The competition for water has increased pressure to address tribal water claims such as that of the Hualapai Tribe. The competition for water affects every river in the west and the basins where Indian reservations with reserved water rights exist. Unlike the Hualapai, these tribes have adjudicated or negotiated settlements of their claims to these rivers.

The tribe’s with outstanding claims to water such as the Hualapai, are faced with the reality that negotiation and litigation of a tribal water right will shape the future of the tribe. Thus, tribes like the Hualapai are realizing that the competition for this water is intense and pressure is increasing to resolve these claims.

For the Hualapai that water right to the Colorado River has been outstanding since the Presidential Executive Order set the reservation aside on January 4, 1883. The history that has passed since that time has seen the tribe evolve from living by the chase and defending their homeland from foreign occupation and law, law that spoke a language different than our own.

This state of existence was in place when the Anglo-Europeans began arguing the case known as Law of the River in 1934, continuing to 1963. This litigation determined appropriation of the Colorado River between the principal states involved in the case, Arizona and California. In 1963, the Hualapai Tribe had the opportunity to enter the litigation but were advised by their attorneys Marks and Marks not to enter the litigation because “it would open a can of worms”.

Aside from the preceding history, we now have bills before Congress to provide the Hualapai Tribe with a water right to the Colorado River.

Although previous tribal councils have negotiated a water right that is defined in a bill that is before Congress for final adoption; the debate before the present tribal council is that the negotiation and the bill produced from that negotiation is inadequate and before the bill is adopted there must be a referendum vote to determine whether or not the tribe wants the water. Furthermore, it has been stated that the bill is an exchange for natural resources. The argument also states the bill takes away a 'reserved' water right to the Colorado River.

I disagree with all positions and I personally feel the argument intends to derail acquiring a water right to the river. If these positions are accepted by the tribal council, irreparable harm will be suffered by the tribe.

The terminology used in this debate can be confusing such as the expression 'reserved right' which is associated with the Winters water right doctrine. The Winters case was argued before the Supreme Court in 1908. It determined whether or not the Fort Belknap Reservation, established in 1888, had a right to the waters of the Milk River. The non-Indians above the reservation were diverting and damming the river to provide for their agriculture and domestic consumption, a practice that cut the water supply to the reservation. The non-Indians claimed they had appropriated rights to the river (first in time, first in right) because they were first to develop use of the water. Therefore, the tribe had no rights to the water.

The Supreme Court held that the tribe's water right to the river was 'implied' when the reservation was created, providing achievement of the tribe's self-sufficiency. The court reasoned that land without water has no value. The case set the standard for the United States government to acknowledge the vitality of American Indian water rights and how rights to the water relate to the survival and self-sufficiency of American Indian people. The term 'reserved' right was born from this case.

The bill before Congress is numbered S. 1770 by the Senate and HR 4723 by the House. The argument that there is an exchange of natural resources is without merit. The bill does not describe an exchange of natural resources. I've also heard it said that experts have told at least one council member that the bill is inadequate, but when asked what was said, they become silent. I've even asked those who oppose the bill to guarantee that abandonment of the bill means a more substantial water right to the tribe, they cannot guarantee that their position is a winning argument.

Why didn’t the Hualapai Tribe litigate (fight in court) a water right to the Colorado River? First, the tribe was successful in justifying the creation of a federal negotiating team to debate the Hualapai Tribes water right to the Colorado River.
This effort brought all interested parties to the negotiating table. The litigation of our water right was not considered to be a viable option due to our land base. If you remember the description of the situation at Fort Belknap, the water would be used for agriculture as well as domestic use. In preparation for advancing our water right, the tribe had analyzed the soils on the reservation only to find that the soils on the reservation were not of the type that would readily support agricultural development. The Hualapai Reservation lacked sufficient arable land to pursue a water right for agricultural development!

Therefore, the focus of developing self-sufficiency became economic development. The value of the water right was built upon the construction of a tribal community and associated infrastructure as well as other improvements.

The argument that litigation would have been a better path to follow fails to recognize that negotiating the water right has resulted in an agreement that allows the tribe to divert water from the Colorado River, creating self-sufficiency for the tribe. They fail to realize that litigation or fighting in court would result in decades of legal argument that has no known outcome.

