What are the ways to get information on the air on KWLP?

- KWLP Community Calendar:
  Limited information only. Narrated by station staff. Individual spots run not more than 10 to 15 seconds. The entire calendar runs no more than approximately 1.5 minutes. The community calendar runs on the 1/2 hour 24/7 for one week. The deadline for submission to be in the community calendar is NOON the Friday BEFORE the week in which the calendar runs. Submissions may be made either by delivery to the radio station or emailing to staff. Direct communication with station staff of request for an event to be included in the community calendar is required. Station staff will draft script from event flyer. No charge.

- Event Promo:
  More details and calls to action included. Generally narrated by dept. or program staff or designated community representative. Promos generally run 30 seconds to 1 minute. Play is random on the quarter hour—will vary depending on the number of event promos in a given week. Run periods can vary: at least 2 weeks prior and no more than 30 days in advance is recommended. Submission should include a basic script (who, what, where when, why, how) AND CONTACT INFO for follow up! Event flyers are generally inadequate as a script, but help. Scheduling an appointment with station staff to record promo or in the least, calling ahead to determine if production staff is available is recommended. Drop-ins will be accommodated if possible—best times are 10 am to 2 pm daily. Staff may assist with scripting and narration. Direct communication of request for an event promo to be produced and broadcast is required. Note: Production of a quality 30 second promo takes 1 to 2 hours minimum, not including recording narration. No charge.

- Educational Public Service Announcement (PSA):
  Educational, topical or seasonal information which may be archived and rebroadcast in the future. Includes no mention of specific dates or events. Generally narrated by dept. or program staff or designated community representative. PSAs generally run 30 seconds to 1 minute. Play is random on the quarter hour—will vary depending on the number of PSAs in a given week. Run periods can vary at preference of dept or program, which need to be identified. Scheduling an appointment with station staff to record PSA or in the least, calling ahead to determine if production staff is available is advised. Drop-ins will be accommodated if possible—best times are between 10am and 2 pm daily. Staff may assist with scripting and narration, but other voices and scripts preferred. Direct communication of request for a PSA to be produced, broadcast and rebroadcast is required. Note: Production of a quality 30 second promo generally takes 1 to 2 hours minimum, not including recording narration. No charge.

- Personal Interview:
  This option provides an opportunity to give the most detailed information to listeners, the longest amount of air time for one service or event and calls to action. It is available to departments, programs and community organizations. Interviews sound live, but are pre-recorded and usually edited by staff. Interviews are generally played in 3 to 5 minute segments, depending on length of full interview; may be promoted in advance on air and in social media or otherwise. Interviews must be scheduled with station staff in advance; two weeks in advance of 1st desired air-time is recommended. Desired questions may be submitted in advance. Station staff may assist with identifying questions to elicit desired narrative, including who, what, where, when, why and how. No charge, unless advertising.
• Recurring “Donut” Segments:
  This option provides an opportunity to give regular, on-going (weekly or monthly) but changing information to listeners in a streamlined and time-efficient manner. Name-familiarity and good-will may be established by utilizing this option. It is available to departments, programs and community organizations. Participants will pre-record an introduction and conclusion which will be the same for each broadcast, and generally includes attention-grabbing, branding and contact information. Participants will then regularly record new content to be placed in the “middle” of the intro and outro. This is most effective for sharing calendars of events, job openings, general services, new staff introductions and educational information more substantial than can be covered in the time allotted for PSAs. “Donuts” generally run 1.5 to 3 minutes in length. Broadcast times can be random or scheduled. Recording sessions should be scheduled in advance. It is recommended that sessions be scheduled regularly to maintain consistency with content. Staff may assist with script writing. Narration by service provider staff is recommended. No charge, unless part of advertising.

• Scheduled Live Remote from Event:
  This is NOT just when station staff appear at events and provide music, DJ or MC services. During a live remote, station staff attending events actually break into the broadcast remotely and make live, real time announcements about the event, including interviewing event sponsors or participants. These broadcasts are not pre-recorded and are LIVE. Calls to action, invitations to participate in the event and information about the event sponsors are emphasized. Station appearances at events for ANY purpose MUST be requested in writing not less than 30 days in advance. Both event and remote request forms are available at the station and on the station’s Website or may be requested via email. Promotion of the event on air and social media may be part of the live remote services. NOTE: Radio station services do not typically include MC, DJ or Live Remote services outside of paid advertising contracts. Availability of station staff for any purpose is not guaranteed. Station equipment may not be rented or borrowed without station staff present to operate it. A fee may be assessed depending upon nature of sponsor of event, the purpose of the event, and date, time, location and length of event, as well as other station needs and commitments. There may be a charge for this services. A written schedule of fees is available at the station, on the website and upon request.

• Sponsorship of Show:
  This is the best opportunity to establish name recognition, promote good will, give listeners information about services and events and support the community radio station. Sponsorship includes a customized package of banner spots at the beginning and end of the show; 30 to 60 second spots each quarter hour of the show; mention in show promotions which play randomly throughout the week; mention in related social and print media promotions; and banners advertisements on the station website, as well as station appearances at events and live remotes. There is a fee. The initial schedule and details are available at the station and on the station’s website or upon request, but may vary depending on needs.

Department of Cultural Resources Grand Canyon Monitoring River Trip
May 25 to June 6, 2018

The Hualapai Department of Cultural Resources will be conducting our annual Cultural Resources Monitoring River Trip from May 25 to June 6, 2019. We have a limited number of spaces for Tribal members to participate on the trip. Our goal is to include those who may not have participated in past trips and who are interested in learning about the Colorado River through Grand Canyon, experiencing this aspect of the ancestral homeland, & contributing to the goals of the monitoring program, including:

- Monitoring archaeological sites and other Traditional Cultural Places.
- Conducting plant studies at designated study areas to identify changes in the number & types of native and non-native plants.
- Learning and sharing information about Hualapai Traditional Ecological Knowledge regarding plants, wildlife, and other aspects of Colorado River ecology.
- Reinforcing the Hualapai people’s connection to the Canyon and River, and gaining insight and input on how we may help direct the management of Glen Canyon Dam and the Colorado River ecosystem, including the cultural and natural resources (which go hand in hand).

