Tribe wins $23 million grant to improve safety and mobility

Diamond Creek Road overpass one of many projects advancing in 2025

Hualapai Moving Forward is kicking off the new year with great news. The tribe has been awarded a $22.9 million grant from the Federal Railway Administration's (FRA) Rail Crossing Elimination (RCE) program for the BNSF Railroad Crossing project on Diamond Creek Road. This transformative funding will support the construction of a bridge over the railroad tracks, improving safety and mobility for all who travel through the area.

This incredible achievement is just one of the many impactful projects that are part of the Hualapai Moving Forward initiative, which continues to enhance the quality of life and infrastructure for our community.

With the turn of the New Year, we'd like to take a brief look back at some of the projects which are progressing and -- perhaps more importantly -- give the community an update on work needed to facilitate the design and construction of others.

As a reminder, the Hualapai Moving Forward program includes more than thirty projects. Each of them falls into one of the following five categories, each with a stated goal:

Hualapai Water Rights Pipeline

After decades of work to secure our rights to water from the Colorado River, attention has now turned to environmental compliance, design, and construction of the Hualapai Water Rights Pipeline which will convey that water from the river to uses across our community.

Under the Hualapai Tribe Water Rights Settlement Act of 2022, the tribe is entitled to 4,000 acre feet of water from the river each year which is approximately one billion gallons.

As you can imagine, the pipeline that will carry that water from the river to where we need it will be significant. The steps we must take before construction are significant, too.

In 2024, with little fanfare, our attorneys and project delivery team kicked off the complicated process of preparing the necessary documentation as required by the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA).

The requirements of NEPA must first be satisfied before design and construction can begin. This effort will continue in 2025 and 2026.

Truxton Aquifer Well

Preliminary work on the Truxton Aquifer Well is also moving forward. This project is so important because, once it is complete, the well will be equipped to help guarantee sustainability into the future. It will provide an additional source to Peach Springs -- enhancing our current water supply and providing redundancy which makes our infrastructure more resilient and sustainable.

Youth Camp Road

Work is underway on a project to upgrade Youth Camp Road including replacing drainage pipes, grading, and stabilizing the roadway in preparation for paving which is scheduled to begin in 2025. These temporary repairs aim to support mobility and safety by improving the roadway.

The Youth Camp facility is a vital community asset, and these improvements will facilitate access for all community members, regardless of weather conditions.

Buck and Doe Road

The project team continues making headway on permitting and preliminary design for the project which will include paving and drainage improvements along a 16-mile stretch of the roadway. Other improvements include placing pavement markings, adding rumble strips, and replacing the guardrail where needed. All work will be confined to the existing right of way, ensuring minimal disruption to surrounding areas. The roadway improvements will provide enhanced access to the West Water Area.

What you'll see in 2025

In addition to permanent paving of Youth Camp Road, improvements on Nelson Road are set to begin in 2025. It will extend the pavement approximately half a mile beyond the current paved section. This will improve access and reduce dust in the area.

Preparing for the Future

The team is also progressing on various planning and capacity building projects. One of them is a condition assessment of the roadways that will inform future investments.

Another is development of the Safe Streets for All (SS4A) Action Plan which aims to improve safety and accessibility in our community, making our streets safer for pedestrians, cyclists, and drivers alike. The SS4A study will provide a roadmap to reduce accidents and create a safer transportation network environment for all road users.

Developing and delivering impactful projects for a program this far-reaching takes time, and not all projects reach construction simultaneously. This means the sequencing of the projects and the order in which they are completed may change over time. The program delivery team is committed to remaining flexible to maximize scheduling efficiencies and available funding to deliver projects rapidly for the community.

The chart below highlights the progress of just some of the various projects, organized by their current stage.

Planning	Design & Permitting	In Construction
Nelson Road	Buck and Doe Road	Youth Camp Road/ Phase 1 Maintenance
Safe Streets for All- Transportation Safety Plan	Youth Camp Road/ Phase 2 Permanent Paving
	BNSF Railroad Overpass
	Hualapai Water Rights Pipeline
	Truxton Aquifer Water Well

Program Background

The Hualapai Moving Forward program is part of an innovative federal pilot program that utilizes an efficient approach that brings together owners, designers, and contractors early in the project to foster collaboration in planning, design, and construction. By enhancing efficiency, it delivers high-quality results while saving time and money.

