Draft Hualapai Business License Ordinance

Adoption:

Revisions:

Disclaimer:

A - TITLE, AUTHORITY AND PURPOSE

1. This Act shall be known as the Hualapai Business License Ordinance. Any prior business license ordinances or codes imposed by the Hualapai Tribe are repealed.

2. The Hualapai Tribe establishes the ordinance pursuant to Article V, Section L and O of the Constitution of the Hualapai Indian Tribe of the Hualapai Indian Reservation.

3. Purpose

   a. The Hualapai Tribe has existed as an independent, sovereign tribe since time immemorial. Today, the tribe continues to govern the Hualapai Indian Reservation, its trust lands, and properties held in fee title, limited only in its authority by its Constitution and the Constitution and laws of the United States.

   b. The Hualapai Tribal Council is the governing legislative body of the Hualapai Tribe and has the sole and exclusive authority to grant, deny, or withdraw the privilege of doing business within the Reservation, trust and fee lands, except where such authority is limited or withdrawn from the Tribe by the applicable laws of the United States.

   c. The tribal council is responsible for economic development on the Reservation, trust and fee lands and seeks to ensure that residents of the Reservation enjoy adequate employment, health care, education opportunities, social services, and other governmental services.

   d. It is the policy of the Hualapai Tribe to promote economic development on the Reservation, trust and fee lands. To achieve that goal, the Hualapai Tribe is adopting a business license program to identify and regulate all applicable persons and entities doing business on the Reservation, trust and fee lands.

   e. The Hualapai Tribe has a primary interest in regulating the conduct of business and trade on the Reservation, trust and fee lands to ensure that safeguards are in place to promote the peace, safety, morals, and general welfare of the Tribe. It is therefore appropriate that all persons who exercise the privilege of engaging in business on the Reservation, trust and fee lands register and obtain a business license from the Hualapai Tribe through its ________________ Department (see B.3 below).

Youth in the Community

I saw this article (https://www.azed.gov/oie/indigenous-arizona-6) which shows that no matter what, if we have our mind made up to do something and work hard, the outcome is success and positive; this gives the individual self-esteem, self-confidence and the will to overcome barriers.

For the youth in our community, believe in yourself, set goals and work toward completing what you set out to do.

This individual, Cordero Holmes is a member of TO and was incarcerated in Arizona Department of Correction for 10 years. Through his incarceration he developed the passion for learning and he applied himself; this is amazing!

This is what I would like to see for our community; our people to learn skills through vocational education and or college. This is what is stated throughout grants and contracts the Tribe applies for; to hire our own people; however, this is not the case due to lack of our labor force.

I am currently the Interim Human Resources Director, for the past 3 ½ months, I've been in this position; it is sad to say Indian Preference is not followed to the letter of the law. Some of the Directors or Program Managers already know who they want to select and this does happen; or there is animosity or don’t like certain people, so this goes against them, which is not right.

So, I stress to the youth and the tribal members to learn a trade; we need plumbers, carpentry, electricians, bricklayers, roofers, IT, etc. For those that want to pursue college, look around our community; we need Forestry, Lawyers, Counselors (lay and professional), Accountants, Teachers, Social Workers, etc. We should strive to have our own people in these fields.

Reading this article, if he could do it; so can you. Where do you start? Goes back to you, what are you interested in doing? Go to the Training Center and ask for assistance to apply for admission to the school of your choice and start filling out your financial aid packet. If there is a dorm available on campus, apply for campus living; it would be beneficial to stay on campus as you have access to your needs; classes and the library.

I hope this article will be an inspiration for someone out there.

Community Spotlight

We are excited to spotlight one of the 2021-22 ADE Indian Education Advisory Council Student Advisors, Cordero Holmes.

Tell us about yourself and your current role.

My name is Cordero Holmes from Phoenix, Arizona. I am an enrolled member of the Tohono O'odham Nation, my mother is Joann Garcia from the Hickiwan District, the current representative of the village of Ventana.

I am a student at Rio Salado College studying Behavioral Science and Human Services. I am the current Phi Theta Kappa Arizona Regional Development Officer and served as Rio’s Student Senator on the Maricopa County Community College Student Senate 2020-2021.

As a student advisor, I will share the perspective and experiences of Native students on and off the many Nations within the state with the State Superintendent Katy Hoffman and the Department of Education, this perspective will influence policies and the initiatives of the Department of Education. My hope this year is first we can provide these students with the tools necessary to get back into school "post-pandemic". Then we get these young people interested in education by getting them excited about what they are learning.