If you would like to participate, submit a brief letter of interest to the Cultural Department no later than Friday, May 10th, 2019.

Participants will be expected to help out in one way or another. For example, younger people will help with monitoring and other aspects of field work (we’ll provide training), which will involve some hiking. Elders may share knowledge about the Canyon and the River and about how the Hualapai people made their living there and in the surrounding landscape. Much of what we do will be documented through photographs and audio & video recordings.

Please be aware that this will be a 13-day trip on large motorized rafts, which will be operated by professional staff from the Grand Canyon Monitoring and Research Center of the U.S. Geological Survey in Flagstaff. Every precaution will be taken to conduct a safe and healthy trip, but there are risks and potential hardships involved. For example, a number of large rapids will be encountered, so expect to get wet on occasion! In addition, camping each night will be required. Younger participants will be expected to sleep on pads on the ground, but we can provide cots for our elder participants. Tents will be available, but since our trip will be during the normal dry and warm season of mid to late May, they may be optional. Camping gear can be provided to those that request it.

Adequate food will be provided, including breakfast, lunch, dinner, and between meal snacks, as well as water, juices, and soft drinks. Generally, we eat quite well, so don’t worry about going hungry.

If you have certain medical or dietary needs, it is very important to know what they are beforehand, so we can determine if we can take care of them on a trip like this, & let the boat staff know, as well.

It must be stressed that this trip is all about participation, and we welcome your involvement. The more Hualapai people that are involved, the better we can strengthen our ability to guide the future of the River’s management. We will be interviewing potential participants in the coming weeks. If you are interested, please contact Carrie Cannon or Peter Bungart at (928) 769-2223.

The 2019 Wildland Fire Season is on its way and we are looking for highly motivated individuals willing to work strenuous shifts, maintain a positive attitude, and to be a team player. Keep in mind fire is unpredictable so shifts include weeks away from home and working holidays.

What is Wildland Fire?

A wildland fire is an unwanted ignition which consumes available fuels (grass, trees, and shrubs) by crawling, creeping, jumping, and running before smoldering to rest. Unwanted fires are the results of Rodeo-Chediski Fire (2002), Wallow Fire and Horeshoe 2 fire (2011) and most recently on the Hualapai Reservation the Sage Fire (2016).

What causes a Wildland Fire?

There are two types of ignitions 1) “anthropogenic” the results of human activity such as playing with matches, dropping cigarettes, embers from chimneys, unattended camp fires, and sparks from machines 2) natural ignitions are from volcanic activity and lightning.

How do I apply?

Contact staff at Branch of Forestry or stop by the office for application and nomination form for trainings. The process for employment is to complete; 1) Drug test 2) Physical Exam required and processed through Medical Standards or a Self-Certification Health Screen Questionnaire 3) Southwest Firefighter Application 4) Work Capacity Test (WCT): Informed

The position which you are applying for will determine the WCT as Pack test, Field test, or Walk test.

What will I Do?

On April 4, 2019—there was a presentation at the Multi-Purpose Building on Mind-Body skills and the attached is what was presented.

MIND–BODY SKILLS TRAINING

Shaking and Movement

Music:
- Osho Kundalini or any dynamic/rhythmic music followed by any uplifting song/music

Cautions & Contraindications
- Do only to your capacity - should not produce pain
- Women: wear a bra for support and comfort
- Can be done sitting by shaking the arms, trunk, etc.

Purpose
- Raises energy
- Releases tension
- Breaks up habitual physical, emotional and/or mental holding patterns
- Increases awareness of mind-body patterns

Method
- Plant your feet solidly on the ground. Perform a body scan (with your eyes closed if your balance is good, eyes open if you feel unsteady). Notice how the body feels. Notice the energy flow in your body by noticing sensations. Notice areas of tension.
- Now, let your arms hang loosely at your sides, and make sure that your knees are slightly bent. Let your body become loose as you begin to shake or bounce your entire body up and down, keeping your feet planted. Drop your jaw and let your head rest easily on your neck. Let your body make whatever sounds it might want to make while shaking. Continue for about 5-10 minutes. Stop.
- Now, scan your body again and notice any differences in how it feels. Notice any changes in emotions or thoughts.
- Turn on dance music, and let yourself move freely in whatever way feels right.

GUIDED IMAGERY

Guided Imagery is a kind of deliberate, directed daydreaming that uses soothing music and narrative to evoke multi-sensory memory, symbol and fantasy. This combination gently guides the overactive mind into a relaxed, immersive state of healing reverie. It works easily and powerfully for most people, and doesn't require much from them - just some basic imagination. Many people who have trouble meditating or relaxing do really well with guided imagery.

Tips for Guided Imagery
- Listening once or twice a day for several weeks makes a difference.
- Imagery involves using all of your senses, not just visualizing.
- The best times to listen are when waking up and falling asleep.
- Even if you keep falling asleep while listening, you still benefit.
Imagery that evokes emotion and sensation has more impact.
You don't have to believe in its impact for it to work.
The more you use imagery, the better at it you get.
Guided imagery works even better in a group than alone.
Imagery doesn't compete with other forms of treatment.

"Soft Belly"

Close your eyes...
...Breathe in through the nose and out through the mouth. Breathe the air downward to the bottoms of the lungs, not upwards. Notice how your belly expands with each breath in, and relaxes with each breath out. This will deepen the breath and improve the exchange of oxygen, relaxing your nerves and muscles. With each breath, say to yourself "soft" as you breathe in and "belly" as you breathe out.