The program management team is comprised of seasoned experts with a track record in successfully delivering water, transportation, and infrastructure projects across eight tribes, including Gila River, Pueblo of Acoma, Pawnee, CSKT, Cahills, Seminole, Kawerak, and Eyak. Over the next five years, operational funds, low-interest loans, and grants will be utilized to finance each of these projects.

Gamyu, I wanted to share a reflection of 2024, as we have started a New Year and welcome the year 2025.

It's easy to feel a mix of emotions leaving a year behind and beginning a new one, from excitement for the possibilities that lie ahead, certainly we shared some joyful moments and some difficult ones, filled with challenges, and loss of loved ones.

These experiences through the "ups and downs" have shaped us, have taught us invaluable lessons about resilience, about the strength of the human spirit, and about the importance of finding solace in connection and support.

This past year has provided us with a sense of direction. It has clarified our priorities, sharpened our focus, and illuminated the path forward, and now, as we step into this New Year, we carry with us the wisdom of our experiences. We carry the lessons learned, the resilience forged, and the unwavering hope that fuels our journey carried with our proud traditions and honoring our ancestors for future generations.

Let us embrace this New Year with open hearts and minds. Let us cultivate gratitude for the blessings we have received, and let us extend compassion and support to those who may be struggling. Let us strive for growth, for healing, and for a future filled with purpose and joy. May this New Year be one of healing, of growth, and of renewed hope.

Happy New Year!

Subject: Implementing a 4-Day Work Week for Local Government

This letter is to inform after careful and extensive consideration, the Hualapai Tribal Council passed Resolution 72-2024; Amendment to the Hualapai Personnel Policy and Procedures Manual to Include a Four-Day Work Week, for the Hualapai Tribal Government Workforce. This 4-day work week is practiced by many tribal governments and has proven to be effective for their operations.

A 4-day work week, where employees work the same number of hours over four days instead of five, has gained significant attention in recent years. While this model may seem unconventional, it offers several potential advantages for both employees and our tribal government:

- Increased Employee Productivity: Studies have shown that a 4-day work week can lead to increased employee productivity and reduced burnout.
- Reduced Operating Costs
- Decreased employee absenteeism: Improved employee well-being can translate to fewer sick or annual leave days and improved overall attendance.
- Potential for reduced overtime: A more condensed work week may improve scheduling efficiency and reduce the need for overtime.

- Improved Employee Recruitment and Retention: Offering a 4-day work week can be a highly attractive benefit for prospective employees, making it easier to recruit and retain top talent.
- Enhanced Work-Life Balance: A 4-day work week can significantly improve the work-life balance of government employees, allowing them more time for family, personal pursuits, and community involvement.

Understanding implementing a 4-day work week has required careful planning and consideration. This involves:

- Exploring different scheduling models with each: Finding the most suitable approach for different departments and roles.

The 4-day work week will begin the week of February 09th, 2024. The Tribal Administration schedule will follow as opening at 7:30 am and close of business at 5:30pm, Monday thru Thursday.

Sincerely,

Duane Clarke, Chairman

Tribal Council, Colleagues, and Hwal'bay baj

I am writing to express my deep and alarming concern about the plight of the following:

- Housing and Homelessness
- Early Health Detection – Prevention and Education
- Mental Health
- Law and Order

Each bullet point I have identified, my office, the Office of the Chairman hereby advocates for a comprehensive approach to address these critical issues. I believe that a multi-pronged strategy focused on protecting and elevating services in our community is essential.

Housing:

I strongly advocate for increased investment in permanent supportive housing programs. This includes programs to provide long-term housing, short-term housing, and emergent housing with wrap-around support services, which have proven highly effective in helping individuals experiencing chronic homelessness and overcrowding to achieve stability and improve their overall well-being.

Early Health Detection – Prevention and Education:

I urge our tribal government health programs in conjunction with our local Federal, State and County Health Officials work in a unified fashion with the purpose increased efforts of healthcare services that includes regular checkups, screenings for heart diseases, diabetes and cancer.

Mental Health:

I believe that readily available mental health counseling is crucial for individuals experiencing social problems. Many individuals experience struggles with mental health conditions such as depression, anxiety, and substance abuse disorders.