The argument that the development of natural resources requires a referendum vote is without merit. The ‘implied’ right to the water and the right to divert that water from the Colorado River was established in 1883 when the reservation was created. That right existed long before the creation of the present tribal constitution, therefore, the tribe has a right to self-sufficiency that is senior to the tribal constitution.

Furthermore, precedence has been set in regard to natural resource development without a referendum vote when previous tribal councils have approved the construction of a water line from the West Water site to Grand Canyon West. That was done without a referendum and the tribal constitution was in existence at that time. It was called water for livestock but it extended to Grand Canyon West where there was no livestock. The loudest council member voice who opposes the water right legislation before Congress was a part of this development with oversight of the project.

The creation of the Central Arizona Project, which diverts water from the Colorado River, reserved a pool of water to settle outstanding Indian water right claims in Arizona. The pool, when created, reserved 65,000-acre feet of water to settle these claims. When Hualapai came to the table there was 12,000-acre feet remaining.

What does the tribe get from the settlement? Most importantly the tribe gains a water right to the Colorado River endorsed by the United States Congress. The bill provides the tribe with the ability to have constructed, a diversion from the river that has the capacity to deliver at least 3,400-acre feet of water to the reservation annually. The water right is to be held in trust. The tribe may transfer entitlement for use or storage. The tribe retains the right to waters on the reservation. The bill provides technical assistance of $2,000,000. The bill authorizes appropriation of $134,500,000 to construct the diversion. Operation, maintenance and repair of the project is funded at $32,000,000. All funding is tied to the construction of the project.

This is a brief summary of the water right bill; however, it represents building the self-sufficiency of the tribe for life times that extend far into the future. I ask that you as a tribal member speak to your tribal council members and ask them to preserve the future of the tribe rather than destroy it. Tell them you want the water right legislation adopted.

Sincerely,

Charlie Vaughn, tribal member

Hualapai Tribe • April Updates
Submitted by: Dr. Damon Clarke, Chairman | Hualapai Tribe

Gum yu je?

Greetings, it has been a while since time has been afforded to give you an update on the issues council has to work on. First and foremost, we send out our condolences with the recent death of a Great Man and former Chairman, Vice-Chairman, Councilman, and advocate for our Hualapai People: Mr. Wilfred R. Whatoname, Sr. to his family, friends, and relatives.

We also want to send out our sympathy to the families and relatives of Ms. Roberta (Wellington) Jones; Mr. James M. Bethony III; Ms. Charmaine S. Cordova; Ms. Deanna (Boney) Schafer; Mr. Anthony R. Majesty; Mr. Andrew R. Silver; and Mr. Nathan J. Grover.

We have been busy in the appointments of new Grand Canyon Resort Corporation (GCRC) board members; the water rights issue; and our trip to Washington on budget issues.

Let's begin with a short message of hope:

Develop Persistence

Persistence is a habit, and like any habit you can develop it in yourself with practice and repetition. Every act of persistence and self-discipline strengthens every other act of persistence and self-discipline. Every failure of persistence and self-discipline weakens you in every other area as well. They are all interlinked.

Your subconscious mind is very powerful. You can actually preprogram it, like setting an alarm clock, to go off for you in the way you want it to. If you want to become a persistent person, you can program your mind in advance to never give up. The way you do this is simple - you simply say to yourself, "No matter what happens, I will never give up."

GCRC Board Members

We are given charge to inform you of the new GCRC board members:

1. Stephen Lewis;
2. Patricia Kleuskens; and
3. Michael Lee Matthews

We have advertised for two Hualapai Board members to fill in the remaining seats available, therefore all seven seats will be filled. This is the first time in a couple of years that we had all seats filled.

Water Rights Settlement

As many of you know (and if you didn’t know) the mid-stream of the Colorado River runs the 108 mile northern boundary of the Reservation. It is part of our Reservation but still we have no quantified right to take water from the river.

Decades have been come and gone and other tribes have received large amounts of water from the River, and our federal government has not been able to uphold their “trust responsibility” to the Hualapai for federally reserved water rights. We have been in the shadows just watching while this precious resource has been given to others. We have been more or less left out of the game without much voice. We now have a voice, and are now moving forward, slowly but surely. It has been a long time since we were so close to the beginning of a project for our people.