Continue this approach for several minutes. Each day you can add another minute or two to it until you are practicing for 10 minutes or longer. If thoughts come, let them come, and then just as easily let them go, each time gently returning back to soft belly breathing.

Do this two or three times a day, anytime you are feeling tense or stressed, and at bedtime if you are having trouble sleeping.

Consider using a timer (but not at bedtime) so you won't be preoccupied with how long you've been doing it or how long you have left. Soon, you'll find that in times of stress you can take a few deep breaths and say, "Soft...belly," and relaxation will come quickly.

"Soft belly" is just one of many forms of relaxation.

Regular relaxation has impressive results for people with cancer: decreased levels of stress and increased immune functioning; decreased pain; faster recovery from procedures; fewer side effects from chemotherapy, and less anticipatory nausea and vomiting before chemotherapy; decreased anxiety, improved mood, and less suppression of emotions. Relaxation also helps you to gain perspective on every aspect of your life, and to feel less overwhelmed by it. If you can relax during a difficult time, it is, by definition, no longer such a powerful stressor to you.

Relaxation is also the basis for all of the other mind-body therapies, and the soil that will nourish their use and their effectiveness.

Drawings

Purpose
• Tool for self-awareness
• Helps access unconscious information
• Provides before and after information - a way to evaluate changes over time in your mind-body experience
• Offers a different/new way of looking at yourself and issues - helps move away from habitual storylines and thoughts

Cautions & Contraindications
• Drawing may provoke strong emotions
Tools & Technique:
You will need drawing paper and crayons.

You will draw three pictures. Try not to look ahead or think about the next one - just do one at a time. Plan on spending about 5-10 minutes for each drawing. Do not be an art critic! Let go of preconceived notions or criticisms of your artistic ability, this is not an art class nor is it art therapy; rather it is a way to get to feel yourself better. Let images come and trust that they are exactly what you need, whether literal, abstract, animate, or inanimate, it doesn't matter - just draw whatever comes to mind for each drawing...

Sit for a few minutes with your eyes closed, breathing softly and gently, relaxing any tension in the mind or the body. Allow images to come to you that represent drawing:
1. Yourself as you are now...
Repeat a short breathing and relaxation meditation technique with your eyes closed and allow images to come to you that represent drawing:
2. Yourself with your biggest problem...
Repeat several minutes of meditation to invite a relaxed and open state of being and allow images to come to you that represent drawing:
3. Yourself with your biggest problem solved...

Continue to periodically do these drawings, perhaps every few months, and see how things change and evolve over time.

Meditation

There are two necessary ingredients in helping us stay well and helping us deal with any chronic issues: Self-awareness and self-care. These are at the heart of good health care. At the very center of mind-body medicine is meditation,

- "Meditation" and "medicine": Derived from same Sanskrit root word meaning "take the measure of" and "to care for."
- Meditation creates a relaxed state of moment to moment awareness. Relaxed = parasympathetic. Awareness = alertness/sympathetic. This balances the two sides of the autonomic nervous system, parasympathetic and sympathetic. In addition, the awareness you develop in meditation helps you identify your own reactions to stress; and it teaches you to relax.
- Meditation is not spacing out or going outside of yourself, nor is it holing up inside yourself and tuning out. It's about tuning in. It's about learning how to be right here, right now, and relaxed at the same time.
- Every spiritual and religious tradition in the world has meditative practices but you certainly do not have to be religious or even label yourself as "spiritual" to do meditation. If you do belong to a religious or spiritual tradition, meditation can greatly enhance your practice.
- 3 major types of meditation; concentrative, mindfulness, and expressive. All three have powerful and beneficial effects.

1) Concentrative meditation
   - Focused awareness on a particular object, such as an image or sound.
   - Christian centering prayer, Transcendental Meditation, repeating a meaningful word or phrase, saying the rosary.

2) Mindfulness or awareness meditation
   - Relaxed and aware of thoughts, feelings and sensations as they arise, without focusing on a particular object.
   - Many forms of Zen meditation, Mindfulness-Based Stress Reduction

3) Expressive meditation
   - Probably the oldest kind of meditation. Indigenous and shamanic healers around the world have used for thousands of years.
   - Chanting, dancing, shaking, rapid breath work, and whirling.
   - In concentrative meditation and mindfulness meditation one enters directly into stillness and awareness, but in expressive meditation one moves through extreme activity to come somewhat later to stillness and increased or changed awareness.

Extensive research has shown the physiological benefits of meditation:

- Changes in brain wave activity, increased parasympathetic activity and increased heart rate variability.
- Changes in neurotransmitter levels throughout the body, including increased serotonin, beta-endorphin, melatonin, and acetylcholine levels, and decreased cortisol and norepinephrine/adrenalin levels.
- Lowered blood pressure, decreased pain, decreased frequency and intensity of asthma attacks.
- Improved mood and decreased anxiety.
- And so on.

Beyond the very tangible physiological effects, meditation has the potential to fundamentally change our experience of being alive. Meditation helps to awaken us to the experience of present moment and to our connection with that which is larger than ourselves. Meditation practice brings benefits to all aspects of our life.

E-Cigarettes Shaped Like USB Flash Drives • Information

E-CIGARETTES SHAPED LIKE USB FLASH DRIVES:
INFORMATION FOR PARENTS, EDUCATORS, AND HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS

Electronic cigarettes (e-cigarettes) are battery-powered devices that can deliver nicotine and flavorings to the user in the form of an aerosol. E-cigarettes come in many shapes and sizes.

WHAT'S THE BOTTOM LINE?

A new e-cigarette shaped like a USB flash drive is being used by students in schools.

Nicotine is highly addictive and can harm brain development, which continues until about age 25.

The use of any tobacco product — including e-cigarettes — is unsafe for young people.

Parents, educators, & health care providers can help prevent and reduce the use of all tobacco products, including e-cigarettes, by young people.