Who or what inspires you to work in Arizona’s education community?

I am inspired to work in Arizona’s education community because I understand the importance of education and how life changing it can be. It has been my experience through observation of those within the communities I am a part of that no education often leads to incarceration, physically and figuratively. I myself was incarcerated in the Arizona Department Corrections for nearly 10 years. It was there where I began to develop a passion for learning that began when I started to read while I was in solitary confinement. This showed me a world outside of the world I knew and the cell that held me for 23 hours a day. When I was released from confinement and into the general population after three years I enrolled in Rio Salado’s re-entry program, and at the current date, I have a 4.0 GPA, a Level I and Level II Certification in Addiction and Substance Use Disorders and am on schedule to acquire an Associate in Applied Science degree and an Associate in Arts degree with an emphasis in psychology in the fall.

What’s one way our classrooms can be more culturally responsive and inclusive?

One way our classrooms can be more culturally responsive and inclusive is by correlating the curriculum with the community. It is always important no matter how old one is to be aware of what is and has occurred within the community they are a part of. I can attest to the sense of identity and strength an individual receives when they are made aware of times passed and how it relates to times present.

In Case You Missed It: Earlier this month, we shared resources to help promote understanding of U.S. boarding and residential schools. These resources can help educators deepen their understanding of this history as they develop lessons and supplementary materials. Learn more: https://www.azed.gov/oie/oie-resources

In an effort to respond to the global pandemic, the Colorado River Service Unit has developed the COVID-19 Color Code Transmission Risk indicator. This tool is intended to help the community understand the current level of health risk, allowing the community to adjust their activities to reduce the transmission of the virus. The color of the threat level can change based on number of active cases or positive test results.

On US college campuses, flu vaccination rates are strikingly low—between 8-39%—falling dramatically short of public health goals

Dealing with COVID-19 Losses

The COVID-19 pandemic has brought us many losses. The loss of friends, family, community leaders, and elders is overwhelming. Traditional ways of grieving with funerals and ceremonies couldn't happen, making it even harder to grieve those lost during this time.

But it isn't just the people who have died that we have lost. We've also dealt with loss in our day-to-day lives. Jobs and other income opportunities were lost or reduced; some had to change living situations; and some survivors of COVID-19 continue to deal with lingering health effects many months later.

We've also dealt with changes to our social lives. Schools, churches, and event spaces were closed. Celebrations, ceremonies, and cultural activities were canceled or altered. Some families and friends didn't see each other for many months. Hugs weren't shared with grandparents, new babies, and other loved ones. Our daily interactions changed as friendly smiles hid behind masks and we kept our distance from others.

We're finally getting back to life, but how do we do that while we deal with the losses we've experienced?

Acknowledging the losses
Allow yourself time to grieve for the lives lost as well as other personal losses. Know that it takes time to grieve and that most people don't grieve well alone. Grief is never easy, but it may take longer than expected to process and recover.

Find support
Reach out to family and friends. Talk about your feelings.
Reconnect with those you have missed or lost touch with— in person, by phone, text, email, letter, anything that feels right to you.
Recognize that some may still wish to keep their distance in person. It may take some time for everyone to be comfortable meeting in person again, with or without masks.
Find spiritual and mental health support. Reach out to traditional healers. Consider support groups and hotlines.

Get help in a crisis.
- Contact local mental wellness services or Indian Health Service unit.
- Contact the Disaster Distress Helpline at 1-800-985-5990, or text "TalkWithUs" to 66746.

Practice self-care and community care
Many people have been going through similar struggles. Feelings of grief are a natural response to loss and can be overwhelming. Be kind to yourself and others.
- Take care of your body physically.
- Take time to heal and find ways to restore your balance.
- Accept what you cannot change, and focus on aspects of your life that you can control.
- Give yourself permission to feel sad. Allow yourself to feel joy and happiness, too.
- Express your grief in healthy ways. Find comfort in art, music, cooking, writing, and other activities.
- Pray and take part in sacred practices. Connect with your community and Mother Earth.
- See "Staying Safe and Mentally Well During COVID-19" (caih.jhu.edu/resource-library) for more ideas.

Dental Fluoride Varnishing

Dental Fluoride varnishing is one of the best ways to prevent tooth decay. Varnish (Cavity Shield) is a topical application that hardens upon contact with saliva therefore is safe to use on younger children. Varnish helps stop tooth decay in its early stages. It can be applied to teeth up to 4X a year to help slow down the cavity causing bacteria.