In the next month of May 2019 we are going to have a community meeting with our attorneys from Washington and others to give you an update as to where we are at with this movement.

We want you to see where we came from to where we are going. It will take time and effort to this journey in which several councils have worked at for some time.

We hope you have time on May 14, 2019 beginning at 5:30 p.m. to join us at the gym to hear about the progress on our Settlement.

Trip to Washington, D.C.

Our trip to D.C. involved three members of the council: Chairman Clarke, Councilman Crozier, and Councilman Powskey. We were participating with other Council members of the Inter Tribal Association of Arizona which consists of the other 20 Tribes.

Our recommendations involved “Advanced Appropriations” for the: Indian Health Services; WIC; Water and Environmental Programs (WEP) to expand for at least three years; the Prevention and Public Health Fund; The Public Health Preparedness and Response; Rural Community Development grants; To appoint and Senate Confirmation of an IHS Director; To implement the General Assistant Program as Intended by Congress for the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA); the Solid Waste Management Grant to continue; and the Water and Waste Disposal Grants.

We were also concerned about all the funding cuts of the BIA/BIE from the President’s recommendations and that we didn’t understand why this was taking place. We have brought out the fact that the Federal Government has a “Trust Responsibility” to the Native Americans and our lands and people.

This was brought to the Congress representatives as well as the Senators for authorization due to the budget cuts proposed by President Trump. Indeed the representatives all mentioned that they are aware of the issues at hand and will take all into account for their passage, as Trump’s are only recommendations.

Taking it to the Next Level.
UPHOLDING THE TREATY AND TRUST RESPONSIBILITIES
AUTHORIZING ADVANCE APPROPRIATIONS FOR PROGRAMS SERVING
INDIAN COUNTRY

The United States has treaty and trust responsibilities to tribal nations. When tribal nations agreed to accept smaller land bases, the federal government promised to safeguard the right of tribal nations to govern themselves, and to enable tribal nations to deliver essential services and provide them adequate resources to do so effectively. Congress and the Administration must live up to these sacred obligations.

Government shutdowns threaten to abrogate the federal government's treaty and trust obligations to tribal nations. Debates affecting the appropriations process have an outsize impact on the daily lives of American Indian and Alaska Native people who already face underfunding of health care, public safety, education, and backlogs in physical infrastructure—all of which fall under the federal treaty and trust responsibilities. The Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) and the Indian Health Service (IHS), the primary agencies responsible for providing these services, either directly or through compacts or contracts with tribal governments, were deeply affected by the most recent shutdown. As a result, the health and safety of American Indians and Alaska Natives were imperiled and will be again during future government shutdowns.

What Are Appropriations and Advance Appropriations?
Appropriations are decisions Congress makes annually about how much funding to make available for programs in the next fiscal year. Advance appropriations are similar to regular appropriations, except that Congress decides how much funding to make available in the fiscal year after the next fiscal year (e.g., IHS and BIA spending levels for FY 2021 would be set in the FY 2020 Interior appropriations bill). Authorizing advance appropriations for IHS and BIA would protect programs serving Indian Country from future government shutdowns because Congress would have already set program funding levels for the fiscal year in question during the previous appropriations cycle.

It is also important to note that advance appropriations are distinct from "advance funding" and "forward funding." Additionally, fiscal year funding set through an advance appropriation would become available in the specified fiscal year, just like regular appropriations (i.e., FY 2021 funding becomes available in FY 2021, not earlier).

Indian Country Advance Appropriations Legislation
Bills have been introduced in the Senate and House of Representatives to provide advance appropriations for programs serving Indian Country. Senator Udall introduced S. 229, the Indian Programs Advance Appropriations Act (IPAA), which has seven cosponsors and would authorize advance appropriations at IHS and BIA. Representative Betty McCollum introduced bipartisan companion legislation (H.R. 1128) in the House with nine cosponsors. Representative Don Young, a cosponsor of the IPAA, has also introduced H.R. 1135, the Indian Health Service Advance Appropriations Act, which has a bipartisan group of seven cosponsors.

We Urge Congress to Authorize Indian Country Advance Appropriations

- Congress must uphold its treaty and trust obligations by protecting federal programs serving tribal nations from future government shutdowns.