>> Learn HOW in this fact sheet.
AN INCREASINGLY POPULAR E-CIGARETTE DEVICE, CALLED JUUL, IS SHAPED LIKE A USB FLASH DRIVE.

Use of JUUL is sometimes called “JUULing.”

JUUL’s nicotine liquid refills are called “pods.” JUUL is available in several flavors such as Cool Cucumber, Fruit Medley, Mango, and Mint.

All JUUL e-cigarettes have a high level of nicotine. According to the manufacturer, a single JUUL pod contains as much nicotine as a pack of 20 regular cigarettes.

JUUL became available for sale in the United States in 2015. As of December 2017, JUUL is the top-selling e-cigarette brand in the United States.

News outlets and social media sites report widespread use of JUUL by students in schools, including in classrooms and bathrooms.

Other devices are becoming available that look like USB flash drives. Examples include the MarkTen Elite, a nicotine delivery device, and the PAX Era, a marijuana delivery device that looks like JUUL.
E-cigarette use is not safe for young people.

E-cigarette aerosol is not harmless. It can contain harmful ingredients. However, e-cigarette aerosol generally contains fewer harmful chemicals than smoke from burned tobacco products, like regular cigarettes.

Most e-cigarettes contain nicotine, which is highly addictive and can cause harm brain development, which continues until about age 25.

Young people who use e-cigarettes may be more likely to go on to use regular cigarettes.
PARENTS, EDUCATORS, AND HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS CAN HELP PREVENT AND REDUCE THE USE OF E-CIGARETTES BY YOUNG PEOPLE.

PARENTS CAN:

» Learn about the different shapes and types of e-cigarettes and the risks of all forms of e-cigarette use for young people.

» Talk to their children about the risks of e-cigarette use among young people. Express firm expectations that their children remain tobacco-free.

» Set a positive example by being tobacco-free.

EDUCATORS CAN:

» Learn about the different shapes and types of e-cigarettes and the risks of all forms of e-cigarette use for young people.

» Develop, implement, and enforce tobacco-free school policies.

» Reject youth tobacco prevention programs sponsored by the tobacco industry. These programs have been found to be ineffective for preventing youth tobacco use.

PEDIATRIC HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS CAN:

» Ask about e-cigarettes, including devices shaped like USB flash drives, when screening patients for the use of any tobacco products.

» Warn patients about the risks of all forms of tobacco product use, including e-cigarettes, for young people.
Limits & Consequences

FAMILY GOALS:
1. Commit to use Positive Discipline; study and follow the handout.
2. Track rewards and consequences.
3. Use Positive Practice to teach family members to do the following:
   a) Follow directions
   b) Accept "No" nicely
   c) Stay calm in consequences
4. Decide consequences and write them on the "My Family Rules!" handout.
5. Make a Chore Jar

FAMILY FUN:
Play the game "Truth or Consequence." Make two jars labeled "Truth" and "Consequences." Put slips with funny questions in the "Truth Jar" and put funny consequences or stunts in the "Consequence Jar" that people must perform if they answer with a lie instead of the truth. Each person pulls out a slip, reads the question aloud, and either tells the truth or picks and does a consequence.

POWER PHRASE:
"Punishment creates resentment and fails to produce lasting change, while Positive Discipline builds character, promotes long-term good behavior, and happy family relationships."
Positive Discipline

Adding mild consequences to your rewards program increases good behavior

Seven Steps of Positive Discipline

1. Teach the behaviors you want using “Positive Practice.”
   ("Positive Practice" is teaching kids the specific steps of prosocial good behavior.)
2. Decide on negative consequences ahead of time; discuss them with your children. (Short, mild consequences work best.)
3. Give clear directions.
4. Remain calm.
5. Give a Warning Cue.
6. Be consistent in giving consequences every time.
7. Make sure your kids know they are loved.

Put Positive Discipline into Practice

Teach good behavior using Positive Practice

1) Name the skill and say how it will benefit your child.
2) Explain the steps.
3) Ask questions to check for understanding so you’re sure your child knows what you expect.
4) Help your child practice the skill using several pretend situations.
5) Provide feedback and praise.

Use Positive Practice to correct misbehavior:

1) Show empathy for your child’s feelings. (Don’t use “but.”)
2) Describe what your child did wrong. ("Just now, you...")
3) State the correct thing your child needs to do.
4) Give a consequence that can be reduced if your child practices willingly.
5) Invite your child to practice the skill —— and praise their performance.

Follow the rules for choosing consequences:

1) Consequences need to match the severity of the misbehavior.
2) Kids need to know what the consequences are beforehand.
3) Consequences need to be mild and of short duration.
4) Consequences need to involve a “response cost” (e.g., it costs the kids something in time, effort, or money.)
5) Consequences need to be given calmly and not in anger.
6) Consequences need to be followed by expressions of love.

How to give Clear Directions:

1. Get your child’s attention.
2. Give lead-time warning if possible.
3. Tell exactly what to DO; explain what, how, and when you want it done.
4. Be brief (don’t follow with long explanation).
5. Tell, don’t ask.
6. Use a firm, but polite, voice.
7. Follow through. ("Follow through" means stand near your child; give one Warning Cue. If they don’t obey after the Warning Cue, give consequence.)

Directions that DON’T work:
a) Chain directions b) Vague directions c) Question directions
d) "Let’s..." directions e) Directions followed by a long explanation
Choosing Effective Negative Consequences
Replacing punishment with consequences that work

A negative consequence is effective when it helps bring about long-term positive change in a child’s behavior, while still preserving a loving parent/child relationship. The difference between punishment and positive discipline is intent: the intent of punishment is to inflict pain; the intent of positive discipline is to train a child in positive, pro-social behaviors. Punishment is ineffective because it does not bring about long-term change (i.e. you can’t punish people into lasting good behavior), and it harms relationships so children don’t want to please you. Choosing consequences ahead of time enables you to be fair (kids know what to expect), fit the consequence size to the misbehavior, and teach missing skills to help your child improve long-term behavior. Consequences should include a “response cost”—the time, effort, or money the child needs to give to “make it right.”