I urge our tribal government health programs in conjunction with our local Federal, State and County Health Officials work in a unified fashion with the purpose increased efforts of peer support programs where individuals have periodic access, guidance and support.

Law and Order:

Current ordinances enforced and prosecuted are outdated and have not been updated over twenty years.

I have delegated the Executive Team from the Office of the Chairman and Vice-Chairman to begin steps to solicit a recruitment of committee members to reestablish the Law and Order Committee to review current ordinances and work jointly with our law enforcement, judicial and legal team to revise and develop ordinance that protect our people, land, environment and animals.

I believe that by prioritizing these key areas, we can make a significant impact in addressing each area in our community. I am eager to collaborate with my colleagues, organizations and other stakeholders to develop and implement effective solutions.

Sincerely,

Duane Clarke, Chairman

First Things First • 9 Tips for Healthy Toddler Eating Habits

MONTHLY UPDATE

9 tips for healthy toddler eating habits

One day they'll eat broccoli and the next day they won't. It can seem strange and irrational, but it's normal.

Toddlers can be stubborn about food. (About anything, really, but especially food.) As parents, we know it's important for our kids to eat well, but feeding our little ones can be a daily struggle. Here's some advice—equal parts science, psychology and real-world experience—to guide you in forming healthy toddler eating habits.

You provide...

It's a parent's job to provide healthy foods, and your work is done once you've served them. Your child may eat a lot or a little, and that's okay. Stick to your routine, serving three healthy meals and two or three snacks a day.

...they decide.

You can encourage them to eat, but don't force it. Let them decide how much they want to eat. The pressure of forcing your child to eat something or "clean your plate" can make mealtime an unhappy experience. Research shows that kids react negatively when pressed to eat.

Think long-term.

It can be hard, but try not to worry too much if they don't eat well each and every day. Studies show that young kids usually get enough of what they need over time as long as they're consistently given healthy food choices. That said, check with your doctor or healthcare provider if you're concerned about your child's diet or overall development.

You're a parent, not a short-order cook.

Try your best to not provide an alternative meal if your child refuses to eat what you've served. This can develop into a pattern in which they will only eat their three or four favorite foods and nothing else. Of course, it's a good idea to always include at least one healthy thing your child will usually eat.

Trust them to say when.

When your child says they're full, take their word for it. Children's hunger levels change constantly as their bodies grow and develop. It may be hard to believe that your toddler can be full after just five bites, but allowing your toddler to listen to their own hunger and fullness cues is helping them learn to not overeat and to let their body guide their choices in eating.

Think about their taste buds.

Vegetables have a hard time competing with candy, yogurt and juice because humans are hard-wired to love sweet things and mildly dislike bitter. That doesn't mean your child's taste can't be shaped. The more exposure your child gets to sugary, salty and fatty foods, the less they'll enjoy naturally flavored foods like veggies.

Things change.

Your little one is growing and changing all the time. One day they'll eat broccoli, the next day they won't. It can seem strange and irrational, but it's normal for their food likes and dislikes to change. Try to keep your expectations realistic and do your best to support your toddler with attention, love and understanding. That's the healthiest diet of all.

AWARDS ASSEMBLY

We were encouraged to see so many families attend our first quarter awards assembly and hope to exceed that number for the second quarter.

Report cards for second quarter are scheduled to go home with students tomorrow, along with family invitations to our second quarter awards assembly. The awards assembly will be held on Thursday, January 9, 2025, beginning at 2:15pm.

VALENTINE SCHOOL APP

If you haven't done so already, download the free Valentine Elementary School smartphone app. Our teachers will be utilizing even more of the app's features this semester. The app will likely be the most convenient way to communicate with teachers, as they will not be using their personal cell phone numbers to send or receive school text messages moving forward.

The QR code at the top of the page can be scanned with your phone.

SCHOLASTIC BOOK FAIR

After last year's inaugural success, the Scholastic Book Fair is back for another year. Students will have an opportunity to preview the Book Fair before making any purchases.

Once again, we will be holding our Family Reading Night in conjunction with the Book Fair's Family Night. On Tuesday, January 28, 2025, the Book Fair will be open for families from 6-8 pm. Purchases can be made with cash or debit/credit cards. We will not be able to accept checks.

We encourage you to bring the family to enjoy the evening and celebrate the joy of reading.

SPELLING BEE

Congratulations to our school spelling bee winner, Laila Duffney! She will be representing our school at the Mohave County Spelling Bee on Friday, January 31, 2025.

The Mohave County Spelling Bee will begin at 6:00 pm at the Mohave County Administration Building, 700 W. Beale Street in Kingman. The event is scheduled to be livestreamed. We will pass along those details when they become available.

HOW CAN I HELP MY STUDENT?

- Ask your students questions that require longer answers – Instead of asking, "How was school today?" which many students often answer with a simple, "Fine," ask instead something like, "What was the most memorable part of the day today?" or "What are you finding the most challenging?" Questions like these can help to generate constructive conversations with your students
- Talk about why they attend school here (and what's expected of them in order to continue) – Since our focus must be on teaching and learning, student behavior choices that negatively affect their teachers' abilities to teach and their fellow students' abilities to learn cannot be tolerated. We had several suspensions last semester due to poor behavior choices. The goal for the spring is to reduce that number to zero (0).

TRANSPORTATION

We have already had a few students who have served bus suspensions for their behavior on the school bus. Please remind your students that since the bus is part of the school, school rules apply.

If a student's bus stop needs to be changed, a parent or guardian must complete the bus change form at the school office. The only change that can be made over the phone is if your student will be picked up instead of riding the bus. Families need to contact the school by 2:30pm to make that change and be in the parking lot/pick-up zone by 3:20pm so bus departures are not delayed.

UPCOMING EVENTS

- 01/09 – Second Quarter Awards Assembly, 2:15pm
- 01/14 – School Board Meeting, 4:30 pm

EDUCATION FORWARD ARIZONA AND FREEPORT-MCMORAN LAUNCH YEAR TWO OF GROUNDBREAKING CAREER PATHWAY INITIATIVE Guarantee Your Future with Freeport Application Priority Deadline is Jan. 31

Jan. 9, 2025 – Education Forward Arizona and Freeport-McMoRan are proud to announce the continuation of the successful Guarantee Your Future with Freeport program, now entering its second year. This initiative is designed to engage ambitious individuals through an innovative scholarship and job placement program. Building on last year’s success, the Guarantee Your Future with Freeport program will support at least 25 students by providing education, training, a paid summer internship and job placement in one of six critical technical areas. Students will earn a certificate or credential from a designated community college in Arizona, Colorado or New Mexico.

Participants in this innovative workforce development program will begin classes in August 2025 to earn a certification in one of six areas vital

- Diesel technician
- Industrial electrical
- Process control/instrumentation technology
- Fixed plant maintenance/advanced manufacturing
- Heavy equipment operations
- Welding

to the mining industry:

This scholarship covers education expenses (tuition, fees, books, etc.) and assists with other costs of attendance (food, housing, transportation, etc.). Students must commit to work for the company for three years and upon fulfilling program and employment requirements, participants will be offered a full-time position at one of Freeport-McMoRan’s Arizona, Colorado or New Mexico operations.

Participants must be 18 years or older at the time of employment with Freeport-McMoRan. The priority deadline to apply is Friday, Jan. 31, and final deadline is Feb. 15, 2025. To apply, visit <https://educationforwardarizona.org/futurewithfreeport/>.

“After a successful first year, we’re excited to continue the Guarantee Your Future with Freeport program and offer more Arizonans a pathway into high-demand, high-paying jobs,” said Tracy Bame, President of the Freeport-McMoRan Foundation and Director of Social Responsibility at Freeport-McMoRan. “This program is creating a direct pipeline from education to employment, and we’re proud to see the positive impact it’s having on individuals, families and communities. By investing in local talent and providing access to training and education, we’re helping to strengthen Arizona’s workforce and drive economic growth.”

To help ensure student success, each scholarship recipient will be paired with an Education Forward Arizona Success Coach, as well as a mentor from Freeport-McMoRan. Training will continue during a paid summer internship where participants will gain real-world experience in the industry. “We’re thrilled to build on the momentum of last year’s success as we continue our partnership with Freeport-McMoRan on the Guarantee Your Future with Freeport program,” said Rich Nickel, President and CEO of Education Forward Arizona. “This program exemplifies Freeport-McMoRan’s commitment to driving economic growth and expanding opportunity for Arizonans. By working together, we’re opening doors for students to gain essential skills for high-demand careers, supporting workforce development, and building a more resilient future for Arizona’s economy.”

The continuation of this workforce development initiative builds upon the longstanding relationship between Education Forward Arizona and Freeport-McMoRan, which includes the successful administration of the Freeport-McMoRan Native American Scholarship Program. Guarantee Your Future with Freeport builds on their previous $9 million investment aimed at increasing access to higher education for Native American students. Through this program, Education Forward Arizona has supported hundreds of Native American students on their journey to obtaining postsecondary certificates, associate, or bachelor’s degrees.

Thank you

To the Hualapai community for welcoming the New Year with us, we hope that you had a good time with our program event and encourage you all to continue the Red Road.

Thank you to Cheryl Beecher for providing the story for us and the speakers for sharing your strength and resilience. Our traditional stories have messages and they are shared only in the winter. The story we shared was our origin story of Belonging, from the beginning of time, to remind us that we are all connected, how we should live together. A story of strength, mourning, letting go, change, and learning. This was an excellent story and we have heard many versions to remind us that we take and share only parts that our minds allow us to hear and share

Thank you community participants and Healing House clients for your patronage, our goal is to be of service to the you all in providing alcohol/drug free activities for the whole family.

As we journey in to the New Year, remember that the Hualapai Health Education and Wellness self-help programs are available, take a leap of faith, we are here for you.

WE LOVE OUR VOLUNTEERS

KWLP 100.9 FM
 Proudly Announces and Congratulates
 2024 Rookie of the Year 2024
 Berry Manakaja

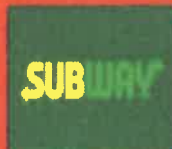

Rachel Manakaja, aka, Berry, aka Bear is an energetic, enthusiastic and engaging volunteer at KWLP! Bear became curious about the station while stopping by regularly through her job. She made her first appearance with us in the 2023 Holiday light parade dressed as one of the three Peach Dudes in that year's line up! She was the one everyone said looked like a taco?! What a good sport! She had so much fun she decided to try doing a show! We're glad she did!

Bear helps us with DJing and MCing at events whenever her busy schedule allows. Bear caught on fast to planning her show and chooses relevant, interesting and fun things to share with listeners. You can hear her rock show Fridays at 2:00: Bear on the Air! She makes frequent guest appearances on The Morning Blend with Casey Jay too— usually to offer a local perspective on sports. She often donates her voice to narrate ads, event promos and segments. She has great ideas for more shows and segments. The Peach staff can't wait to help her bring her ideas To on air reality!

KWLP staff chose to honor Berry with this award because she embodies the Spirit of volunteerism. Her service to the community through the station is sincere and selfless. She is responsible for keeping commitments she's made, yet seems to have a lot of fun. We think she'd show up even if the incentives dried up! If you get a chance let her know you appreciate her And ask her about volunteering at KWLP!

Berry will receive incentives valued at nearly $200.00 for being Rookie Volunteer of the Year!

If you might be interested in volunteering call us at (928) 769-1110.

* Be sure to check out these fine businesses and thank them for their support!

2024 VOLUNTEER of the Year

BARB TINHORN

Not only is Barb the KWLP Volunteer of the Year for the second year in a row; she was recently recognized statewide as Indian Country's Volunteer of the Year. This was due in small part to all she shares with Peach listeners on 100.9 FM during her segment, "The Elder Corner," as a major contributing narrator to the "Read On Hualapai" program and for all her help at events and participation as an Advisory committee member.

There is no doubt Barb is a volunteer extraordinaire! She deserves so much more recognition, appreciation and accolades than we can give her! Many thanks, Hank'yu, to our special Informer and premier movie reviewer.

Barb is a force to reckon with! She is an assertive leader - committed and persistent. She can be an uncompromising perfectionist. This translates to a dedicated, generous, active and enthusiastic, consistently reliable volunteer! We should all have so much get up and go! Barb is an amazing role model for giving back to the community . Every department and program needs a dozen volunteers just like her! We are so grateful she shares so much of her time and effort with KWLP!

Barb will receive gifts valued at over $500 as Volunteer of the Year.

If you might be interest in volunteering at the Peach, stop by the station at 480B Hualapai Way, Peach Springs or call (928) 769-1110.