- We urge Congress to pass legislation authorizing advance appropriations for IHS and BIA.
Dear MEC Member,

In recent months MEC has received a great deal of interest from members and community stakeholders relating to broadband services in the areas we serve. In many cases, broadband service providers have not kept pace with the demands of consumers, or have even decided to terminate services in several of our communities.

MEC has provided electric service in this area for many years and we understand the challenges our unique region presents to internet service providers. At the same time, Mohave Electric Cooperative understands that inadequate broadband services pose constraints on our members’ quality of life in many ways including educational opportunities, economic development opportunities and simply ensuring that members have service level options at a cost that is fair.

The board of directors has asked that MEC conduct a survey of members to determine interest levels relating to broadband service options in the areas we serve. The cooperative has a long-standing partnership with TWN Communications and has asked that they collect member input during March, April and May.

It is very important that all members, both residential and business, complete this survey to ensure that your collective wishes are understood by MEC. To complete this brief survey, simply go to: www.mohaveelectric.com and click on the “broadband survey button”. You will then enter your address, and email, and complete the survey.

This survey information is disclosed only to the cooperative for the purpose of determining member interest in MEC conducting a broadband/internet service feasibility study for our service area.

I encourage all members to make their wishes known. Your co-op and its board are listening and will use your responses to determine how to proceed with this very important service for our communities.

Sincerely,

J. Tyler Carlson

What are the ways to get information on the air on KWLP?

- KWLP Community Calendar:
  Limited information only. Narrated by station staff. Individual spots run not more than 10 to 15 seconds. The entire calendar runs no more than approximately 1.5 minutes. The community calendar runs on the 1/2 hour 24/7 for one week. The deadline for submission to be in the community calendar is Noon the Friday before the week in which the calendar runs. Submissions may be made either by delivery to the radio station or emailing to staff. Direct communication with station staff of request for an event to be included in the community calendar is required. Station staff will draft script from event flyer. No charge.

- Event Promo:
  More details and calls to action included. Generally narrated by dept. or program staff or designated community representative. Promos generally run 30 seconds to 1 minute. Play is random on the quarter hour—will vary depending on the number of event promos in a given week. Run periods can vary: at least 2 weeks prior and no more than 30 days in advance is recommended. Submission should include a basic script (who, what, where, when, why, how) AND CONTACT INFO for follow up! Event flyers are generally inadequate as a script, but help. Scheduling an appointment with station staff to record promo or in the least, calling ahead to determine if production staff is available is recommended. Drop-ins will be accommodated if possible—best times are 10 am to 2 pm daily. Staff may assist with scripting and narration. Direct communication of request for an event promo to be produced and broadcast is required. Note: Production of a quality 30 second promo takes 1 to 2 hours minimum, not including recording narration. No charge.

- Educational Public Service Announcement (PSA):
  Educational, topical or seasonal information which may be archived and rebroadcast in the future. Includes no mention of specific dates or events. Generally narrated by dept. or program staff or designated community representative. PSAs generally run 30 seconds to 1 minute. Play is random on the quarter hour—will vary depending on the number of PSAs in a given week. Run periods can vary at preference of dept or program, which need to be identified. Scheduling an appointment with station staff to record PSA or in the least, calling ahead to determine if production staff is available is advised. Drop-ins will be accommodated if possible—best times are between 10 am and 2 pm daily. Staff may assist with scripting and narration, but other voices and scripts preferred. Direct communication of request for a PSA to be produced, broadcast and rebroadcast is required. Note: Production of a quality 30 second promo generally takes 1 to 2 hours minimum, not including recording narration. No charge.