Effective consequences include the following:
- Positive Practice (practice the missing social skill that led to the misbehavior)
- Extra chores (choose a chore from the Chore Jar)
- Time out (effective for kids ages 2–12)
- Make it right (apologize and fix the mistake)
- Grounding from privileges or possessions for a short time (6–24 hours) until the child does Positive Practice or makes it right

Effective Negative Consequences Are:
1. Mild: Doesn’t cause physical or emotional harm
2. Kind: Doesn’t involve anger, yelling, humiliation, or threats
3. Logical: Results logically from the misbehavior
4. Instructive: Involves practicing the missing skill
5. Understood: Agreed upon beforehand
6. Simple to give and track (ex. “Chore Jar” and “Tracking Sheet”)
7. Consistent: Negative behavior results in negative consequence
8. Loving: Followed by a sincere expression of love
9. Safe: Never violates a child’s basic human rights to food, shelter, emotional and physical safety, love, or education

Drawbacks to Punishment Include:
1. Fear and resentment: Kids won’t like or respect you, making it hard for them to obey you or accept your values
2. Two-faced behavior: Kids only behave when you’re around
3. Imitation: Children hurt others (including you when they’re grown)
4. Low self-esteem: Children think parents don’t love them
5. Hard to control: Kids build up tolerance to pain; parents escalate and become abusive
6. Ineffective: Usually fails to produce lasting change
7. Insecure attachment: Failure to bond with parents; negatively affects future relationships
8. Harsh physical consequences lowers a child’s IQ

Pre-Planned Negative Consequences
As a family, discuss negative behaviors and decide on negative consequences ahead of time. Write them in the spaces below.

Chore Jar
Encourage good behavior through constructive consequences

The best way of changing behavior is to reward kids for doing a misbehavior’s “Positive Opposite.” But sometimes they also need a mild, easy to administer negative consequence. A Chore Jar with slips listing extra chores (that are not a child’s normal jobs) makes this easy. (Slips can also be color-coded for difficulty.) When kids misbehave, they have to randomly pull out a slip and do the chore before they play. Keep track of the slips on the “Calm Consequences” tracking sheet. Extra Chores provide a “Response Cost,” teach kids useful skills, and keep the house cleaner. It’s a win-win for everyone.

Family Fun: Have your kids decorate a Chore Jar. The following items can be helpful:
- Colored paper, cloth, or paint
- Family photos
- Pictures cut out from magazines
EXAMPLES OF EXTRA CHORES: Shake rugs; sweep stairs, front or back porch, remove cobwebs in each room; dust picture frames; clean window(s); dust shelves; wipe baseboards with damp rag; clean handprints off doors, doorjambs, and light-fixtures; scrub the shower or bathtub grout with toothbrush; wash, dry, fold and put away an extra load of laundry; scrub the fronts of kitchen or bathroom cupboards; scrub fronts of dishwasher, oven, or fridge; sanitize kitchen counters with anti-bacterial wipes; clean microwave inside and out; sweep under the kitchen table; clean and polish all the mirrors; empty all the trash; dust lamp shades, clean a toilet, vacuum or sweep one or more rooms.

Calm Consequences Reduce Conflict
Tracking Sheet—Adult

Staying calm when children misbehave is possible when you develop the right attitudes and skills. Here are some ideas to help:

Attitude #1: “I want to be a personal trainer for my child, not a punisher.”
Attitude #2: “Anger makes my brain less effective, distracts my kids from what I want him to learn, and harms relationships.”
Attitude #3: “I can choose to not be angry.”

Skill #1: “As soon as a child misbehaves, take a deep, calming breath before saying anything.”
Skill #2: When a child misbehaves, think of it as a teaching moment, and ask yourself, “What skill is my child missing in this situation?”

Skill #3: Use this pattern to help you give calm consequences:
1) “I understand you feel . . .” (Express empathy.)
2) “Just now you . . .” (Say what they did wrong.)
3) “What you need to do is . . .” (Tell the skill they should have used instead.)
4) “For choosing to . . ., you have earned a negative consequence of . . .”
5) “If you want to practice the skill of . . . right now, we will reduce the negative consequence to . . .”

I Stayed Calm!
Tracking Sheet—Teen

When you make mistakes, like disobeying family rules or harming yourself, others, or things (including animals), you may receive a negative consequence. The negative consequence helps you know when you made a wrong choice, and you know you need to change your behavior to have a happy, successful life. If your parent gives you the negative consequence kindly and calmly, then it can help you be a better person. If you can learn to stay calm when you get a negative consequence, it shows you are developing more self-control—and you will receive fewer negative consequences.

Instead talk about it immediately and move on.

Social skills, like these, help children function well in society and develop "emotional intelligence"—the ability to manage emotions and respond in a pro-social way. Have kids memorize the steps of each skill and practice different pretend situations using them. Reward them for practicing; then track and reward real-life performance. When kids forget to use the skills, have them do "Positive Practice." For more social skills, see "Teaching Social Skills to Youth" at www.boystownpress.org.

How to Develop Impulse Control

1. Practice Mindfulness Breathing for 2–5 minutes night and morning to train your brain to focus.
2. Choose one weak area in your life where you need impulse control. Make a plan of what to think and do when you are triggered to be impulsive. Then courageously follow your plan.
3. When you are tempted to be impulsive, take three deep breaths through your nose and ask yourself the W.I.S.E. question:
   - W = Will everyone say it’s ok if I do or say it?
   - I = Is it true and necessary?
   - S = Will this help me be my highest and best self?
   - E = Do I want everyone to do it to me?
4. Redirect your thoughts to a more positive thing to do; then do it.

