Protect Ha’Kamwe’: Running from Peach Springs to Phoenix to save the natural spring By CHELSEA MCDONOUGH, Kingman Miner | March 20, 2024

A caravan of vehicles led by an individual carrying a walking stick made its way from Peach Springs to Kingman on Wednesday, and left town headed towards Maricopa County on Thursday.

These two days marked the beginning of the Journey to the State Capitol of Arizona, a trek to spread awareness about the lithium mine being planned at Cholla Ranch, and the Hualapai Nation’s efforts to protect Ha’Kamwe’, or Cofer Hot Spring, a naturally occurring hot spring that holds great cultural meaning to the Hualapai Tribe.

Organizer Ivan Bender, caretaker of Ha’Kamwe’, has planned other events in the past to try to save the spring, and the land around it. Since waking up to the sounds of drilling in 2018, he has been fighting to protect the land in Wikieup – 360-acres that the Hualapai Tribe had been granted land ownership of.

Chelsea McDonough/Kingman Miner
Ivan Bender, organizer of the Journey to the State Capitol of Arizona, aims to raise awareness about the proposed lithium mine at Cholla Ranch and protect the hot spring.

This particular journey began Wednesday in Peach Springs, ending at Fort Beale in Kingman. Thursday, the group headed to Wikieup where they will rest Friday. Over the weekend, they will leave from Cholla Ranch and will reach Phoenix on Tuesday.

The Big Sandy Lithium Project, a partnership between the Navajo Nation Transitional Energy Company (NTEC) and Arizona Lithium (AZL), an Australian company, is proposing an open-pit mine around 2,000 feet deep and one mile wide. They expect to remove about 1.5 billion tons of material over the mine’s life.

Bender, and others in the community, believe this project poses a threat to the land and water, but the companies tout the project as being environmentally friendly.

“Both AZL and NTEC are eager to approach the project in a sustainable and equitable way, congruent with the grounding values of the Navajo Nation,” states a news release on NTEC’s website. “Additionally, NTEC understands the cultural significance of the land near the mining site. The company plans to work with the Navajo Nation and other Indian Nations to ensure the development at Big Sandy prioritizes appropriate cultural and environmental safeguarding throughout the process.”

Lithium extraction companies claim there is minimal harm to the environment, no aquifer depletion, low carbon dioxide emissions, and low water consumption, according to a report by CleanTech Lithium.

But the verdict is split.

Participants switch off running through Hackberry on the way to Fort Beale in Kingman on Wednesday.

A report by GlobalData states that a study in 2019 revealed 40% of the total climate impact caused by the production of lithium-ion batteries comes from the mining process.

“The carbon dioxide and other greenhouse emissions that come with the process of lithium mining, extraction and overall production are worse for the climate than the production of fossil fuel-powered vehicles,” it said.

According to the Institute for Energy Research, “Lithium-ion battery mining and production are worse for the climate than the production of fossil fuel vehicle batteries. Production of the average lithium-ion battery uses three times more cumulative energy demand compared to a generic battery.”

That is why this cause is so important for Bender.

“We’ve been calling for awareness,” Bender said. “We want to let the people know what is happening and what is going to happen.”

A major concern for those opposed to the lithium mine is the potential for contaminated water due to its proximity to the spring.

“Whatever they’re doing, it’s not safe,” said Bender. “The thing that really needs to be looked at is what the health hazard of this is. I’m thinking about the children and the generations to come. What about them? Money isn’t everything.”

Not only is the contaminated water a concern, but so is the lack of transparency around the renewable energy moratorium that was passed by the Mohave County Board of Supervisors in October 2023. The 240-day prohibition of renewable energy projects in the county was meant to give officials time to thoroughly examine the possible environmental impact of these projects, especially as county water levels and supply were discussed as potentially being threatened by these projects.

“Isn’t Cholla Ranch a part of Mohave County?” Bender questioned. “Or is this separate? Is this just a mining thing? Where do we draw the line?”

They ran 200 miles in 6 days to protest lithium mine near sacred Hualapai hot spring

By Gabriel Pietrorazio, Published: Wednesday, March 20, 2024 - 4:16pm

A group of runners and walkers from the Hualapai Tribe finished trekking more than 200 miles over six days from western Arizona to the Valley on Tuesday. They were protesting an open-pit lithium mining operation near what they say is a sacred hot spring in the Sonoran Desert.

Hualapais rejoiced right outside the Arizona State Capitol in Phoenix after an arduous journey that started almost a week ago in the town of Wikieup.

Ivan Bender, a Hualapai, organized the Protect Ha’Kamwe’ Prayer Run, who shared that his idea for a spiritual trip once came to him in a dream.

“Through a prayer, we’re here, to come here, and bring something nice, a voice. If you believe in prayer, that’s why we’re here,” said Bender. “It’s not a miracle. Our ancestors were already waiting for us.”