- Personal Interview:
  This option provides an opportunity to give the most detailed information to listeners, the longest amount of air time for one service or event and calls to action. It is available to departments, programs and community organizations. Interviews sound live, but are pre-recorded and usually edited by staff. Interviews are generally played in 3 to 5 minute segments, depending on length of full interview; may be promoted in advance on air and in social media or otherwise. Interviews must be scheduled with station staff in advance; two weeks in advance of 1st desired air-time is recommended. Desired questions may be submitted in advance. Station staff may assist with identifying questions to elicit desired narrative, including who, what, where, when, why and how. No charge, unless advertising.
- Recurring “Donut” Segments:
  This option provides an opportunity to give regular, on-going (weekly or monthly) but changing information to listeners in a streamlined and time-efficient manner. Name-familiarity and good-will may be established by utilizing this option. It is available to departments, programs and community organizations. Participants will pre-record an introduction and conclusion which will be the same for each broadcast, and generally includes attention-grabbing, branding and contact information. Participants will then regularly record new content to be placed in the “middle” of the intro and outro. This is most effective for sharing calendars of events, job openings, general services, new staff introductions and educational information more substantial than can be covered in the time allotted for PSAs. “Donuts” generally run 1.5 to 3 minutes in length. Broadcast times can be random or scheduled. Recording sessions should be scheduled in advance. It is recommended that sessions be scheduled regularly to maintain consistency with content. Staff may assist with script writing. Narration by service provider staff is recommended. No charge, unless part of advertising.

- Scheduled Live Remote from Event:
  This is NOT just when station staff appear at events and provide music, DJ or MC services. During a live remote, station staff attending events actually break into the broadcast remotely and make live, real time announcements about the event, including interviewing event sponsors or participants. These broadcasts are not pre-recorded and are LIVE. Calls to action, invitations to participate in the event and information about the event sponsors are emphasized. Station appearances at events for ANY purpose MUST be requested in writing not less than 30 days in advance. Both event and remote request forms are available at the station and on the station’s Website or may be requested via email. Promotion of the event on air and social media may be part of the live remote services. NOTE: Radio station services do not typically include MC, DJ or Live Remote services outside of paid advertising contracts. Availability of station staff for any purpose is not guaranteed. Station equipment may not be rented or borrowed without station staff present to operate it. A fee may be assessed depending upon nature of sponsor of event, the purpose of the event, and date, time, location and length of event, as well as other station needs and commitments. There may be a charge for this services. A written schedule of fees is available at the station, on the website and upon request.

- Sponsorship of Show:
  This is the best opportunity to establish name recognition, promote good will, give listeners information about services and events and support the community radio station. Sponsorship includes a customized package of banner spots at the beginning and end of the show; 30 to 60 second spots each quarter hour of the show; mention in show promotions which play randomly throughout the week; mention in related social and print media promotions; and banners advertisements on the station website, as well as station appearances at events and live remotes. There is a fee. The initial schedule and details are available at the station and on the station’s website or upon request, but may vary depending on needs.

Department of Cultural Resources Grand Canyon Monitoring River Trip
May 25 to June 6, 2018

The Hualapai Department of Cultural Resources will be conducting our annual Cultural Resources Monitoring River Trip from May 25 to June 6, 2019. We have a limited number of spaces for Tribal members to participate on the trip. Our goal is to include those who may not have participated in past trips and who are interested in learning about the Colorado River through Grand Canyon, experiencing this aspect of the ancestral homeland, & contributing to the goals of the monitoring program, including:

- Monitoring archaeological sites and other Traditional Cultural Places.
- Conducting plant studies at designated study areas to identify changes in the number & types of native and non-native plants.
- Learning and sharing information about Hualapai Traditional Ecological Knowledge regarding plants, wildlife, and other aspects of Colorado River ecology.
- Reinforcing the Hualapai people’s connection to the Canyon and River, and gaining insight and input on how we may help direct the management of Glen Canyon Dam and the Colorado River ecosystem, including the cultural and natural resources (which go hand in hand).

If you would like to participate, submit a brief letter of interest to the Cultural Department no later than Friday, May 10th, 2019.

Participants will be expected to help out in one way or another. For example, younger people will help with monitoring and other aspects of field work (we’ll provide training), which will involve some hiking. Elders may share knowledge about the Canyon and the River and about how the Hualapai people made their living there and in the surrounding landscape. Much of what we do will be documented through photographs and audio & video recordings.

Please be aware that this will be a 13-day trip on large motorized rafts, which will be operated by professional staff from the Grand Canyon Monitoring and Research Center of the U.S. Geological Survey in Flagstaff. Every precaution will be taken to conduct a safe and healthy trip, but there are risks and potential hardships involved. For example, a number of large rapids will be encountered, so expect to get wet on occasion! In addition, camping each night will be required. Younger participants will be expected to sleep on pads on the ground, but we can provide cots for our elder participants. Tents will be available, but since our trip will be during the normal dry and warm season of mid to late May, they may be optional. Camping gear can be provided to those that request it.