How to Follow Instructions

1. Look at the person who is speaking to you.
2. Repeat the instructions and say okay.
3. Do what is asked and do it the best you can.
4. Report back when you’ve finished.

How to Accept No Nicely

1. Look at the person who is speaking to you.
2. Calmly ask for a reason if you don’t understand.
3. Say "okay" and thank the person for listening.
4. If you disagree, you may calmly bring it up later. However, after two times the discussion is over.

How to Stay Calm in Consequences

1. Take a deep calming breath.
2. Look at the person with a polite face.
3. Remind yourself to be calm.
4. Don’t argue.
5. Say "okay" in a neutral voice tone.
Skills for Successful Parenting
How to handle stressful situations

These cards contain tips that cover some common parenting challenges. Memorize the steps and use them regularly to reduce parent stress, help your kids have better behavior, and make your job as a parent more fun and enjoyable.

HOW TO DO POSITIVE PRACTICE

1. Name the skill and say how it will benefit your child.
2. Explain the steps of the skill.
3. Ask the child to repeat the steps.
4. Have your child practice the skill several times using pretend situations.
5. Provide feedback and praise.

HOW TO CONFRONT NEGATIVE BEHAVIOR

1. Find a good time to talk privately and calmly.
2. Describe the behavior you observed.
3. Ask what happened.
4. Ask what the child could have done differently.
5. Ask what the child can do to correct behavior and make amends. Give consequence if needed.
6. Ask the child to practice the correct behavior.
7. Express love.

HOW TO GIVE CALM CONSEQUENCES

1. Stay calm and talk privately with your child.
2. Express empathy: "I understand how you feel..."
3. Describe behavior: "Just now you..." (Don't begin with "But...")
4. Give the consequence: "For choosing to ________, you earned ________ [consequence]."
5. Reduce consequence if they do positive practice and make amends.
6. Express love.

HOW TO HANDLE CHILD RAGES

1. Stay calm. View it as a teaching opportunity.
2. Recognize a child has a right to feel angry, but not the right to behave badly.
3. Say, "I understand you feel angry. We will talk about this when we both feel calm."
4. Walk away. Don't attempt to reason with a raging person.
5. When calm, discuss the situation; give consequences for bad behavior.
6. Use up Positive Practice to teach missing skills that calm rage.
Track and Reward for Good Behavior

Brain Gain

When we improve our behavior by learning and practicing a new skill, we wire our brain to be more effective. Decide how often to give a reward by circling with a colored pen or pencil certain dots, such as every third or fourth dot. Have your child draw a line between the dots as he or she accomplishes what is expected.

Track and Reward Positive Practice

High-5s

Put a small sticker or mark each time a skill or behavior is practiced. Skills could include staying calm, obeying the first time, accepting "No" nicely, etc.

An alternative to using stickers is using a rating system. For example, you can rate the performance from 1-5, 5 being excellent and 1 the least acceptable. Write the score on the poster each day. At the end of the week add up the score. Pick a minimum score, such as 25 or 28 that earns the reward. Give a bonus for extra high points.

Bee Good Chart

Write the skill or behavior to be practiced at the bottom of the beehive. Place a small sticker or mark on the poster each time that the skill or behavior is practiced. Behaviors could be making the bed, obeying the first time, accepting "No" nicely, putting clothes away, etc.

Bees are known for their hard work and their positive effect on their own family or hive. A hive is like a home—everyone has a job to do to make the family run happily and well. If everyone does their part, pure sweet honey is the reward.

Better beehavior beegins with me.

How to correct behavior

These cards contain tips that cover some common parenting challenges. Memorize the steps and use them regularly to reduce parent stress, help your kids have better behavior, and make your job as a parent more fun and enjoyable.

HOW TO USE 7 STEPS OF POSITIVE DISCIPLINE

1. Teach the behaviors you want using “Positive Practice.” (Positive practice is teaching kids the specific steps of each good behavior you want them to do and helping them practice it.)
2. Decide on negative consequences ahead of time and discuss them with your children. Remember, short, mild consequences work best.
3. Give clear directions.
4. Remain calm.
5. Give a warning cue.
6. Be consistent. Give the right consequence every time.
7. Make sure your kids know they are loved.

HOW TO GIVE CLEAR DIRECTIONS

1. Get your child’s attention.
2. Give him or her a warning ahead of time, if possible.
3. Tell him or her exactly what to do. Explain what, how, and when you want it done.
4. Be brief (don’t follow with a long explanation).
5. Use “please” and then tell, don’t ask.
6. Use a firm, but polite, voice.
7. Follow through to make sure he or she did what you asked. You can follow through by standing near your child and start by giving one warning cue. Wait ten seconds, and if they don’t obey, then give the consequence.
8. Here are some directions that DON’T work: chain directions, vague directions, question directions, “Let’s . . . directions,” or directions followed by a long explanation.

HOW TO USE POSITIVE PRACTICE TO CORRECT MISBEHAVIOR

1. Show empathy for your child’s feelings. Don’t use “but” or it negates your empathy statement.
2. Describe what your child did wrong. Example: “Just now you . . . ”
3. State the correct thing your child needs to do. Example: “What you need to do is . . . ”
4. Give a consequence that can be reduced if your child practices the correct behavior willingly. Example: “For hitting your sister, you need to take two yellow slips from the chore jar. But, if you practice talking about it nicely instead of hitting, you only need to take one slip.”
Dana’s Biography

Dana, 38, started smoking cigarettes when she was a young teenager, just like her mother, Tips From Former Smokers (Tips) participant Terrie. In the small North Carolina town where Dana grew up, almost all of her family and friends smoked.

“For me, it was a normal thing to do,” Dana said. “No one seemed to care about how smoking could affect their health, so I didn’t think about it, either.” In 2001, Terrie was diagnosed with oral and throat cancer brought on by years of tobacco use. She had surgery to remove her larynx (voice box). Dana, then 20 years old, remembered the shock of seeing her mother in the hospital room right after the operation.

