaining eggplant slices and ricotta mixture.

Step 5: Top the eggplant rolls with the remaining cup of marinara sauce and the remaining cup of mozzarella. Sprinkle with the Parmesan.

Step 6: Bake until the cheese has melted and the sauce is bubbling, 20 to 25 minutes. Let cool for 5 minutes before serving.

Ingredients

- 4 lbs olive oil
- 2 large eggplants (about 3 lbs. total), sliced lengthwise (about 16 slices total)
- kosher salt and black pepper
- 1⅓ c. marinara sauce
- 2 large eggs
- 1 15-oz container ricotta
- 2 tpsps dried oregano
- 2 c. grated mozzarella (8 oz)
- ½ c. grated Parmesan (1½ oz)

"Antwone Fisher is a poet. He has published some of his poems in a book entitled 'Who Will Cry for the Little Boy?' This is the title poem of that book."

Who will cry for the little boy?
Lost and all alone
Who will cry for the little boy?
Abandoned without his own?

Who will cry for the little boy?
He cried himself to sleep.
Who will cry for the little boy?
He never had for keeps.

Who will cry for the little boy?
He walked the burning sand.
Who will cry for the little boy?
The boy inside the man,

Who will cry for the little boy?
Who knows well hurt and pain
Who will cry for the little boy?
He died again and again.

Who will cry for the little boy?
A good boy he tried to be
Who will cry for the little boy?

Luke 10:35-42

One Thing is Needed!

Jesus is your first domino. If you start with Him, everything will fall right and flow right. It's like the game of dominos. You start with Jesus, the 1st one—it will go right! Give him the best for Him, put Jesus first.

Misplaced value—we lose our value. It's easy to lose time with him. There's a reason you're here, you brought Jesus with you. Jesus wants to talk with you. We lose the ball when we don't think of him in our minds.

If we rely on Jesus, it comes out right. He shows up and fixes the mess we are in. It's not a specific church, but its Jesus. It's not a nicer car, it's Jesus. If you have Jesus, you have it all! At the feet of Jesus is just a moment that aligns the day.

If we are busy, we are EMPTY without Jesus. Confusion will vanish at the feet of Jesus. Get the fire up - get closer to Jesus. We put value in the wrong things, we work hard for things, but there's someone more valuable... and that is Jesus—and your day will be good. Let Him put his sandals on you. Let Him put his robe on you. You'll have the strength in your daily life.

Sharing a message from a pastor in Kingman. A very anointed pastor. I thank the Lord for his anointing. I just feel it all during service, even when I come out! Praise the Lord!! Have a good day.