Possible water contamination and the desecration of this sacred site are concerns that Bender and his grassroots allies repeatedly raised.

The Hualapai Tribal Council even passed a resolution opposing the proposed mine claim area in 2021.

Other tribal communities, near and far, traveled to greet them at Wesley Bolin Plaza. They spent hours outside in the sun, examining their relationships with extractive industries that the state of Arizona deeply relies on, like copper and lithium.

Each had their own struggle to share, from the Tohono O’odham Nation’s fight against Rosemont Mine to the battle over Black Mesa on the Navajo Nation.

Earlier this month, the Australian company Arizona Lithium, also known as AZL, inked an agreement with the tribally-owned utility Navajo Transitional Energy Company, or NTEC, to develop the Big Sandy Lithium Project in Mohave County.

Part of that deal also included NTEC CEO Vern Lund joining AZL’s board. In a joint statement, both companies wrote that they aim to prioritize “appropriate cultural and environmental safeguards throughout the process.”

Proposed Lithium Mine Near Wikieup Would Endanger Sacred Site, Native Activists Say

Proposed lithium mine near Wikieup would endanger sacred sites, Native activists say

Trilce Estrada Olvera, Arizona Republic | Mon, March 25, 2024 at 7:01 AM MDT

Ivan Bender was walking through the Hualapai Tribe-owned Cholla Canyon Ranch one day in 2018 when he discovered exploratory drilling holes around the edge of the property, where he works as a caretaker.

"I went on top (of a mountain), and then I was coming down and I saw a flag," he says. It was the U.S. flag tied to a noisy drilling machine. Bender drove down to meet the workers. "I didn't know who they were," he says, "but I did ask questions."

He learned that the Australian company Hawkstone Mining Limited, now operating as Arizona Lithium Limited, had started drilling what it said were 37 exploration holes for phases one and two of its Big Sandy Lithium Project. The company says the Big Sandy lithium is 99.8% pure, ideally suited for the production of lithium batteries for electronic devices and electric vehicles.

Laura Berglan, a senior attorney for the Tribal Partnerships program of the environmental law organization Earthjustice, later published a count of 49 holes.

Bender says he saw the mining workers using water and extracting groundwater during drilling. Not long after, he noticed the springs' waters went down. In the last measurement, he says, "We lost two feet of water in less than a six-month period. How is that possible?"

Water helps define the landscape

Beyond the entrance of Cholla Canyon Ranch is a sacred site known in the Hualapai language as Ha'Kamwe', later named in English as Cofer Hot Springs. The place is part of the ancestral homelands of the Hualapai, Yavapai, Fort Mojave, Chemehuevi, Southern Paiute, Hopi and Colorado River indigenous tribes.

People value the landscape for its religious, traditional and cultural significance. Elders say the holy spring has been used since time immemorial for traditional medicine, praying, and conducting ceremonies. Even non-indigenous people say they believe in its healing powers.

Now, a group of concerned people is organizing to express their interest in protecting the precious oasis and ensuring the preservation of the water connected to this place by the Big Sandy River, which feeds into other aquifers.

The Big Sandy River merges with the Santa Maria River at Alamo Lake to form the Bill Williams River, which then flows into the Colorado River. Its headwaters are at the confluence of Knight Creek and Trout Creek. It also drains Burro Creek.

"The Colorado River runs all the way into Yuma and then into Mexico. And then they have a manmade canal that runs into San Diego," says Bender. He notes that the water systems are interconnected, supplying Phoenix, Tucson and other cities.

BLM asks mine operator to stop using one water source
Ha'Kamwe' is now surrounded by mining claims within public lands overseen by the Bureau of Land Management. In 2021, the former Hualapai Tribe Chairman, Damon R. Clarke, wrote to the BLM regarding the inadequacies of its Environmental Assessment. He requested further tribal consultation.

In response to an interview request, the BLM on March 18 emailed The Arizona Republic: "In December 2022, the BLM formally invited the Hualapai Tribe to be a Cooperating Agency on the project. The BLM received the Tribe's Cooperating Agency inputs on the project this week. We are currently reviewing those inputs." For the third exploration phase of the project, Arizona Lithium, applying under the name Big Sandy Inc., has sought a BLM permit to triple the number of holes drilled in the area. The company says the lithium would help fill a growing demand for batteries that power electric cars, ultimately helping the U.S. reduce greenhouse gas emissions.

To facilitate the processes, Arizona Lithium recently announced the completion of a mining services agreement with the tribally owned Navajo Transitional Energy Company. NTEC will be responsible for managing the permitting requirements, additional exploration drilling, mine design, environmental assessments and development to the start of mining for the Big Sandy Lithium Project.

In compensation, NTEC will receive AZL shares for $0.075 per share, subject to full permitting of the Big Sandy Lithium Project. The BLM has made no decision to authorize the exploration, the agency told The Republic, nor has a mining plan of operations been submitted to the BLM.

"Should the mining company propose to move forward with actual lithium mining at this site in the future, they would be required to submit a mining plan of operations,"

BLM officials said in the statement. "That plan would then undergo a rigorous National Environmental Policy Act review, including public participation and Tribal consultation."

The mining company plans to create an open-pit mine. Although the project hasn't received final approval, its communication indicates the company's optimism about moving forward with that objective.

Before beginning each manifestation, the group performs a ceremony to honor water, the elements, and ancestors.

According to the BLM, the office asked Big Sandy Inc. to revise its exploration plan to pay for tribal monitors to be present during ground-disturbing activities, and to stop using a groundwater well and a staging area that would be within a few hundred feet of the sacred hot spring Ha'Kamwe'.

BLM officials say the groundwater well is not hydrologically connected to the spring, but eliminating the well will reduce the amount of truck traffic and noise in that area. The company proposes obtaining the water needed to support the drilling operations from Wikieup.

Chanting "Protect Ha'Kamwe'," children, adults and elders gathered in front of the Arizona state Capitol last week to demonstrate their opposition to the Big Sandy Lithium Project and their concern for preserving sacred waters.

Around 1 p.m., the crowd welcomed a group of prayer runners who traveled from Peach Springs, walking and running over 200 miles over seven days.

Bender is the head of the movement. He says he follows his ancestors' guidance to care for and protect Ha'Kamwe'. Before beginning each manifestation, the group performs a ceremony to honor water, the elements and ancestors.

The smell of the burnt aromatic resin known as copal fills the air on the lawn outside the Capitol gates. The dancers sound their rattles and maracas accompanied by the rhythm of musicians playing drums and blowing conch shells. Then they march to a stage set up at Wesley Bolin Memorial Plaza, echoing the chant of "Protect Ha'Kamwe'."

Speakers from different tribes participated in the rally, including Mona Polacca, a Havasupai, Hopi and Tewa indigenous water ethics organizer from the Indigenous Environmental Network, who also joined the prayer run, walking with the group at times.

San Xavier District Chairman Austin Nunez from the Tohono O'odham Nation asks, "How much earth needs to be moved to produce enough lithium for an electric car? You have to move tons of earth to get just a little bit of lithium. So we have to continue to look for other ways to have a good life and protect all that surrounds us."

Adrian Herder, who is Diné and from the Black Mesa region of the Navajo Nation, is media organizer with Tó Nizhóní Ání, a Diné-led nonprofit organization working to protect the region's water. Herder talks about the water crisis in Arizona and the environmental consequences that mining left in his community.

Katie Martinez, with the O'odham Aunties from the Gila River Indian Community, says, "My grandpa taught me that living in the desert, there's always someone who is thirsty." She is a third-generation woman who has not had running water. "We need to save it and honor it."

Speakers also included Guy Trujillo, who came from California with his family to support Bender with some music, and Pete Jackson, a veteran of the Gila River Indian Community. They all tell stories about how extractive industries like mining have impacted their communities. "This is not only an Indigenous problem," says Jackson, "is everyone's."

Bender is the last to speak. He says that communities from all these cities can be affected by the impact lithium mining has on water. "We need to let our leaders know that it's not just going to affect your city; it's going to affect them," he says. "That's why we're here today."

5. REVIEW OF THE MASTER PLAN LAND USE DIAGRAMS

Cattlemen's Meeting on February 15, 2024

Mr. Davidson began the presentation by noting this is the committee's tenth meeting where the committee will review the input received during the February 21, 2024, Community Meeting and discuss how to integrate this input into the Master Plan. To seek additional voices do not present at the Community Meeting, Mr. Davidson reviewed comments received during his presentation made at the Cattlemen's meeting held on February 15, 2024, as follows:

- Earth tanks should be shown on the land use maps since they attract cattle.
- Tribal members looking to place a home site near an earth tank should expect cattle on their home site lease, so they should build a fence.
- The Housing Department should build a fence around the Box Canyon subdivision (north and west sides).
- The land use diagram should also depict the various grave sites so home site leases do not end up being near one or, even worse, on top of one.
- The Forestry, Ranching and Mining Element of the Master Plan should reference the various ordinances the tribe has in place, namely the Proper Utilization of Range Resources - Ordinance 2B and the Natural Resources Conservation Ordinance No. 24-70.
- The Natural Resources Element should address soil erosion, bark beetle infestation and other maladies brought on by drought and a warming earth.
- The Truxton aquifer, the primary water source for the Peach Springs and Buck & Doe communities, should not be used to supply water to Grand Canyon West.

Soil & Water Conservation District Meeting on February 8, 2024

Mr. Davidson next shared the comments received from his February 8, 2024, meeting with the Hualapai Nation Soil & Water Conservation District as follows:

- Keep new home sites applications to the west side of Peach Springs where infrastructure is better and limit the number of home sites on the east side of the reservation given the lack of infrastructure, namely potable water, and slow “911” response times which exceed 30 minutes or more.
- EMS/Fire Department response time to Valentine is also slow.
- Will the Master Plan allow for secondary residences (Granny Flat) on a home site?
- Are home sites allowed in the “Agricultural” land use designation?
- Need streetlights in Valentine.
- Can we designate a residential land use category adjacent to the old one-room schoolhouse on the north end of Valentine at the railroad underpass?
- Rather than expand the residential land uses further west into Grazing District No. 2, the Master Plan Update Committee should consider placing a new residential area along the 1926 alignment of US Route 66 which is now the path of the main water supply line from the Truxton pump house. The residential area would start at the Music Mountain School at approximately Mile Post 97.2 and extend to about Mile Post 99 along the southerly side of State Route 66. This requires a meeting with the Grazing Districts to discuss this further.
- Youth Camp and Thorton Tower need internet service for safety reasons.
- The proposed Agribusiness land use in the Frazier Wells area, south and east of Route 18, would not have been contemplated in the past given the Hualapai’s traditional uses of the land.

Community Members Comments

To conclude the comments from tribal members not able to attend the Community Meeting, Mr. Davidson reviewed those presented to the Committee by Mr. Waylon Honga who began by saying the east side of the reservation should not receive cell phone service so it can remain wild and untamed. Mr. Honga also recommended tribal buildings have rainwater harvesting, better insulation and renewable energy devices (solar arrays) installed. Old homes should be demolished to make way for better homes. The tribe should also build walking and biking paths away from main roadways, adopt ground-level horns at the railroad crossing on Diamond Creek Road (akin to Flagstaff) until a bridge over the railroads tracks is constructed, replace/upgrade water and sewer pipes, pumps and consider building a sewage treatment plant. For tribal recreation, Mr. Honga asked the tribe to build a public swimming pool and a roller coaster similar to the one in Williams.

Community Meeting on February 21, 2024

Mr. Davidson next shared the comments received at the Community Meeting which requested more recreation activities, including a pool, better maintained parks, walking and hiking trails, more activities from the Recreation Department and a place for elders to teach youth the Hualapai language. For land uses, commenters requested a youth arcade, mini swap meet, housing in the Limestone area (District 3), a casino next to the lodge, name brand retail stores and a second road to Grand Canyon West. Turning to the land use diagrams that were marked up by attendees, who formed ten teams at Community Meeting’s land use workshop, Mr. Davidson began with those mark-ups in central Peach Springs where there was consensus to start up a laundromat at the location of the old doll factory on Diamond Creek Road and a Sports Center/Multi-Purpose Complex in Rodeo Circle east of the tribal courthouse. Other requests placed a boutique, dress shop, salon, arcade and a florist shop downtown between the lodge and the Walapai Market. Three locations for a Cry House were also shown: 1) west of the McGee Cemetery, 2) southerly side of Route 66 across from Juvenile Detention, and 3) at the Pow Wow grounds south of the Day Care. One of the comments received at the Community Meeting noted the Multi-Purpose Building has been used for a Cry House, so why build a Cry House and instead advised the tribe to build another Multi-Purpose Building to keep these uses separate.

Looking at the Buck and Doe area, land use requests ranged from constructing a resort north of Buck and Doe Road near mile post 2, building luxury homes to rent, placing luxury apartments near the Buck and Doe Road intersection with Route 66 around the water tank, a ropes course and ball fields for recreation and fitness, brand name shopping along the highway adjoining Music Mountain High School, and, most significantly, shifting several hundred acres of land designated for housing from District No. 2 north of highway to the south side of the highway, along the old alignment of US Route 66, which places the homes in the Shipping Pasture. For the Truxton Triangle, an RV Park, apartments, homes for single people, a vending area and a mini casino along the highway were also proposed. Of note was the request to construct a solar farm along the southern boundary of the reservation adjoining the north side of the Truxton Triangle.

Moving to the east side of the reservation, several participants also requested luxury homes to rent along Frazier Wells Road, growing and then selling traditional food at Frazier Wells (near mile post 22 on Route 18), more utilization of the Youth Camp, and establishing a tribal herd.

Mr. Davidson next reviewed improvements requested at the Diamond Creek launch point on the Colorado River which included paving Diamond Creek Road, improving Diamond Creek Beach, removing the ramadas, improving the camping grounds, constructing a restroom & cleaning station, removing Tamarisk trees for water conservation, establishing a hiking trail up Hindu Canyon and creating an Indian Garden. Thinking “outside the box,” one team requested we look at restoring the Farlee Hotel with a stagecoach ride to and from Peach Springs. Mr. Olin Beecher said the stagecoach ride along the unpaved portion of Diamond Creek Road would be difficult. Ms. Andrea Nieto said rebuilding the Farlee Hotel is not practical due to the difficult access on Diamond Creek Road and the fact that the original hotel was washed away in a flood since it was constructed in a flood prone area. Mr. Beecher agreed the campground should be improved and possibly make it level to the second beach. The tribe could also plant indigenous palm trees at the site that once grew in this part of the Grand Canyon.

For Valentine, the Community Meeting participants asked that the old schoolhouse be remodeled into a museum, use native Cottonwood trees found along the Truxton Wash to build an artists’ museum, and improve the area in general even going so far as to restore old buildings that are no longer in existence. Ms. Nieto was not in favor of restoring the old schoolhouse because it is still a point of trauma for her grand-parent’s generation. Ms. Camille Nighthorse said the tribe should place a memorial at the school site that discusses the history of the Valentine Boarding School.

The last comments from the Community Meeting were reserved for Grand Canyon West and are as follows: Build the most at GCW, expand development at Eagle Point to the north and south of the Skywalk, make Hualapai Point look more traditional, remove the golf course, start ATV rides along the Canyon Rim, preserve native plants, including pre-historic palms, at Guano Point, plant grass, and pave Buck & Doe Road for a scenic driving experience but also keep things indigenous. Mr. Davidson noted that the tribe has adopted an ordinance that prevents ATVs from being driven on the reservation. Chairman Robert Bravo said the ATV trail was approved over 20 years ago. Ms. Nieto said there are multiple trails at GCW. Chairman Bravo advised the tribe to stop putting all of its “eggs in one economic basket” and develop more business venues outside of GCW. Ms. Nieto agreed with the need to diversify the tribe’s economy and noted other tribes which have done so successfully. Chairman Bravo pointed out the Antelope Canyon RV Park operated by an outside investor who partnered with the Navajo Tribe. Manny Siyuja suggested the tribe purchase businesses off-reservation to further diversify the tribe’s portfolio. Chairman Bravo added that the tribe’s vacant property in Truckee, California is one such candidate for third-party investment. Mr. Beecher added that partnering with a California developer, who knows the local market in Truckee and how to navigate the regulatory maze can help the tribe bring out the full potential of this land. To do all this, Mr. Siyuja recommended the tribe divide the Planning and Economic Development Department to form a separate tribal Economic Development Department which can focus on these “big picture” projects.

Turning to the question of hard rock mining on the reservation, Chairman Bravo said the lime plant operation at Nelson has likely trespassed on the Hualapai Reservation and recommended that Planning record a set of GPS coordinates along the reservation’s boundary fence line to show the area of trespass. Mr. Davidson said the tribe looked into the trespass issue some 10 years ago and found the current fence line is inside the reservation boundary by several feet. Also, the borrow pit on the reservation, southwest of the chemical lime plant’s operation, was permitted by the Hualapai Tribal Council in the early 1960s to allow the Arizona Highway Department to produce road base material used to construct the Kingman to Seligman Highway.

In addition to the land use requests made at the Community Meeting, Mr. Davidson reviewed the just-received proposal from Indian Health Services to build a new clinic in Peach Springs.¹ The new clinic building could contain up to 60,000 square feet on a 12-acre site with another eight acres for IHS staff housing. The first option places the new clinic site west of the Music Mountain High School, with option two east of the high school. The third option is to place a 15-acre site across the highway from the existing clinic with 10 acres for the clinic and five acres for staff housing. This last option would place it next to the proposed new tribal administration office which the tribal council would like to break ground in this year. Speaking of a new tribal administration office, Mr. Davidson said tribal council, IDT, TERC and Planning were working on an Environmental Assessment (EA) to select the best location for a new location of tribal office prior to the COVID-19 pandemic where this site was one of the options. The project re-emerged in early February because the tribe must commit to spend its remaining ARPA funds by October of this year or it will forfeit the money to the US Treasury Department. Chairman Bravo was curious why tribal council did not hold a community meeting to discuss the best way to spend these unused ARPA funds. Ms. Nighthorse and Mr. Olin were receptive to the idea of placing a new tribal office at this location. Mr. Clay Bravo advised Planning re-start work on the EA. Mr. Davidson said it is on the “to do” list.

Ms. Martina Dawley suggested the tribe produce a Gantt showing the status of all these projects, especially in light of the comments received at the Community Meeting, a few of which were critical of the “wish list” nature of the tribe’s planning process which seems to only offer false hope. Mr. Davidson said the Day Care, Health, Education and Wellness Center, Healing House, Elder Group Home, and Youth Camp where on the wish list 15 years ago. All are completed.

¹ Indian Health Services has a formal process for evaluating prospective project sites for its healthcare and staff housing sites. This includes drafting a Phase I Site Selection and Evaluation Report (SSER) and then moving to Phase II if the project meets the requirements of Phase I, namely a tribal resolution allowing the project to proceed.

Looking at the proposed 6" water line to connect the Peach Springs water system to Westwater, Mr. Beecher asked if the tribe needs to invest in this water line now that the tribe's water rights settlement was approved in 2023. Chairman Bravo was also curious as to who will maintain the water line once it is complete. Mr. Davidson said maintenance would fall to Hualapai Public Works and added the construction of the bigger water rights line (12" diameter pipe) is many years off because the US Congress has yet to appropriate any funds for the project. This has delayed the start of the environmental review process which is expected to take a few years to complete, and which will determine the water line's final route. Once the route is known, the engineering design can start and then construction after that. To finish the discussion on the 6" vs. 12" water line, Mr. Davidson noted the water rights line will be piping untreated water to GCW whereas the 6" will have potable water in it and may allow for additional home sites to spring up along Buck and Doe Road between mile post 2.6 and Westwater.

Mr. Clay Bravo was also concerned about the visual impact of power poles placed along Buck and Doe Road which will carry the electric lines needed to supply power to the proposed water treatment plant at GCW and the pumping stations along the way from Peach Springs. The plans for both the 69 KV power line proposed by HTUA to GCW and the power line for the water rights settlement are to be placed along the roadway between Horse Flats and the 400,000-gallon water tanks that supply Grand Canyon West.

Aside from governmental proposals for new land uses, Mr. Davidson turned the floor over to Mr. Longfeather Fox to present The Thrive Hualapai Business Incubator proposal. The proposal would place two Conex boxes, on loan from the Emergency Operations Center, on Route 66 Park for use as retail boutiques. Chairman Bravo asked would be eligible to use the Conex boxes? Mr. Fox said these 80 square foot units would be open to all tribal members – contingent on these qualifying factors: 1) obtain a tribal business license, 2) complete the IBIP Sync Current program through MCC – Hualapai Business Incubator, 3) pay lease/rental fees, and 4) services must be culturally appropriate. Mr. Fox said he is asking for a positive recommendation from the Committee prior to taking the proposal to the tribal council. The committee was supportive of the Thrive venture with Ms. Dawley, liking the fact that the units were portable, not too big as to pose a threat and less likely to cause damage when placed on the ground. Mr. Beecher asked if a second phase could be placed along the highway south of the Post Office.

Ms. Nighthorse also shared her proposal for a retreat along Route 18; however, details are not shared due to business confidentiality.

With entrepreneurship stimulating the Committee's conversation, Mr. Beecher said Peach Springs could use a car wash, especially for tribal vehicles which need frequent washing due to heavy use. Ms. Dawley said the little two-bay car wash in Chinle, Arizona, is constantly being used, so starting a carwash in Peach Springs will likely draw some good business. Mr. Siyuja advised the budding tribal entrepreneurs to visit his MCC Business Incubator at the Training Center to help develop a business plan.

To sum up the recommendations to the land use diagrams, Mr. Davidson provided these suggestions:

1. Expand the commercial area along Diamond Creek to include an old laundromat and possible arcade.
2. Boutiques, nail salon, dress shop and a florist can be placed in the commercial office space next to the Hualapai Market
3. Sufficient commercial area exists around old gas station and up to Cultural Office for a swap meet, vendor village and a mini-drive-in
4. Expand Tribal Government/Commercial land uses to accommodate a new Tribal Office, new Indian Health Services Clinic, a Cry House or New Multi-Purpose Building, Transit Building and an Elder Care Facility in Uptown Peach Springs (Sports Center/Multi-Purpose Complex has the appropriate Tribal Government land use designation shown on the land use diagram along Rodeo Circle).
5. Designate more land for housing along old US Route 66 and less land for housing in District No. 2
6. Remove golf course from GCW.
7. Expanding uses at Eagle Point vs. developing open areas at GCW.
8. Conflict on development for east side of reservation
 - a. Natural vs. developed . . . Glamping? Agribusiness at Frazier Wells?
 - b. EMS response times and general lack of infrastructure may limit development and new home sites to land near or adjoining Route 18

Mr. Clay Bravo agreed with the placement of various commercial uses proposed along Route 66. Mr. Siyuja opined Peach Springs does not need a stand-alone arcade but instead make it part of the Multi-Purpose Complex. Mr. Davidson said he will update the land use diagrams to show these modifications and present them to the Committee at their next meeting.

Mr. Davidson next reviewed the revised goals, objectives, and policies that the Committee has been crafting for the past six months, many of which address the comments and concerns made at the previous two Community Meetings, received at other meetings and from individual tribal members.

Revised Land Use Goals, Policies & Objectives Aligned w/ Public Comments

- Objective 1.2 Establish diverse, compatible, and functional land use patterns and, when necessary, amend the existing land use pattern to prevent built environment decay.

Mr. Bravo noted that using water from Milkweed Springs has been discussed for over two decades, so it needs to be acted upon with the help of Hualapai Department of Natural Resources. We should also add an objective to the Environmental Element to promote food security. In addition, we should not allow invasive species to encroach on habitats. Mr. Davidson said he will craft language for review at the next Committee meeting.

Mr. Beecher agreed that a Cry House is a separate and distinct use from a Multi-Purpose Building so the tribe should have one of each. Ms. Dawley reflected upon the comments provided by one of the Hualapai Elders at the Community meeting saying we should take our time to think things through and not act hastily but act deliberately to make these important decisions. We should make a list of tribal achievements as well as outstanding items to keep the tribal membership informed.

6. ADJOURNMENT

To continue the discussion on modifications to the Master Plan, the Committee agreed to meet again in two weeks. Chairman Bravo entertained a motion to adjourn the meeting. Mr. Siyuja made a motion to adjourn with a second by Ms. Dawley, motion carried unanimously at 8:32 PM.

SECTION III. HOMEOWNER ASSISTANCE OVERVIEW

A. HHD shall only use the HAF Program Funds to provide financial assistance to Eligible Homeowners to use for qualified expenses for the uses set forth herein and in accordance with the terms of this Policy.

1. Application. To participate in the HAF Program, a Homeowner must first submit a complete, written Application to HHD. This Application must include all information required by HHD, as described herein.

2. Participation. If an Applicant is approved for participation in the HAF Program, they must then submit information and supporting documentation each month for which they seek continued HAF Program Funds, unless such payments are to be provided for a 3-month period, for which the Applicant must provide such information for the 3-month period.

B. Qualified Expenses

1. HAF Program Funds may only be used for the following types of qualified expenses that are for the purpose of Homeowners Rehabilitation/Addition to prevent overcrowding and Heating, Ventilation and Air Conditioning (HVAC) after January 21, 2020:

a. Payment assistance for:

1. Homeowner's arrears
2. Homeowner's Rehabilitation/Addition
3. Heating, Ventilation and Air Conditioning (HVAC)
4. Mortgage Payment Assistance.
 - a) Homeowners Insurance.
 - b) Hoa Fees or Liens.
 - c) Delinquent Property Taxes.
5. Homeowner's Internet Payment Assistance

b. Counseling or educational efforts by housing counseling agencies approved by HUD, or legal services, targeted to households eligible to be served with funding from the HAF Program related to foreclosure prevention or displacement, in an aggregate amount up to 5% of the funding from the HAF Program received by HHD;

2. Duplication of Assistance: An Eligible Homeowner that occupies a Dwelling for which that Homeowner is receiving or has already received other federal assistance may receive HAF Program assistance, provided that HAF Program Funds are not applied to costs that have been or will be reimbursed under any other federal assistance. To the extent feasible, HHD will ensure that any financial assistance provided to an Eligible Homeowner pursuant to the HAF Program Funds is not duplicative of any other Federally funded assistance provided to such Homeowner.

a. If an Eligible Homeowner receives homeowner assistance other than through the HAF Program, the HAF Program Funds may only be used to pay for costs that are not paid for by the other homeowner assistance. When providing HAF Program Funds, HHD must review the Eligible Homeowner's income and sources of assistance to confirm that the HAF Program Funds do not duplicate any other assistance, including federal, state, and local assistance provided for the same costs.

SECTION IV. ELIGIBILITY

A. Eligibility Requirements. In order to be eligible to apply for the HAF Program, at the time the Applicant applies to the HAF Program, the Applicant must meet the following eligibility requirements:

1. The Applicant is a homeowner who has experienced a financial hardship after January 21, 2020 and have an income equal to or less than 150% of the area median income.

2. The Applicant attests to the nature of the financial hardship experienced after January 21, 2020. The attestation must describe the nature of the financial hardship (for example, job loss, reduction in income, or increased costs due to healthcare or the need to care for a family member).

3. Hualapai Tribal members must be residing on or off the Hualapai Indian Reservation or off the reservation within the state of Arizona. A homeowners home must be primary home and occupied residence of Arizona.

B. HAF Program Funds received by an Applicant must only be used for qualified expenses set forth in this Policy that are related to the Dwelling that is used as the homeowner's primary residence.

C. Income Determination. In determining the Income of a household for purposes of determining such household's eligibility for assistance from the HAF Program Funds, HHD may use HUD's definition of "annual income" in 24 C.F.R. § 5.609 or use adjusted gross income as defined for purposes of reporting on Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Form 1040 series for individual federal annual income tax purposes.

1. Documentation of Income Determination: Applicant must provide sufficient information to HHD to enable HHD to have a reasonable basis under the circumstances for purposes of determining if the income eligibility requirements in (A) above are met. Two approaches for income verification are permissible: (1) the household may provide a written attestation as to household income together with supporting documentation such as paystubs, W-2s or other wage statements, IRS Form 1099s, tax filings, depository institution statements demonstrating regular income, or an attestation from an employer; or (2) the household may provide a written attestation as to household income and HHD may use a reasonable fact-specific proxy for household income, such as reliance on data regarding average incomes in the household's geographic area. In implementing the HAF Program, HHD will avoid establishing documentation requirements that are likely to be barriers to participation for eligible households, including those with irregular incomes such as from a small business.

2. Waiver or Exception to Documentation Requirement: HHD may provide a waiver or exception to documentation of income requirement as reasonably necessary to accommodate extenuating circumstances, such as disabilities, practical challenges related to the pandemic, or a lack of technological access by homeowners; in these cases, HHD is still responsible for making the required determination regarding household income and documenting that determination.

SECTION V. APPLICATIONS FOR HAF PROGRAM

A. Participation Applications: To participate in the HAF Program, an Applicant must first submit a complete, written Application on the forms provided by HHD, which are attached as Exhibits to this Policy. All information required to be on the forms must be completed, or the Application will be returned. C. Falsification and Investigation

Penalties will include ineligibility for continued participation in the HAF Program and repayment of the value of any benefit for which they were not eligible to receive. HHD shall have the right to seek such repayment through garnishment of the Recipient's per capita distribution or wages, if any.

2. HHD shall retain the right to conduct a follow-up investigation into any self-attestations submitted or regarding any other documentation, at its own discretion, if it determines that the reliability or accuracy of the information provided is in doubt.

D. Application Review

1. The HHD staff member receiving the Application shall sign and date the Application when it is received at the HHD office.

2. Preferences and Priorities. Applications will be reviewed and processed as they are received. However, in anticipation of HHD receiving a substantial number of applications within a short period of time, with a finite amount of funding available, HHD shall review and process Applications for HAF Program Funds under this Policy according to the following order of preferences, and in accordance with the HAF Plan submitted to, and approved by, the Secretary.

A. Not less than 60% of amounts made available to HHD must be used for qualified expenses that assist Eligible Homeowners having incomes equal to or less than 100% of the area median income or equal to or less than 100% of the median income for the United States, whichever is greater, utilizing the following preferences:

1. First preference will be given to socially disadvantaged Eligible Homeowners that have at least one family member (regardless of whether that member is an adult or head of household) who is a Tribal Member.

B. The remaining 40% of amounts made available to HHD will be prioritized to socially disadvantaged individuals utilizing the same preferences as set out in subsection (a), above.

3. Approval of Applications. HHD will notify Applicants in writing, within fourteen (14) days of HHD's receipt of the Application, of HHD's decision of whether the Applicant has been approved to receive HAF Program Funds.

4. Denial of Application. If upon initial review, HHD determines that the Applicant is not eligible or the request is outside of this Policy, or there are no longer any HAF Program

Funds available, HHD will notify the Applicant in writing of this determination, the applicable policies which support the determination, and the process of appeal (if allowed).

a. Process of Appeal. Any Applicant who is dissatisfied with a decision of HHD concerning eligibility of assistance, the level of benefit approved, or the type of services available, can appeal that decision to the Executive Director of HHD.

b. No Appeal. If the reason for the denial of the Application is that there are no longer any HAF Program Funds remaining, such denial is not subject to appeal.

Week of the Young Child

The purpose of the Week of the Young Child is to focus public attention on the needs of young children and their families and to recognize the early childhood programs and services that meet those needs. First Things First and the Hualapai Early Childhood Providers will be hosting various events to celebrate family activities and to highlight their family resource list for families and children birth to 5 years old.

April 8 - 12 | #WOYC24

April 8 | Music Monday

The Peach will announce the start of WOYC events and play a few family-themed songs.

April 9 | Work Together Tuesday

Post a picture or video of you and your children/child working or playing together. It can be playing a game, dancing together, taking a walk, using blocks to build something, or drawing a picture together. Tag the Hualapai Early Childhood Facebook Page on your picture or video. Your name will be put in a raffle. We will be giving away 4 bags filled with a small library of books, coloring kit, kite and various items to engage with your child. Deadline to post is April 12 by the end of the day. Raffle winners will be announced on Monday, April 15.

April 10 | We Eat Together Wednesday

Rosemary Sullivan will host a night of family cooking at the Multi-Purpose Building from 5:30-7:00 PM. She will also live stream it on the Hualapai SDPI Facebook Page.

April 11 | Artsy Thursday

April 12 | Family Friday

We want to see your families! Drop off a picture at the Health Education and Wellness Building with the Hualapai Early Childhood Program or email it to Tara Gene, First Things First Regional Director at tgene@firstthingsfirst.org. We want to showcase your families in the Gamyu as a wrap-up of our WOYC events!

Life for a Reason

Submitted by: Zeke Smith | Hualapai Tribal Member

Life for a Reason

You are who you are for a reason. You're part of an intricate plan. You're a precious and perfect unique design, called God's special woman or man. You look like you for a reason. Our God made no mistake. He knit you together within the womb, you're just what He wanted to make. The parents you had were the ones he chose, and no matter how you may feel, they were custom-designed with God's plan in mind, and they bear the master's seal. No, that trauma you faced was not easy. God wept that it hurt you so, but it was allowed to shape your heart so that into his likeness you'd grow. You are who you are for a reason, you've been formed by the master's rod. You're who you are beloved, because there is a God!