“I dropped to my knees and started bawling because I had no idea the extent of the problem until I saw that incision,” Dana said. “She was cut from ear to ear.” Terrie had to learn how to communicate without her voice box. She experimented with writing on a dry erase board, using sign language, learning esophageal speech, and using an artificial voice box device. Dana supported her mother through the difficult journey while fighting her own battle with nicotine addiction.

Terrie’s cancer returned several times and eventually spread to her brain. Multiple surgeries scarred her face and neck, and chemotherapy treatments left her weak. In 2009, Dana moved closer to home to help care for her mom. “It’s been very difficult for the family because you go through everything they go through,” Dana explained. “Maybe not in the same way, but you’re still there.”

Even as Terrie chronicled smoking’s effect on her declining health through her participation in CDC’s Tips campaign, Dana was still smoking. The morning after her mother died in September 2013, Dana walked out of the hospital and lit up a cigarette.

Finally, Dana decided to take control and quit smoking. With the help of prescription quitting medication, she stopped smoking cigarettes for good. “Mom always told me, never stop trying to quit,” Dana said. “I wish I could tell her I’m smokefree now, but she’s gone. What I can do is help spread her message to encourage more people to quit smoking.”
into vapors that are inhaled by the user. One of the reasons it is so popular among youth is that it is so easy to use — no prior experience or knowledge required. All they have to do is to put a juul to their mouth and inhale.

What Makes Juuls Different from Other E-Cigarettes?

The increased harm of juuls compared to other e-cigarettes is due to the concentration and contents of its juul pods. The e-liquid is 5% nicotine by volume, which is more than twice the concentration of nicotine in similar devices like the Blu e-cig cartridge (2.4% nicotine). This increases the risk of addiction; in fact, a study done by the UK’s Royal College of Psychiatrists showed that nicotine is about as addictive as cocaine and even more addictive than alcohol and barbiturates (anti-anxiety drugs).

The impact on the developing brain is also of great concern. Brain imaging studies of adolescents who began smoking at a young age had markedly reduced activity in the prefrontal cortex of the brain, an area critical for a person’s cognitive behavior and decision making, leading to increased sensitivity to other drugs and greater impulsivity. While cigarettes include numerous other toxic chemicals that may contribute to these effects, other research on nicotine and brain development demonstrate that the nicotine is probably the main cause.

The amount of nicotine in one juul pod is equivalent to a pack of cigarettes. Since teens often use multiple pods in one sitting, they can unknowingly become exposed to unsafe levels of nicotine that can have immediate and long-term health consequences. In 2016, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) was given the authority to regulate e-cigarettes such as juul but has allowed e-cigarette manufacturers to postpone their applications for FDA approval until August 2022. Meanwhile, these harmful devices can remain on the market and continue influencing adolescents to become addicted to nicotine.

Another reason why the juul is a unique threat to teens is its patented formula of nicotine. While other brands use a chemically modified form called “freebase nicotine,” juuls use “nicotine salts” that more closely resemble the natural structure of nicotine found in tobacco leaves. This makes the nicotine more readily absorbed into the bloodstream and makes the vapor less harsh so that it is easier to inhale more nicotine for longer periods of time. In addition to this patented formula, juul pods contain a greater amount of benzoic acid, 44.8 mg/mL, compared to other e-cigarette brands, which are in the range of 0.2 to 2 mg/mL. According to the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), benzoic acid is known to cause coughs, sore throat, abdominal pain, nausea, and vomiting if exposure is constant, which is the case when using a juul. This is due to how juuls utilize the properties of benzoic acid to increase the potency of the nicotine salts in its e-liquid.

What Makes Juuls Popular Among Children and Teens?

Since juuls are small, discreet, and closely resemble a USB drive, they can be easily hidden and used in a wide variety of settings, such as the classroom. Teachers and school administrators across the nation are finding students juuling when their backs are turned: Students can take a hit, blow the small, odorless puff of smoke into their jacket or backpack, and continue their school work in a matter of seconds. Compared to other forms of teenage rebellion, juuling is especially dangerous as middle and high school students are unknowingly becoming addicted to nicotine at an alarming rate.

Because a person must be at least 21 to purchase a juul or juul pod, a juul black market is the source for many teens, through eBay or Craigslist. In response, the FDA contacted eBay to raise concerns about listings of juul products on its website, resulting in the removal of the listings and the creation of measures to prevent new listings from being posted.

In April 2018, FDA Commissioner Scott Gottlieb announced that he was creating a Youth Tobacco Prevention Plan aimed at stopping the dramatic rise in the use of e-cigarette and tobacco products among youth. The FDA specifically asked Juul Labs for documents related to product marketing and research on the health, toxicological, behavioral, or physiological effects of their products in order to understand why youth are so attracted to them. Additionally, Juul Labs is currently facing lawsuits in several states claiming that its products were deceptively marketed to youth under the legal smoking age. The FDA now plans to create enforcement policies for e-cigarette manufacturers, including juul, that are marketing their products to children and teenagers.

The Bottom Line:

The popularity of juuls among adolescents exposes them to large amounts of nicotine that can have adverse health risks for their physical and emotional development. While juuls are called e-cigarettes, they look nothing like them, making it easy for children and teens to secretly use them without a parent, guardian, or teacher noticing. This may be just a temporary trend, but if the FDA does not quickly do more to restrict flavors that appeal to adolescents and to educate the public about the risks, it is likely to create an enormous increase in young people addicted to nicotine.

Why is active play important?

Active play helps your child learn healthy habits. There are many health benefits of active play, such as:

- Active children are less likely to weigh too much.
- Keeping your child active now helps lower the chance of developing chronic diseases like Type 2 diabetes.
- Activities, like running and jumping rope, help your child learn movement skills to develop muscles and strong bones.
- Active play can also help the mind develop. Playing “pretend” lets kids be creative.
- Active children are more likely to be happy and feel good about themselves. Children feel proud after learning how to bounce a ball or ride a bike.

Your child loves to move!

Encourage your child to play actively several times each day. Active play for children can happen in short bursts of time and can be ‘led by you or your child. Active play can include playing on the playground, playing tag with friends, or throwing a ball.

Do you wonder if your child is active enough?

<tr>
<td>When actively playing, my child breathes quickly or sweats.</td>

If you can usually answer yes to these statements, your child is probably getting enough active play.
How can you raise an active child?

- Make active play fun for the whole family. Let your child help plan the fun.

- Focus on fun, not performance. All children like to play. They will win when they move, have fun, and are active daily.

- Set limits on TV and computer time. Limit TV and other screen time to less than 2 hours a day, as advised by many doctors. Try reading during inactive time rather than watching TV.

- Be active yourself. Active parents tend to raise active children. You influence your child’s behavior, attitudes, and future habits. Be more active and limit your own time watching TV. Set the example by using safety gear, like bike helmets.

As children grow, they may be ready for new activities.

By age 2, they can run, walk, gallop, jump, and swim with adult help.

By age 3, they can hop, climb, ride a tricycle or bicycle with training wheels and a safety helmet, and catch, throw, bounce, and kick a ball.

By age 4, they can skip, swim, and complete an obstacle course.

There are many activities you can do with your child.

Here are some ideas of how to be active with your child.

Write down your own ideas, too!

Indoor play

- Act out a story
- Turn up the music and dance
- Walk inside a shopping mall
- Play games, such as duck-duck-geese, hide and seek, follow the leader, Simon says

Your family ideas:

Outdoor play

- Family walks after dinner
- Play catch
- Take a nature hike
- Games in the yard or park
- Kick a ball

Grilled Herb-Fennel Pork Loin
Submitted by: Vondell Bender, GHW Educator | Hualapai Health, Education & Wellness

We swear by this pork-cooking technique for the most tender, flavorful results. First the lean pork loin is brined overnight, then it’s grilled and coated in a fragrant paste before it rests in a mixture of white wine, butter and its own juices.

Grilled Herb-Fennel Pork Loin
From: EatingWell Magazine, by: Betsy Andrews

Prep: 1 h | Ready In: 2 h 30 m

1. Bring water, salt and sugar to a boil in a large saucepan over medium-high heat. Reduce heat and add 10 cloves garlic and rosemary sprigs; simmer for 5 minutes more. Remove from heat, add ice and stir until melted.
2. Place pork in a large bowl and pour the brine over it. Cover and refrigerate overnight.
3. Transfer the pork to a plate (discard the brine). Let stand at room temperature for 45 minutes.
4. Meanwhile, preheat grill to medium (about 350°F). Line a rimmed baking sheet with foil.
5. Pat the pork dry with paper towels and brush with 1 tablespoon oil. Grill, turning occasionally, until browned on all sides, 20 to 30 minutes.
6. Combine the remaining 12 cloves garlic and ¼ cup oil in a food processor and add herbs and fennel. Pulse, scraping down the sides as needed, until a paste forms. Transfer the pork to the prepared baking sheet and coat the top of the pork with the herb paste.
7. Place the baking sheet with the pork on the grill. Cook, without turning, until an instant-read thermometer inserted in the thickest part registers 130°F, 15 to 25 minutes.
8. Combine wine and butter in a large pot and bring to a simmer over medium heat until the butter melts, about 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Immediately add the pork, herb-paste-side up, cover and let steam for 30 minutes.
9. Transfer the pork to a clean cutting board and tent with foil to keep warm. Bring the wine mixture to a boil over high heat and cook until reduced to approximately ⅛ cup, 20 to 25 minutes.
10. To serve, cut the pork into ⅛-inch-thick slices and drizzle with the wine reduction.

Ingredients (10 servings)
- 3 c. water
- ½ c. kosher salt
- ½ c. dark brown sugar
- 22 cloves garlic, peeled and divided
- 2 large sprigs fresh rosemary
- 3 c. ice
- 1 (2½ lb) boneless pork loin
- 1 lbs extra-virgin olive oil plus ½ c., divided
- ½ cup mixed fresh herbs, such as rosemary, thyme and/or sage
- ½ bulb fennel, coarsely chopped
- 1 (750 mil.) bottle dry white wine
- 2 tbsp butter

Heaven’s Grocery Store

I was looking through my cookbook and I came across this story in the book, so I would like to share it with you!

One day I was walking down life’s highway, a long time ago and I saw a sign that read “HEAVEN’S GROCERY STORE.” As I got closer, the door came open wide and when I came to myself, I was standing there inside.

I saw a host of angels, they were standing everywhere. One handed me a basket and said, “My child, shop with care.” Everything a Christian needed was in that grocery store. And all you couldn’t carry, you could come back for more.

First, I got some patience, love was in the same row. Further down, was understanding, you need that wherever you go. I got a box or two of wisdom and a bag or two of faith. I just couldn’t miss the Holy Ghost it was all over the place.

I stopped to get some strength and courage to help me run the race. By then my basket was getting full, but I remembered I needed some grace. I didn’t forget salvation, for salvation that was free. So, I tried to get enough of that to save both you and me! Then I started up to the counter to pay my grocery bill. For I thought I had every thing to do for my Master’s will.

As I went up the aisle I saw prayer and I just had to put that in. For I knew when I stepped outside, I would run right into sin. Peace and joy were all plentiful, they were on the last shelf. Song and praises were hanging near, so I just helped myself. Then I said to the angel, “Now how much do I owe?” He just smiled and said, “Just take them everywhere you go.” Again, I smiled at him and said, “How much do I owe?” He smiled again and said, “My Child, Jesus paid your bill a long time ago!” Which was the day Jesus was crucified on the cross for you and me! HE PAID IT ALL! Have a good day! †