The application is painless and does not require numbing or drilling in the mouth. Minor risks include: gagging, or a funny taste when applied.

Parker Dental Hygienist, Nida Lerch RDH. BS Will provide dental screening and apply fluoride varnish for Children ages 0-15 every third Friday of the month in Peach Springs Clinic. Please call the clinic for an appointment, Limited walk-ins are available.

NEXT VISIT IS FRIDAY: June 18th, July 16th, August 20th, September 17th, October 15th, November 19th, and December 17th.

We had to prove we had been vaccinated for the C-19 shot. I am proud of my little family, we all have a Master’s Degree. I have mine in Masters of Education, April is Masters of Computer Science and now Ty. Education is important and will help you with life but common sense is also needed to be a rounded person. Make My Heart Willing
By: Zeke Smith

Shield me from this darkness,
Free me from my flaws.
Make my heart willing
to follow all your laws.
Instill me with your wisdom,
remove me from my pride.
Make my heart willing
to walk with you stride.
Guide me through this tunnel,
give my life correction.
Make my heart willing to strive for your direction.
Protect me from the enemy,
relieve me of my pain.
Make my heart willing
to enthrone your holy name.
Wipe my slate clean,
repair my tarnished mind.
Make my heart willing,
never to press rewind.

Completely realigned
The heartless aftermath
Permanently scarred
Impossible to trust
Consistently on guard
Patience wearing thin
Freedom drawing near Stability undermined
The future still unclear.

Dear Hualapai Tribal Members,

It is with great pride I can say I am Hwal’bay. My name is Robert Bravo Jr. and I am running for Hualapai Tribal Council. My professional background is business. I have over 25 years of upper business management and leadership experience. Family is of most importance to me. I enjoy hunting, camping, golfing and spending quality time with my entire family and friends. My father and mother are Robert Bravo Sr. and Marilyn “Imus Bravo. My father was born and raised in Nelson Arizona where his father Torivio Bravo was raised from the age of 14. My mother Marilyn is full blooded Hwal’Bay. My paternal great grandmother is Queenie Imus who was married to John “Wath-Nack-A-Ma Imus who was an Indian Scout for the U.S. Army. My maternal great grandmother was Alma “Lane” Fielding from the Big Sandy. Alma was married to Tom Lane who was from the Blue Mountain area.

It is my honor to be a Hualapai Tribal member. Our Constitution permits all tribal members to share in the responsibility of tribal government. The responsibility is not just an elected position, but to become a leader of our great nation to help make decisions that will be in the best interest of our people and the land we live on.

Here is my interpretation of what a Hualapai Tribal Council member should focus on:

- As a Hualapai Tribal Council member I will devote official time and my own personal time to the problems of basic policy and as a liaison between the Tribal Council and our Hualapai people.
- I would promote economic development opportunities to ensure a stable working environment to provide more jobs for Hualapai’s and show the world once again that Hualapai’s are great entrepreneurs.
- I would serve the Hualapai people first and foremost in everything that I do and not my own personal interests. Putting the Hualapai people first means doing what is in the best interest of the community. After all, that is the primary reason the Hualapai Tribal Council member position exists.
- I would avoid any conflict of interest that would keep me from putting the Hualapai people first.
- I will focus my efforts on day to day operations and also the future development of the tribe. I feel it is a public official’s responsibility to be honest with the public, disclose any possible conflict of interest and provide information to the Tribal Membership as needed.

As Hualapai Tribal members we are truly blessed to live in such a unique area which is encompassed within one million acres of beautiful pristine land. Our reservation borders 108 miles of the Colorado River that is located on one of the World’s Natural Seven Wonders, the “Grand Canyon”. There are many issues we need to focus on so we can continue to be self sufficient and not allow anyone to take away our great opportunities for economic development. For example, our tribe has been in negotiations with the National Parks on the Colorado River Management Plan. For many years the National Parks has tried to regulate and cap our business to less than what the Hualapai River Runners, Grand Canyon 9 Rapids and the Grand Canyon Pontoon operations are currently doing. This could potentially mean that the amount of passengers the Hualapai Tribe can sell in our tourism operations will be controlled by the National Parks. Many of the companies that travel from Lees Ferry are not paying for their guests who encroach on our tribal lands. I will help adopt a procedure that monitors our land to make sure we are getting paid for each guest that trespasses on our property.
I was fortunate to start working with the Grand Canyon Resort Corporation in 1997. During my tenure I have seen many challenges and have had the opportunity to be part of the newest changes that have occurred. I was also involved with the runway project team and worked closely with FAA representatives to develop the new runway. In 202 I participated with the Hualapai Tribal Council, GCRC and the National Parks to discuss the Colorado River Management Plan.

If elected, I would gather information and share it with you so all tribal members have a clear understanding of the issues that affect the Hualapai Tribe. Political terms don’t last forever therefore communication is very important. We must all know what is at risk so our younger generations can continue to protect our land and our constitutional rights.

We have a great community that every tribal member should take pride in. What can we do as tribal members to make it a better place to live? What can we do to turn Peach Springs into a more cohesive community? My goal as an elected official will be to help our community be a better living place for all tribal members.

We have social issues similar to other communities and reservations and we need to focus and devote more of our resources on:

- Covid 19 (my sincere condolences to tribal members who have lost loved ones)
- Substance abuse
- Domestic violence
- Political interference

As your elected Council member it would be my responsibility to help implement programs to curb these and other issues to help our people. We also must never forget about our culture and traditions. Our parents and grandparents were taught to respect everyone. I feel we must regain that pride and have respect for one another within our community if we are to move forward as a united tribe. As your potential elected official I give you my word it will be my responsibility to work with our Chairman, Vice Chairman and our Council to look out for the best interest of the Hualapai people, our tribal businesses, the Hualapai Tribal assets and the tribes Natural Resources. I will support Council decisions and promise to keep you informed. Currently, I am familiar with the issues the Hualapai tribal council has been dealing with. Even with the community shutdown due to the Covid-19 crisis, I have kept updated on the current political activity by following the council meetings with KWLP radio and via zoom.
If elected, as your Council member, I pledge to lead by example and enforce the Hualapai Constitution and all laws within our tribal government. In closing, I would appreciate your vote and support as your newly elected Council Member of our “Great” Hualapai Nation.

Sincerely,

Robert Bravo Jr.

Hualapai Tribal Member #00000082

Nevadans Want National Monument Over Wind Farm

Submitted by: Charlotte Navaoick | Ute Tribe Public Relations | https://www.nevadacurrent.com/

Nevadans want national monument over wind farm

Spurred by the possible development of a wind farm, a coalition of Nevada lawmakers, tribes, conservationists and local residents are pushing for the creation of a national monument in Clark County.

In March, Crescent Peak Renewables, a subsidiary of Swedish-owned Eolus North America, submitted a Bureau of Land Management application for a 9,154-acre wind energy project on the Nevada-California border that it hopes to have ready for commercial operation by late 2024. The project would provide 308-megawatts of energy from 68 wind turbines for the southern Nevada and California electric grid.
The developer, whose previous application for a larger wind farm in the same area was rejected in 2018, is now facing renewed opposition and a campaign local residents to gain protective status for the area the company plans to develop. A national monument designation for Avi Kwa Ame, which means Spirit Mountain in Mojave, would permanently protect nearly 400,000 acres south of Las Vegas, from future energy development and mining.

More than 80% of the land within the proposed monument is already federally protected as critical habitat. However, the designation would connect existing protected landscapes from the East Mojave Desert to the Lake Mead National Recreation Area and expand protections to the area of the proposed wind farm.

There are two ways national monuments can be designated: either by Congress through legislation or by the president through the Antiquities Act.

Growing support for the area’s designation as a national monument has brought together Nevada tribes, rural towns, business leaders and conservationists. On June 1 the Moapa Band of Paiutes — who have developed their own solar project on their reservation — sent a letter of support for the monument to Nevada Sen. Catherine Cortez Masto.

“We support the designation (of) Avi Kwa Ame as a National Monument, as it will conserve important cultural sites, protect wildlife, benefit our state’s economy, and secure the permanent protection of these lands for the benefit and enjoyment of Nevadans and visitors alike,” wrote Chair of the Moapa Band of Paiutes Laura Parry.

Avi Kwa Ame is considered culturally significant and sacred by Yuman-speaking peoples, including the Mojave, Hualapai, Yavapai, Havasupai, Quechan, Maricopa, Pai Pai, Halchidhoma, Cocopah and Kumeyaay.

Taylor Patterson, the executive director of Native Voters Alliance Nevada, said native peoples are not against the development of renewable energy in the state overall but that tribes need to be involved in every aspect of development to avoid damaging culturally significant areas like the Avi Kwa Ame.

“The Moapa Band of Paiute solar project shows that tribes are not against development, they are against development in sacred spaces. There can be a balance; it’s just up to developers to do tribal consultation and find out where those spaces are,” Patterson said. “These tribes have given plenty to development. So why does it have to be in their most sacred spaces that these projects go up?”

In 2019, the Fort Mojave Indian Council voted unanimously to formally support the protection of the Avi Kwa Ame. The area is an important part of the tribe’s spiritual ideology and is featured in Mojave creation beliefs.

“Tribes have consistently articulated that any industrial project in this area is not culturally or environmentally appropriate. There is no potential mitigation possible for the first, indirect, and cumulative encroachment and destruction/desecration of sacred and cultural landscapes,” wrote Chair of the Fort Mojave Indian Tribe Timothy Williams, in a letter to the Nevada delegation, adding that the tribe applauded the denial of the previous application from Crescent Peak.

Smaller towns in Clark County that would border the proposed project have also signaled strong support for the creation of the national monument. The wind project would be developed about 9 miles west of the small town of Searchlight and about 30 miles south of Boulder City.

In late March, the Boulder City Council unanimously approved a resolution in support of the proposed monument and the preservation of the area from future development.

“We are in a very special situation where we are able to enjoy and preserve the land around us. Our neighbors not so far away haven’t been able to do as much with the pressures of development,” said Councilwoman Tracy Folda during the meeting. The Boulder City Chamber of Commerce believes the creation of a national monument would drive economic growth for the town — growth industrial development could put at risk.

“Supporting economic development doesn’t always equate to just building commercial enterprise,” said Boulder City Chamber of Commerce CEO Jill Rowland-Langan, adding that the chamber does support solar energy production.

“Boulder City’s founding fathers recognized the importance of conservation and protection of our land by putting into place a limited growth ordinance that would allow for manageable growth and wise use of natural resources,” Rowland-Langan said.

Rowland-Langan pointed to recent research looking at ZIP codes immediately adjacent to 14 national monuments that found monuments were associated with 10% more business establishments and about 9% more jobs in the years following the designation. National Monument designations also correlated with the closure of fewer established businesses, according to the study.

Last week, the Searchlight Town Advisory Board passed a resolution to support the monument designation. Residents of the town say the development of the area would devastate the local economy. Kim Garrison Means, a third-generation resident of Searchlight and Avi Kwa Ame organizer, said the public lands around the town have been recognized for decades as a unique and critically important habitat for a number of species from the East Mojave Desert to the Lake Mead National Recreation Area. “We’ve now had to fight for almost 15 years to keep these energy projects out of the middle of these, supposedly, vital lands,” said Garrison Means. “It’s exhausting.”

Past federal designations ended cattle ranching and mining leases on public lands around Searchlight, the town’s two traditional economic staples. Garrison Means said the town is still standing because of the pristine undisturbed lands that attract home buyers, recreation and tourism.

“We have already sacrificed our economy twice in order to save this land. Being a small rural town we often feel like we are not listened to and that our needs are sacrificed for some greater good of the county or the state,” Garrison Means said. “At this point, sabotaging the only economic outlet that we have left to us as a town is just insulting and painful to us.”

She added, “Now energy companies are coming in with an attitude of disrespect and act like the desert is a wasteland with nothing out here.”

Conservation groups say they don’t oppose the development of renewable energy in Nevada but believe it can be done without encroaching on critical public lands. Avi Kwa Ame is home to sensitive species, like golden eagles and the desert tortoise.

“This is not a zero-sum game,” said Gabriell di Chiara, an organizer with the Nevada Conservation League. “There are alternative routes to capturing renewable energy that don’t include industrializing pristine desert landscapes.”

Eolus, the wind power developer, has acknowledged that desert tortoises and golden eagles are present in the area but contends the area is a “marginal-to-unsuitable habitat” for these species, according to its BLM application.

The company also states the project would only disturb up to 700 of the 9,154 acres included in their application — about 8% of the total development area — and access to the work site would be “designed to minimize disturbance.”

“All cultural resources will be avoided during construction activities,” according to the application. During a study of the 35-miles of Sloan Canyon Switching Station near Boulder City where the project would connect the company found that all other possible locations in the area had major conflicts, including a lack of access to transmission, desert tortoise migration paths, residential areas, military flight corridors and poor wind resources.

Eolus declined to comment on this story.