Adequate food will be provided, including breakfast, lunch, dinner, and between meal snacks, as well as water, juices, and soft drinks. Generally, we eat quite well, so don’t worry about going hungry.

If you have certain medical or dietary needs, it is very important to know what they are beforehand, so we can determine if we can take care of them on a trip like this, & let the boat staff know, as well.

It must be stressed that this trip is all about participation, and we welcome your involvement. The more Hualapai people that are involved, the better we can strengthen our ability to guide the future of the River’s management. We will be interviewing potential participants in the coming weeks. If you are interested, please contact Carrie Cannon or Peter Bungart at (928) 769-2223.

The 2019 Wildland Fire Season is on its way and we are looking for highly motivated individuals willing to work strenuous shifts, maintain a positive attitude, and to be a team player. Keep in mind fire is unpredictable so shifts include weeks away from home and working holidays.

What is Wildland Fire?

A wildland fire is an unwanted ignition which consumes available fuels (grass, trees, and shrubs) by crawling, creeping, jumping, and running before smoldering to rest. Unwanted fires are the results of Rodeo-Chediski Fire (2002), Wallow Fire and Horeshoe 2 fire (2011) and most recently on the Hualapai Reservation the Sage Fire (2016).

What causes a Wildland Fire?

There are two types of ignitions 1) "anthropogenic" the results of human activity such as playing with matches, dropping cigarettes, embers from chimneys, unattended camp fires, and sparks from machines 2) natural ignitions are from volcanic activity and lightning.

How do I apply?

Contact staff at Branch of Forestry or stop by the office for application and nomination form for trainings. The process for employment is to complete; 1) Drug test 2) Physical Exam required and processed through Medical Standards or a Self-Certification Health Screen Questionnaire 3) Southwest Firefighter Application 4) Work Capacity Test (WCT): Informed

The position which you are applying for will determine the WCT as Pack test, Field test, or Walk test.

What will I Do?

You will be a part of a 20 man hand crew made up of a Crew Boss, Squad Bosses, and Sawyers. On the other hand, you may be working on a wildland fire engine or a single resource depending on experience and qualifications your position may vary.

Required

- DOI Drug Testing is required; test must include the five drugs: marijuana, cocaine, opiates, amphetamines and phencyclidine. Drug testing is provided by the applicant with a copy of verification to the Branch of Forestry.
- For pack test dress in gym clothes with walking or running shoes.
- Wildland Fire boots are required with Vibram sole with 8 inch top.

Inspirational Corner • Difficult Roads
Submitted by: Josie Powsey

Your mind is a powerful thing. You fill it with positive thoughts, your life will start to change.

No matter how you feel, get up, dress up, show up and never give up.

Difficult Roads often leads to beautiful destination. "DON'T QUIT."

To be the best, you must be able to handle the worst!

Don't worry about failures, worry about the chances you miss when you don't try.

Sometimes you just have to turn the page to realize there's more to your book of life than the page you're stuck on. Stop being afraid to move on! Close this chapter of hurt and never re-read it! It's time to get what your life deserves and move on from the things that don't deserve you. Don't try to fix what's been broken in your past, let your future create something better!! AMEN!

—Philippians 1:29

For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for HIS sake!

Steve and Sherry Deford are both well known in the PSA as Pastor Steve and Miss Sherry of the Hualapai Baptist Church at its Christian school, located on historic Route 66. Steve also works at the Walapai Market. Pastor Steve expands his ministry to the airwaves every Wednesday evening at 6:00 p.m., which is rebroadcast every Sunday morning at 10:00 a.m., with some "good words from the Good Book" and some great gospel music, including Native American Christian artist recordings. Miss Sherry now offers a regular segment during the show: "The Truth with Miss Sherry," addressing the ladies among the listeners. Both always share enjoyable yet informative content for their listeners. This month Sherry has donated her voice to many other production pieces. Steve continues to act as station liaison with the Market and feeds our volunteers. Both regularly donate items to the Wonderful listener giveaways. Thank you both for all you do for The Peach! They will receive our $100.00 in incentives for being Volunteers of the Month and are eligible to be Volunteer of the Year!

If you'd like to join the Peach volunteers: Call 769-1160. KWLP Volunteers sponsored in part by:
